Reach German Frontier; Patton Opens New Attack

YANKS HAILED BY CHURCHILL ON BIG VICTORY

Promises 3 Fronts Will Stay Aflame.

TEXT OF SPEECH.

LONDON, Jan. 18 (AP).—Prime Minister Churchill, proclaiming the "military solidarity of the three great allies," declared today that the entire eastern, western, and Italian fronts will henceforth be kept "in constant flame until the final climax is reached."

He called on Germany and Japan to capitulate now. Altho standing firmly upon the allies' terms of "unconditional surrender," Churchill pointed out to the enemy that enforcement of these terms "in no way relieves the victorious powers of all their obligations to humanity, or of their duties as civilized and Christian nations."

"This at least," Churchill declared, "I can say on behalf of the united nations to Germany. If you surrender now, nothing you will have to endure after the war will be comparable to what you are otherwise going to suffer during 1945."

Churchill addressed the house of commons for two hours.

Tribute Paid to Yanks.

In a sweeping bow to the American doughboy, Churchill said that the Yanks, in reversing Germany's winter offensive in the Ardennes, had "done almost all the fighting and suffered almost all the losses" in "what is undoubtedly the greatest American battle of the war." He added that it would be an "ever famous" United States victory.

American losses, he said, were at a ratio of 60 to 80 to 1 compared with the British fighting in the bulge.

Suggesting in the current eastern front offensive a coördination of Russian and Anglo-American military drives, the prime minister said:

"Marshal Stalin is very punctual. He would rather be before his time than late in combination with the allies.

"It is certain that the whole eastern and western fronts and the long front in Italy, where 27 German divisions are still held by no more than their number, will now be kept henceforward in constant flame until the final climax is reached."

He said "military victory may yet be distant, but it is no longer in doubt."

Tells Policy on Six Issues.

Churchill made these other main points:

1. YUGOSLAVIA — Britain and Russia have agreed that unless young King Peter agrees to a regency within the next few days, he may be tossed overboard.

2. GREECE—Absolving Moscow of arousing the troubles involving the leftist ELAS forces, he declared these were Trotskyist Communists.

3. ITALY—The Germans will pull out or be thrown out of Italy within a few months.

4. BRITAIN'S AIMS — "We seek no territory, we covet no oil fields, we demand no bases for the forces of the air or the sea. We do not set ourselves up in rivalry or bigness with any other community in the world. We shall continue to give everything we have."

5. GOALS FOR FREED SMALL NATIONS — "We have but one principle about the liberated countries or the repentant satellite countries: Government of the people, by the people, for the people set up on a basis of free universal suffrage, and elections with secrecy of ballot and no intimidations."

6. FORTHCOMING "BIG THREE" CONFERENCE—"I have great hopes of this conference, because it comes at a moment when a good many molds can be set out to receive a great deal of molten metal, and also at the moment when direct advance may be made toward the larger problems which will confront the victors, above all advance to that world organization upon which the salvation of the world depends.

Capitol Angry at Plane Ride by Elliott's Dog

BY WILLARD EDWARDS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 18.—The halls of congress resounded today to indignant demands that members of the Roosevelt family stop "playing at war."

A court martial was urged for the army official responsible for giving a bull mastiff, purchased in England by Col. Elliott Roosevelt, second son of the President, air transport priority which forced three overseas veterans off an army plane in Memphis, Tenn., on Jan. 11.

Investigation in London.

An investigation was reported under way in London. Reporters there were informed that the dog was taken to the United States in a service plane put at Col. Roosevelt's disposal for an "operational flight" to Washington to make an official report on his air force work. It was said that since other personnel was not authorized to fly with Col. Roosevelt, he took the dog along for an unexplained purpose.

A London dispatch reported Col. Roosevelt had said he knew nothing of the shipment of his dog by air. "The last I heard, the dog was in Washington," he said. "I knew nothing about shipping the dog by air."

The White House and war department meanwhile hastened to exonerate President Roosevelt and his son of blame for the incident which was termed by Secretary Stephen T. Early "a most regrettable combination of errors."

"Error in Judgment."

Maj. Gen. Harold L. George, commander of the air transport command, said a preliminary investigation indicated an "error in judgment" by a subordinate. He said measures were being taken to correct priority procedures so that there would be no similar mistakes in the future.

Secretary of War Stimson commented that "some one somewhere down the line" had made a mistake. He refused further comment pending the reception of an official report.

Secretary Early explained that Col. Roosevelt, before returning to overseas duty two weeks ago, had left a request that the mastiff be flown to his wife, Faye Emerson, movie actress, "when there was an empty bomber available." Early insisted there was no request for priority either by the President's son or the White House.

Asks Court Martial.

Early said the top "A" priority for the dog, usually restricted to "an emergency so acute that precedence should be given over all other traffic," was apparently granted by some officer in Washington, but said he would not "put the finger" on the man responsible.

Bitter criticism of the incident broke on the house floor and senators also joined in the chorus of outraged comment.

"Somebody ought to be court martialed and disciplined for this," declared Sen. Buck [R., Del.]. "Family pets, especially the pets of the

Vraciu, Lost Hero, Returns with Jap Gun

ABOARD 7TH FLEET FLAGSHIP OFF LUZON, Jan. 19 [Friday] —(AP).—"Indestructible" Alex Vraciu of East Chicago, Ind., bemedaled fighter pilot hero of the first Philippine sea battle last June, who has been missing since Dec. 14 when shot down over Luzon, strolled up the gangway of this flagship today.

He wore the same old grin, but it was framed in an inch long beard. Dangling from his shoulder was a Japanese saber, in his hand a Japanese pistol, both souvenirs of his latest exploit—five weeks of guerrilla leadership in enemy territory.

Hit Over Jap Air Field.

Vraciu was flying a navy Hellcat fighter over Luzon on the day of his disappearance. The Luzon operations were in support of United States forces about to land on near-by Mindoro Island.

A Japanese bullet hit his oil tank. His plane lost altitude rapidly—over a Japanese air field. He glided until the last minute, then climbed out on a wing, hoping he wouldn't have to bail out directly over the enemy air strip.

He picked the right moment to parachute and landed in a spot which for the moment was clear of Japs.

"Believe it or not," Vraciu related, "guerrillas were running out toward me with clothing even before I hit the ground. They took me to guerrilla headquarters, where I met an American officer."

Vraciu formed his own guerrilla band of 160 men.

Another American flyer rescued by the guerrillas on Jan. 6 brought word that the Americans planned to invade Luzon Island on Jan. 9, so the American officer put Vraciu in charge of the push to reach the American lines after the Luzon landings.

Taken for Japs.

"The first thing I knew," Vraciu related, "we were caught in a fight and three of our men were killed right in front of my eyes. Then we learned that the fire came from another guerrilla outfit which took us for Japs."

His band spent several days reconnoitering and threading its way thru Japanese outpost areas. Vraciu spent several nights sitting on a river bank, carbine in hand, awaiting a battle which never materialized. Then he rejoined the Americans.

"Will you be able to send back some kind of word so my wife won't worry?" Vraciu asked.

Reassured, he said he would "have to run now"; that he had to make arrangements to get back to his carrier.

"You see," he explained, "I haven't shot down any more Japs yet."

LARD SALES FROZEN; RATIONING TO BEGIN AGAIN NEXT MONDAY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 18.—Lard, shortening, and salad and cooking oils, point-free since last spring, will return to rationing Monday because of decreasing supplies, Price Administrator Bowles announced tonight. Meanwhile, all retail sales of these fats and oils will be halted for three days, beginning at midnight tonight, to conserve stocks in stores and permit dealers to take inventory.

Starting Monday, sales will be resumed at a ration value of two red points per pound for each item covered by the order. Sales of butter and margarine are not affected. Lard became point free last March 3 and shortening and cooking and salad oils on April 16.

Bowles' order was issued simultaneously with an announcement of the war food administration that beginning Sunday federally inspected packers will be required to set aside an average of 60 per cent of their lard production "to meet war commitments."

100 CANADIAN DRAFTEES AWOL SINCE DEC. 31

LONDON, Ont., Jan. 18 (AP).—More than 100 home defense draftees scaled a six-foot fence at Queen's park barracks here on Dec. 31 following trouble of an unstated nature, it was reported tonight. Hundreds more of their comrades—possibly as many as 600—didn't report back from leave and most of both groups are still at large.

News of the situation, on which military authorities here and at Ottawa refused to comment, was withheld from publication until tonight following a censorship directive to all Canadian newspapers.

The disappearance of the soldiers followed three days of minor disorder at the barracks and several incidents in downtown London.

Flying General Castle Killed in Nazi Attack

LONDON, Jan. 18 (AP).—Brig. Gen. Frederick W. Castle of the United States 8th air force, was killed Dec. 24 when his Flying Fortress was shot down by seven Messerschmitt fighter planes in the Liege, Belgium, area.

Brig. Gen. Castle.

Castle, 36, a resident of Washington, D. C., was known as a "flying colonel" before his elevation to one star rank last Nov. 20.

Navigator Wounded.

As the commander of a bomber wing he was leading the 3d air division in attack against the German breakthru into Belgium when a single Nazi plane swooped in for a head-on attack, pumping cannon shells thru the nose of the plane and wounding the navigator.

Six more Messerschmitts then came in for the kill, spraying gunfire into the crippled Fortress and setting two engines afire. An oxygen tank was ignited and threatened to explode the bomb load. Castle refused, however, to order the bombs jettisoned because the plane was flying over allied soldiers.

Ordered to Bail Out.

To cut down speed, the wheels of the Fortress were lowered and the crew ordered to bail out with a terse "This is it, boys."

The bomber lurched on its two remaining engines, but Castle leveled it out long enough for the crew to parachute. Castle apparently was determined to be the last to leave. At 1,200 feet a fuel tank exploded and the ship plunged in a tight spiral.

The mission was Castle's 30th combat operational flight. At no time had he been ordered to fly combat missions, yet flew often in the toughest operations.

Won Several Medals.

As commanding officer of a Fortress group, Castle won the silver star for gallantry for leading a combat wing against an aircraft plant at Oschersleben, Germany, in September, 1943, in the deepest penetration made by 8th air force heavies up to that time.

Castle also directed the supplying of French Maquis [guerrillas] in occupied France from the air and received the croix de guerre. In Russia he was awarded the order of Eutaxov, second degree, for leading a flight of shuttle bombers from England.

He also had received the legion of merit, the distinguished flying cross with two oak leaf clusters and the air medal with three clusters.

RUSSIANS PUSH TO KRAKOW AND GATES OF LODZ

2,000 Towns Fall to Three Armies.

LONDON, Jan. 19 [Friday] (AP).—that the Red army had reached the Silesian frontier 250 miles southeast of Berlin as soviet formations in history's greatest offensive ripped thru Nazi defenses clear across Poland, capturing nearly 2,000 localities with 30 mile advances in 24 hours.

The Russians drove into the outskirts of Krakow, big bastion in the southwest, after capturing Babice, three miles north; reached the area of Lodz, Poland's second city, on three sides; and drove to within 13 miles of lower German East Prussia.

[A Berlin broadcast early today said "Krakow has been evacuated."]

Reds Bombard Silesia.

Moscow announced the capture of Szarleyka, 12 miles from the Silesian frontier and four miles northwest of Czestochowa, but did not confirm the Berlin report that the border had been reached.

Other dispatches reported that soviet spearheads, however, already had crossed into industrially-rich Silesia, Germany's "Ruhr of the east," and a Moscow dispatch said that soviet planes and artillery were laying down a terrific barrage on German soil. The Germans reported that allied planes also were over Silesia.

The Silesian Volkssturm, or home army, already has "received its baptism of fire during this hour of greatest danger as the enemy reached the reich border," said Berlin radio.

Reds Drive on Lodz.

The frontier conflict apparently raged west of Czestochowa, captured yesterday by the Russians, in an area only 78 miles from Breslau, Silesian capital. A Berlin report to the Stockholm Aftonbladet said that Breslau, 170 miles southeast of Berlin, "is now directly in the danger zone." Breslau is on the Oder river, which Lublin Poles have claimed for their post-war frontier with Germany.

Striking powerfully in northern Poland, the 2d White Russian army of Marshal Rokossovsky overran more than 1,000 localities. It pushed to within 13 miles of lower East Prussia with the seizure of Drogiszka.

In central Poland the 1st White Russian army of Marshal Zhukov

U. S. Drive on Manila Gains; 2 Towns Fall

MacARTHUR'S HDQ., Luzon, Jan. 19 [Friday]—(AP).—The northern section of the main highway to Manila opened for Gen. MacArthur's steamroller early yesterday morning when the army captured Urdaneta, 27 road miles southeast of Lingayen gulf.

A five mile advance down the central Luzon plain by another American column captured Paniqui, a road junction 12 miles from the city of Tarlac. Tarlac, capital of Tarlac province, is 70 road miles from Manila.

Urdaneta, key town on the main Manila-Baguio highway, was taken only after American mobile guns and armor had smashed a concentration of enemy tanks and artillery cleverly concealed in bamboo thickets along the approaches.

Find No Live Japs.

When American infantry men moved into the town in force at dawn they found no live Japanese, and charred remains of at least seven enemy tanks as well as a number of blasted guns.

The remainder of the enemy force, which at Urdaneta put up the first real fight of the nine day old campaign, was believed to have fled southwestward during the night into hills with the Americans in pursuit.

Capture of Urdaneta not only cleared the enemy from positions commanding "Highway No. 3" but also will enable the 6th army's right side to start rolling southward again. For 48 hours this group has marked time—as far as the Manila-bound advance is concerned—to wait for the left side to catch up.

Advance on Agoo.

MacArthur's bulletin said the Americans were moving on Agoo, six miles north of the Damortis road junction on the east side of Lingayen gulf. Agoo itself is not of any particular strategic importance but was the center of the main Japanese landing in December, 1941.

Stiff fighting continued on MacArthur's left flank along the eight mile stretch of road between Rosario and Pozorrubio, where two highways fork into one which leads thru the Benguet mountains to Baguio, summer capital of the Philippines.

Guns of the 7th fleet bombarded Japanese positions and installations at Rosario. American infantry men are on the outskirts of the town.

MacArthur disclosed American planes were operating from the Lingayen air field, which was occupied within a half hour of the Jan. 9 landings.

Blast Iwo Island Again.

U. S. PACIFIC FLEET HDQ., Pearl Harbor, Jan. 18 (AP).—Army Liberator bombers, escorted by Lightning fighters, hammered the air strip and other installations Monday on Iwo Island in Japan's Volcano group, 750 miles north of Saipan, Pacific fleet headquarters announced today.

YANKS SMASH ACROSS RIVER IN LUXEMBURG

Charge On 2 Miles to High Ground.

BY ROBERT CROMIE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

WITH THE U. S. 3D ARMY NEAR DIEKIRCH, Luxemburg, Jan. 18.—3d Infantry men from the 4th and 5th divisions, in a surprise crossing of the swift flowing Sure [Sauer] river at 3 a. m. today, launched an attack that made gains up to two miles along a seven mile front east of Diekirch. The sector is 17 miles north of Luxemburg city.

By midafternoon fighting was raging in Diekirch, while several smaller towns had been entered or taken. Bettendorf, three miles to the east and a mile and a half from the German frontier, was entered. Other forces pushed on past both towns and occupied heights as much as two miles north of the Sure.

A battalion under Lt. Col. William H. Blakefield, Berlin, Wis., crossed near Ettelbruck and drove in from the east on the village of Erpeldange, a mile to the north. Ettelbruck is three miles southwest of Diekirch.

In White Camouflage Suits.

Some of Blakefield's men were clad in newly made white camouflage suits, which look like pajamas with a hood attached. The suits were made from material obtained by an appeal to Luxemburg housewives. There was not enough to go around, and only a few of the combat men had them in the snow-covered hills.

A battalion, under Lt. Col. Wesley Ball, Evanston, Ill., after crossing the river was having a tough fight in the hamlet of Inglesdorf.

Resistance against this thrust into the southern shoulder of the Belgian bulge consisted mostly of nebelwerfers [six barrel rocket launchers], mortars, and small arms fire. German artillery was unexpectedly light—altho this perhaps was due to the heavy American artillery barrage which began at 3:30 a. m.

Cross in Assault Boats.

The crossings of the 60 to 150 foot wide stream, made in assault boats, rubber boats, and on a footbridge, were immediately opposed in some spots, where the landings then had to be made in the face of enemy fire. In some places the enemy failed to detect them until enough Americans were across to secure the far bank and permit their comrades to cross in comparative safety.

By late afternoon also, a Bailey bridge—the type which takes vehicles—was across the river at one point.

The 80th division made gains up to one mile in an area six miles northwest of Diekirch. The 90th division, farther north, in beating off several German counter-attacks in the 24 hours ending early today, had knocked out 19 German tanks.

Farther south inside Germany, the 94th infantry division's 376th regiment knocked out six tanks of more than 20 which attacked Butzdorf. German armor returned to the assault later in the day.

Chicagoan 'Scratches Off' a Tokyo

BY ARTHUR VEYSEY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LUZON ISLAND, Jan. 17 [Delayed].—The night was about over and the skipper, Comdr. Norman Gillette Jr., 4129 N. Hermitage av., Chicago, was angry. There he was off the coast of Formosa in his Catalina flying boat which had proved a nemesis for so much Jap shipping in the lower Philippines, but he could find nothing, not even a sailboat.

Comdr. Norman Gillette

"We might as well take a look at Tokyo," he said, "and then head for home."

Tokyo, not to be confused with another disreputable city of similar spelling, was a large seaplane base on Formosa.

Rows of Lights Flash On.

By the light of a moon he and his crew made their way along the coast. They picked a spot that looked like Tokyo on the charts and began circling very low. They sought some identification. As they looked two long rows of lights flashed on.

"That," said the commander, "is perfect coöperation. Those are landing lights. Men, we are here."

He made as tho he were coming in for a landing. For a few minutes some of his crew who know Gillette never passes up a fight thought he would. But the commander was just hunting shore installations. It does no good to bomb a runway made of water.

Again the Japs helped out. The blinker light chattered landing directions. That showed the location of the operations center. It also required a reply. The commander, who cannot speak Japanese, let alone blink in it, was balked. As the plane remained silent the Japs grew wary. Maybe that wasn't one of their planes after all. They snuffed out the lights.

Shore Guns Blink.

The commander swept in over the black beach. He dropped a flare. In the intense light the crew spotted buildings for the repair and storage of planes. He circled and came in again. This time shore guns blinked instead of lights.

But the Japs had had too little time to get set. Their shooting was erratic. The Catalina dropped a belly load of incendiaries. Fires flared as the Catalina, unharmed, swung off to her new home on Luzon. Tokyo was brilliantly lighted.

"You can scratch Tokyo off the list of bases," the commander said.

He was happy again.

DRIVE ON ST. VITH

BY JOHN THOMPSON.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

WITH THE U. S. 1ST ARMY, Belgium, Jan. 18.—Slipping and sliding thru knee deep snow and dense woods, 30th division soldiers today won two key heights along the 2,000 foot high, steep ridge protecting St. Vith from the northwest, placing their soldiers about four miles from the German held road junction.

The doughboys believe their capture of the ridge positions was made possible by the costly capture of Thirimont, which was taken after four days of fighting against fanatical German paratroopers.

The drive carried battalions of the 120th regiment onto two fir covered knolls controling the saddle thru which runs the road from Born to Recht. While these men were digging in on the heights just below them to the northwest the Germans, on lower ground, were putting up a battle against the 117th regiment, trying to capture the junction of the main road from Malmedy to St. Vith.

Veteran 1st division soldiers found their progress to capture two defiles below Ondenval measured in yards. They have captured the heights south of Ondenval, but were driven back 200 yards in the vicinity of Schoppen when the Germans attacked with a battalion of infantry in the rugged, cut up country which virtually prevents use of tanks.

The Germans were smashing with strength against the efforts of the 3d armored division to move into Sterpigny, another road junction, near the western end of the dwindling Nazi salient. This was at the lower end of the high ridge protecting St. Vith, for which the Germans were expected to fight until all their best troops have been withdrawn into the Siegfried bunkers.

American doughboys striking east of Vielsalm seized Burtonville, seven miles west of St. Vith, in a two mile advance that also engulfed Petit-Thier, a mile and a half farther north.

A German force of undetermined size was trapped some seven miles north of St. Vith and was being annihilated.

BRITISH TAKE 4 TOWNS

PARIS, Jan. 18 (AP).—The British 2d army, backed by American heavy artillery, slugged out gains of two and a half miles today and overran four towns as its drive on a 28 mile front in western Germany's approaches to the Rhine rose in scope and intensity.

Farther south in a new penetration of German soil the British in an advance of more than a mile were nearing Hongen three miles inside Germany.

The British in Holland slogged across a slush covered battlefield almost to the outskirts of the village of Schilberg, six and a half miles south of Roermond and seven and a half miles west of the Roer.

In this push the British had swept up the towns of Overeind, Echt, and Ophoven along the road and railway which leads south from Roermond to allied occupied Sittard north of Aachen.

British forces coming up on the right flank captured the town of Susteren, two and a half miles south of Lt. Gen. Dempsey's northernmost forces. They cut the highway and railway leading from Roermond 11 miles southwest to Maeseyck.

NAZIS GAIN IN ALSACE

BY SEYMOUR KORMAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

WITH THE U. S. 7TH ARMY, in the Rhine Bridgehead, Jan. 18.—Tank and infantry battles flared again today across the windy Rhine marshlands north of Strasbourg and the Germans won back some of the terrain they had lost yesterday. The tide of the struggle was still uncertain, however, as the Americans hit back in efforts to restore their lines and decrease the enemy pocket further.

We held up to three-fourths of Herrlisheim in the lower portion of the bridgehead last evening, but after midnight the Germans attacked. The first infiltration attempts were smashed by our artillery. The Germans came again and again with armor and infantry and after a house to house fight in the early morning hours, the Yanks pulled out to the south.

Sessenheim, farther north in the bridgehead area, has changed hands several times since the enemy first brought forces over the Rhine two weeks ago. It was ours last night, but the Germans punched in and forced us out toward the woods about two miles west of the town.

The Yanks struck back toward the town today.

In Hatten and Rittershoffen, north of Haguenau forest German resistance was reported as somewhat lighter, but neither side could claim the villages.

Official commendations by Lt. Gen. Devers, commander of the 6th army group, now permit disclosure that up to and including Jan. 13 the 79th infantry division held that sector.

Other infantry divisions announced as in action thru Jan. 13 are the 44th, 45th, and the 100th. Devers commended the 44th and 45th for their stands in the Bitche bulge and the 100th for its fighting around Rimling.

LONDON THANKS AMERICANS FOR REPAIRING CITY

BY JAMES SLOAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Jan. 18.—This big, bomb blasted city has started saying thanks to American service men who are lifting its face from a welter of debris. In the first of a two day series of parties, the London county council last night entertained 50 American officers who are directing the 3,000 soldiers engaged in bomb damage repair work.

Among those heralded in stentorian tones by the red frock coated announcer as they climbed the marble stairway of London's county hall were Maj. B. J. Pierce, 5460 Woodlawn av., Chicago, and Capt. Allen Olson, a graduate of Northwestern university dental school, 1943, now a resident of Princeton, Ind. Duty kept two Chicagolanders from the function. They were Lt. Louis Zuckerman and 2d Lt. Lloyd Wicks of Winnetka.

BRADLEY HONORS OFFICERS WHO STOPPED NAZIS

BY JOHN THOMPSON.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

WITH U. S. 1ST ARMY IN BELGIUM, Jan. 18.—Lt. Gen. Bradley, commanding the 12th United States army group, tonight praised Lt. Gen. Hodges, commander of the United States 1st army, and his staff for the masterful manner in which Field Marshal von Rundstedt's Ardennes offensive was stopped.

Bradley also pinned an oak leaf cluster to the distinguished service medal on Hodges for his direction of the 1st army's drive from Normandy across France, Luxemburg, Belgium, and Holland and thru the Siegfried line from last June 6 to Sept. 14.

Charted Defense Here.

The ceremony took place in the 1st army's war room in the presence of Hodges' staff. This was the room in which the officers had made all important decisions when Von Rundstedt's legions were pouring thru gaps torn in the right side of the 1st army sector.

"Those were days for quick decisions," Bradley said, "and the decisions had to be correct. There was no margin for error.

"Every decision taken was the right one. And equally as important was the timing. You moved your divisions with the utmost dispatch, utilizing every road and getting them to the right places without a moment to lose.

"Unsurpassed Bravery."

"And while this headquarters functioned day and night, often without sleep, as I well know, the commanders in the line were making their desperate decisions while their troops fought with unsurpassed bravery to form new lines in the face of a desperate enemy slashing into our rear areas. You, all of you, of the 1st army, have fought well one of the most important battles of this war."

As the army group commander talked, reporters remembered the roll call of valor during the desperate days of the offensive, a roll which bears the names of 14 infantry, air borne, and armored divisions who served under the 1st army.

GERMANS FIGHT BACK OVER SENIO RIVER IN ITALY

ROME, Feb. 18 (AP).—A small German force has fought back across the Senio river—part of the Adriatic coastal waterways which form the enemy's winter defense line—and is under attack by the British 8th army, the allied command announced today.

The bridgehead was planted near Fusignano, 13 miles northeast of Faenza and coincided with stepped up enemy patrol lunges all along the Adriatic.

Counter-attacks yielded some prisoners from the original force of about 100 Germans which crossed the river, the announcement said.

Clearing skies yesterday released allied war planes, which pounded communications in northern Italy—particularly the Brenner Pass—and targets in Yugoslavia.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Jan. 18.—British troops, civil defense workers, and Italian prisoners were called in today by the ministry of fuel to help unload and deliver coal to chilly Londoners. The ministry of fuel said the shortage of fuel has been due to labor difficulties rather than lack of supplies.

CHICAGO YANK MINUS HELMET, SCOLDED BY M. P.

BY HENRY WALES.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

WITH THE U. S. 9TH ARMY, Jan. 18.—Failure to wear a helmet in the combat zone is a grave offense. Thomas Piccariello, 3528 Princeton av., a Chicago soldier chauffeuring a couple of war correspondents from Paris, was accosted by a military policeman in this manner:

"Where's your tin hat? Don't you know the regulations? I'm gonna lock you up!"

"Nobody ever told me that before," replied Piccariello.

"You mean you've been driving around the front in that woolen cap?" roared the M. P.

"Is this the front?" Picarriello winced as a shell whizzed over and crashed near-by.

"What do you think this show is?" asked the policeman, arms akimbo, as bullets nicked the bark and twigs of surrounding fir trees.

"I thought it was practice, like we had in camp," rejoined Piccariello.

Reporters rescued the driver from the M. P.

CHICAGOAN ON THE JOB AS 3D ARMY ATTACKS

BY ROBERT CROMIE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

WITH THE U. S. 3D ARMY NEAR DIEKIRCH, Luxemburg, Jan. 18.—Midwesterners seen in this sector today included Pvt. Stanley E. Zak, military policeman, whose wife, Esther, lives at 2805 N. Lawndale av., and his parents at 1519 N. Elk Grove av., in Chicago, and Sgt. Jerome Schmidt, O'Fallon, Ill., and Staff Sgt. Stanley W. Roblewski, Ferndale, Mich. The latter two were members of a machine gun squad we saw pouring harassing fire from a wooded hilltop emplacement into Diekirch across the Sure river, when the 3d army launched its attack today.

U. S. DECEMBER TOLL IN FRANCE LISTED AT 74,788

BY WALTER TROHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 18.—December, 1944, was disclosed today as the bloodiest month of the war for the United States and the second heaviest in American history for casualties.

Secretary of War Stimson reported that American ground forces suffered 74,788 casualties in France in December, the month of the German break-thru in the Ardennes sector. His figures did not include air corps losses in France.

When final figures are made public and added to army and navy losses in other theaters, it is expected that the casualties will approach the 100,000 mark or possibly surpass it.

September, 1918, Highest.

The high tide of American casualties was set in September, 1918, when a toll of 125,000 was reported in the western front in France in actions headed by the Meuse-Argonne offensive.

Stimson reported last month's figures as 10,419 killed, 43,554 wounded, and 20,815 missing. In September, 1918, the deaths were almost double the reported December total.

While Stimson did not announce the aggregate total of American casualties for the war, it was estimated that the total for the army and navy is around 725,000.

Stimson reported American ground force losses on the western front from last June 6 thru December at 332,912, consisting of 54,562 killed, 232,672 wounded, and 45,678 missing.

He gave a partial compilation of army casualties in all theaters for the period thru Jan. 7 as 580,495, consisting of 111,306 dead, 343,250 wounded, 68,477 missing, and 57,462 prisoners. This did not include casualties in the Ardennes battle.

The lastest navy casualty figures are 83,364, consisting of 31,802 dead, 37,630 wounded, 9,454 missing, and 4,478 prisoners of war.

Estimates Heavier Nazi Losses.

Stimson estimated that German casualties in December were more than one-third heavier than the American losses but he gave no figures.

In making this estimate Stimson took issue with reports from the battle front that many allied correspondents believe some of the allied claims of tremendous German losses are grossly exaggerated.

Correspondents cited as an example the report of a staff officer that the Germans had suffered from 150,000 to 200,000 casualties and lost 900 tanks.

The correspondents agreed that publication of such reports can only lead to false optimism about the German military situation.

Adm. Burrough Appointed Allied Naval Commander

LONDON, Jan. 18 (AP).—Adm. Harold M. Burrough has been appointed naval commander of allied expeditionary forces under Gen. Eisenhower, in succession to Adm. Ramsay, who was killed recently in a plane crash in France. Adm. Burrough commanded the allied naval forces which conducted landing operations at Algiers in November, 1942. Rear Adm. V. A. C. Crutchley replaces Burrough in command of the naval patrol in the Gibraltar area.

4 MORE SOLDIERS SENTENCED FOR CIGARET LOOTING

PARIS, Jan. 18 (AP).—A court martial announced today three more sentences of 40 years at hard labor and one of 30 years for American soldiers convicted of conspiracy to steal army cigarets and rations and dispose of them in the French black market.

The convictions brought to 22 the number of enlisted men of the 716th railway operating battalion convicted of stealing cigarets and rations. The courts martial will begin operating tomorrow to speed up the cases of 150 more enlisted men and two officers.

Sentenced to 40 years were Tech. Sgt. James Moore, 28, inducted in Cincinnati, O.; Staff Sgt. Eligio Grande, 34, and T/4 Rubin Garfinkle, 26, both inducted in New York. Pvt. First Class Eddie L. Cox, 38, inducted in Lubbock, Tex., was given 30 years.

Death sentences have been imposed on five American soldiers on their conviction on charges of desertion and selling stolen army gasoline to Paris civilians, according to the army newspaper Stars and Stripes.

BELIEVE U. S. 1ST ARMY AGAIN IS UNDER BRADLEY

SUPREME HDQ., ALLIED EXPEDITIONARY FORCE, Paris, Jan. 18 (AP).—By now Lt. Gen. Bradley probably has taken at least the United States 1st army back under his 12th army group command.

There has been no formal announcement and if it is handled like the original split of command between Bradley and Field Marshal Montgomery at the time of the German breakthru in Belgium, none may come for a number of days after the switchback actually is made. Bradley said at the time Montgomery took over the 1st and 9th armies that he would resume command when American forces again were joined north and south of the Ardennes breakthru area.

Bradley's group is composed of the American 1st, 3d and 9th armies.

SENTENCE TWO JEWS TO DIE FOR MOYNE MURDER

CAIRO, Egypt, Jan. 18 (AP).—Eliahou Bet Souri and Eliahou Hakim, two young Palestine Jews who confessed the assassination of W. E. Guinness [Lord Moyne], were sentenced to death in an Egyptian court today and they appeared stunned.

The two self-styled patriots will pay with their lives for the murder of the British minister of state resident in the middle east and his chauffeur, Lance Corp. Fuller, who were shot down on a Cairo street last Nov. 6.

Thruout the trial the defendants had maintained an air of nonchalance. They discussed with correspondents the odds on whether they would receive the supreme penalty or prison terms. But when they realized they were to die for their crime both flinched.

Jury of Five Judges.

It was understood the five man jury, composed of three civil and two military judges, had deliberated all yesterday afternoon and well into the night before reaching a decision. The presiding judge faced the court today and read a brief statement in which he said, "After considering this case the court has decided to send the papers to the mufti."

Those brief words meant death for Bet Souri and Hakim. Bet Souri's face turned red. He speaks Arabic fluently and understood what it meant. Hakim seemed puzzled. A moment later he, too, realized he was going to die.

The grand mufti is the religious leader of the Moslems and the ritual prescribes that a capital sentence be submitted to him before formal publication. Had any lesser sentence been imposed the tribunal would not be required to forward the papers to the mufti. Formal publication of the verdict will be made on Monday.

[The case was heard under military law as Egypt is under martial law, but it was tried on the basis of civil law. In reply to a defense contention that it was an international case and should be tried by an international court, the presiding judge ruled that it would be tried under Egyptian civil law.]

Excitement Grips Court.

Excitement gripped the large courtroom after sentence was pronounced. Spectators fought to get near the prisoners' dock. Guards shouted for every one to clear the room. Bet Souri forced a smile.

Attorneys for the two assassins announced they would appeal. Legally, they cannot appeal to a higher tribunal. But they intend to make a personal plea to the king and the prime minister for mitigation of the death sentence.

Both Bet Souri and Hakim were members of the Stern gang, which advocates violence as a means of ending British rule in Palestine and establishing a free Jewish state there.

Marine Sergeant Kills 90 Japs in 45 minutes

Portland, Ore., Jan. 18 (AP).—A marine sergeant killed 90 Japs in 45 minutes on Tinian, in the Mariana Islands, the public relations section of the marine corps disclosed today. The sergeant, Duane W. Frost of Portland, has been awarded the silver star medal for the feat. He was a member of a 4th marine division tank unit.

U. S. FORTS ATTACK RAIL HUB FEEDING SUPPLIES TO SAAR

LONDON, Jan. 18 (AP).—About 100 United States 8th air force Fortresses based in Britain bombed the Kaiserlautern railyards which feed supplies to German troops on the Saar front today. The only opposition was the weather, with driving rain storms on the homeward path.

Screened by 100 Mustangs, the Forts poured 300 tons of explosives on the glutted Nazi rail hub at Kaiserlautern and strafed railroads near Heidelberg, 60 miles to the west, damaging eight locomotives with machine gun fire.

Shell Fragment Wounds Writer in Cellar Shelter

WITH THE U. S. 9TH ARMY IN GERMANY, Jan. 15 [Delayed by Censors]—(AP).—A mortar fragment that entered a cellar thru the chimney sent veteran War Correspondent Alton Smalley, 42, of the St. Paul Dispatch and Pioneer Press to the hospital as a casualty. After an operation to remove the large fragment, which hit him in the elbow, Smalley's condition was reported good. He was hit when in a house overlooking Julich and the Roer river early yesterday.

LIVING AND DEAD JAM CELLARS OF HOUFFALIZE

Town Smashed in 3 Weeks of Surging Battles.

BY JOHN THOMPSON.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

HOUFFALIZE, Belgium, Jan. 17 [Delayed].—By the flickering light of feeble candles, they lay on their dirty pallets in stone catacombs, men, women, and children crowded together, the dead, the wounded, and the other living.

Hopeless eyes looked from sunken red-rimmed sockets, asking if this was the end to the bombing under which they had lived for three weeks while this small but vital road junction was systematically reduced to rubble.

As a town, this village of 1,200 people is dead. But deep underground, in three cellars which our bombs had missed, dwell the survivors, living in squalor.

Some Escape to Woods.

Some two hundred residents fled to the pine woods to escape the bombs, and for three weeks they lived there in forest houses, bundled in blankets and sleeping on floors. The number of refugees in the three cellars was down to 175. Two hundred and ten persons, at the latest count, were killed during the air raids which began the day before Christmas.

The remainder of the population scattered before the German drive.

But for those who stayed when the Germans came, life became a hideous nightmare, unrelieved until yesterday, when American 1st and 3d army patrols pushed thru town.

Mlle. Marie, a young Belgian woman who served as our interpreter, led us to the largest cellar, under the parish house near a 13th century church. Only its walls stand.

A stripped and bleeding beef joint hung from a beam. Garbage littered the floor under a table laden with a raw pig carcass. Marie opened another door, pointing down below.

Faintly, the babble of many voices rose past worn stone stairs, and with the door open foul air from the cellar seeped up from the dim cavern. We descended gropingly, crouching to avoid the low ceilings.

Stirs Food in Cauldron.

It might have been a scene described by Dante. Beside a huge cauldron stood a young woman, her black hair tumbled about her face as she ladled gobs of meat and potatoes into bowls held up from the packed humanity around her.

Back from this cavern stretched other rounded, brick lined caves. It was hard to move from one to the other without stepping on bodies. They were jammed together, asleep, moaning in pain, or just waiting with leaden eyes, under far worse conditions than any London subway station during the blitz.

Seventy-five persons were in this churchly cavern. Many of them bore grimy bandages, stained brown with old blood. From one wounded person to another moved an American aid man from the 2d armored division, doing what he could to ease their pain until a doctor could reach the town.

Report Flood Sweeps Away Third of Peru Town

LIMA, Peru, Jan. 18 (AP).—A third of the small town of Chavin was swept away, yesterday by an avalanche of water gushing from a flood-swollen mountain lagoon, said reports reaching here today. An employé of the national highway department said there was no way to estimate the loss of life at Chavin, a town of 400 population, which was covered by a deep layer of mud.

U. S. FLYERS BAG 135 JAP PLANES; AIRPORTS IN SHANGHAI BLASTED

KUNMING, China, Jan. 18 (AP).—In the most destructive assaults ever made by United States 14th air force fighters, pilots raided occupied China Tuesday and Wednesday. They destroyed or damaged 135 Japanese planes, many on Shanghai airdromes.

Hundreds of Japanese were killed by strafing and bombing and thousands of tons of shipping were damaged within a 2,500 mile perimeter of enemy holdings, a bulletin from Maj. Gen. Wedemeyer disclosed today. The planes ranged from China into Burma and French Indo-China.

Shanghai airdromes were reported smashed, almost without interception, and 68 planes were destroyed and 19 more were damaged. Forty-one of the destroyed craft were bombers. Of two challenging Japanese planes over Shanghai, one was destroyed.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Tokyo radio reported new American air blows along the China coast yesterday. The broadcast said B-29s and fighter planes from China bases attacked the Hong Kong and Canton areas Wednesday. The radio also said a lone B-29 flew over Tokyo Wednesday night and that others had been over Korea, on the Asiatic mainland, and the Osaka-Kobe area of Japan on reconnaisance missions.

BRITISH PATROLS NEAR MANDALAY; JAPS DIGGING IN

CALCUTTA, India, Jan. 18 (AP).—British patrols have slashed almost to the edge of Mandalay where the Japanese are digging in along a new line anchored on this second largest city of Burma, front dispatches to allied headquarters said today.

The Japanese are digging into jungle positions across an arc of land near the city along a right angle bend in the Irrawaddy river.

The main Japanese forces have withdrawn to the east of the Irrawaddy — the side of the river on which Mandalay is situated. The enemy is ferrying more equipment from the west to the east bank. At last reports British units were about 25 miles from Mandalay. Fifty miles to their west other British units are closing in an isolated Japanese garrison in the town of Monywa.

HOW JAPAN LOST 80,000 IN BURMA TOLD BY BRITON

In the Burma jungles which from the air look like a vast bed of parsley, American, British, and Indian forces have in the last eight months broken the back of a Japanese army of 80,000 men thru effective coordination of air and ground forces.

This observation was given yesterday by Brig. Fenimore Irwin, chief staff officer to the commander of the British 14th army in Burma, when he spoke at a luncheon meeting of the Chicago Council on Foreign Relations in the Morrison hotel.

"Your C-47s [American transport planes] performed a great service in carrying men and suplies to the points where they were needed to meet the invaders," Brig. Irwin said.

When the Japs did emerge from the jungles, they found themselves facing powerful forces. In battles which extended over a 700 mile front, 50,000 Japanese were killed and 25,000 others were so severely mauled that they could not continue the fight, he said. Only 600 prisoners were taken, and the other enemy troops split up into small groups and disappeared into the jungles.

ABANDON INDIA AS A CHINESE TRAINING BASE

CHUNGKING, China, Jan. 18 (AP).—India will be abandoned as a training base for Chinese troops, Maj. Gen. McClure said today. The use of India as a training site no longer is necessary, the chief of staff of United States forces in the China theater asserted. He disclosed that a Chinese military training center at Ramgarh, in Bengal, already had been shifted to China.

McClure, who also is deputy chief of staff to Chiang Kai-shek and vice director of China's new war transport board, emphasized that the prospective opening of the Ledo-Burma road would not mean an unlimited flow of supplies to China.

The general military situation in China was pictured as better, with the Japanese showing no sign of resuming their advance. McClure discounted the idea that United States carrier based plane attacks on Japanese bases in China had nullified the loss of Maj. Gen. Chennault's East China fields. He said the assaults had "upset the Japanese."

95 ILLINOISANS ON SAIPAN WIN ARMY'S SALUTE

HDQ., 21ST BOMBER COMMAND [Delayed]—(AP).—Ninety-five Illinois men, ground specialists, have received special commendation from Brig. Gen. H. S. Hansel Jr., commanding general, 21st bomber command, for aiding in the construction of an air base in addition to their regular duties.

While aviation engineers were completing the giant airstrip, men whose regular jobs were those of clerk-typists, medical technicians, truck drivers, and chemical warfare instructors built administrative and service facilities and living quarters. In less than 20 weeks B-29 Superfortresses were bombing Tokyo from this Saipan base.

"You carried on your official work with efficiency, under rugged conditions and made with your own hands a place to live and a place to work, overcoming obstacles which were not foreseen," Gen. Hansel said.

Filipinos' Canoe Paddles Spell Bad News for Japs

LUZON, Jan. 18 (AP).—While patroling the northern Luzon coast, American pilots saw a group of Filipinos with beached canoes. When the Filipinos saw the planes they rounded up white paddles and spread them on the beach to spell out "Japs in the hills." Then they rearranged the paddles to point an arrow toward the enemy.

SURF AT LUZON DELAYS LANDING OF U. S. SUPPLIES

Seas High Ever Since Invasion Day.

BY WALTER SIMMONS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

CAMILING, Luzon Island, Jan. 18.—It now develops that American forces which landed on Luzon Jan. 9 had luck with the weather.

The waters, which had not been dignified with a hydrographic survey since 1903 were calm that day. Troops and vehicles landing from small boats scarcely got wet.

The surf has been mountainous ever since. Small boats have been washed ashore and amphibians sunk. Unloading operations have been greatly delayed.

Teofilo Aquino, a guerrilla, is wondering what has happened to his brother, Jose. At last reports Jose was attending a Chicago trade school in 1940. If Jose still is in Chicago Teofilo wants his brother to know he is well. He also would appreciate a letter from Jose.

Poor communications have kept even the generals on the right flank of the Luzon front from knowing what was happening on the left. In the absence of authentic news wild rumors flowered — that paratroops had landed on Clark field, that the marines had landed on Formosa, and that the British had landed on the China coast.

When Rear Adm. Forrest Royal of Arlington, Va., senior officer at present afloat in Lingayen gulf, heard of this he ordered extra copies of the flagship daily newspaper printed and distributed to all army commands ashore. The rumors died a quick death.

Lt. Col. John K. Wright III. of Tujunga, Cal., commander of an engineer battalion, believes the best way to get something done is to do it yourself.

Roaming alone, far ahead of infantry units advancing down a valley toward Manila, he inspected a seven mile stretch of road between Camiling and Santa Ignacia. He found an excellent gravel road 20 feet wide and gravel bottom streams which can be forded. He set guerrillas to repairing one bridge which had been blown up.

The colonel saw heavy smoke rising from the village of Paduada, seven miles to the southwest toward Tarlac. Guerrillas said Paduada was being burned by the Japs.

3 MIDWEST YANKS AND GENERAL GIVEN STARS FOR BRAVERY

WITH THE 24TH DIVISION ON LEYTE, Jan. 5 [Delayed] (AP).—Twenty-two members of the 24th division, which bore the brunt of fighting thru the Leyte valley, have been awarded the silver star for gallantry in action in the Philippines. Another listed him for the oak leaf cluster to the star for intrepid leadership in the extreme front lines during fighting on Leyte Nov. 1.

Among recipients of the silver star for gallantry on Leyte were: Lt. Frank L. Kennedy — Wife, Hinsdale, Ill.; Capt. George F. C. Iwen — Father, John Iwen, Watertown, Wis.; Lt. Col. Frederick R. Zierath—Wife, Sheboygan, Wis.,

CHURCHILL GIVES REVIEW OF WAR TO PARLIAMENT

Partial Text of Address; Salutes Yanks.

LONDON, Jan. 18.—Prime Minister Churchill's speech today to the house of commons follows in part:

"It has fallen to the hard lot of Britain to play a leading part in the Mediterranean.

"We have great responsibilities and we have made great exertions there. In Italy the British or Britain-controled divisions under Field Marshal Alexander's command—and still more if the whole area of the Mediterranean be included—outnumber three-fold those of the United States.

"But now at any time, perhaps in a few months, perhaps much sooner—for no one can tell what reactions are proceeding in the minds of the German war leaders—the Germans will be driven out of Italy or will perhaps withdraw.

Food Problem Ahead.

"Immediately the great populous districts of the north, the cities of Turin and Milan and other centers of industry and activity and a large population of all kinds of political views but containing great numbers of violent and vehement politicians in touch with brave men who have been fighting in maintaining a guerrilla war in the Alps, all these will be thrown—probably at a time when the northern regions have been stripped bare of food by the retreating Germans—hungry upon the fragile structure of the Italian government in Rome, with consequences which cannot be accurately foreseen.

"Let me say, once and for all, we have no political combination in Europe and elsewhere in respect of which we need Italy as a partner.

"We have no special interest in the political regime which prevails in Yugoslavia. However, because the king and the royal Yugoslav government took refuge with us at the time of the German invasion, we have acquired a certain duty toward the government and people on the other side of the Adriatic which can only be discharged in a correct and formal manner such as, for instance, would be provided by a plebiscite.

Tells of Stand on Greece.

"From the troubles of Italy and of Yugoslavia we come naturally to those of Greece. Once again we are guided by our simple policy—victory against the Germans, the establishment of aid to the most coherent and most substantial government machine that can be found, the delivery of such food as we and our allies can spare and our combined shipping can afford, the maintenance of tolerable conditions of law and order, and the holding of plebiscites or general elections fairly and squarely, and then exit at the earliest practicable moment.

"But our task, hard as it was, has been and still is being rendered vastly more difficult by a spirit of gay, reckless, unbridled partisanship which has been let loose on the Greek question.

"We went to Greece for the second time in this war. We went with the full approval of both our great allies. We went on the invitation of the Greek government in which all parties, even Communists, were represented and as a result of a military conference in which the generals of ELAS [leftists] and EDES [rightists] were equally present.

"We brought food, clothing, and supplies. We came with a small force of troops. We took up our positions from no military point of view.

"We were received with flowers and cheers and every expression of rapture, and we British—the wicked British, so denounced by the American correspondents whose names have no doubt been noted by the house, and so hounded by some of our own—busied themselves in the distribution of supplies thruout the country.

Communists Work Way In.

"Meanwhile, for six weeks or so, the Greek government, representative of all parties, was distracted by internal division and street demonstrations and all the time the communist directed forces were drawing down from the north and infiltrating into the city of Athens, in which they had also a strong local organization.

"I must speak a little about these Greek communists, among whom Macedonian and Bulgarian elements are also found.

"They are a very formidable people. They have a theme and policy they pursue by merciless methods while other people in this region have only been trying to keep body and soul together. It was not against the Germans they were trying to fight, but to a great extent they were simply taking our [gift of] arms and lying low and awaiting the moment when they could seize power in the capital by force and make Greece a communist state with a totalitarian liquidation of all opponents.

"While the British were busy distributing the food and endeavoring to keep things steady the EAM [National Liberation Front] and Communist ministers, who were eventually increased to seven in the Papandreou cabinet, were playing a different game. Thruout this has been a struggle for power. While sitting in Mr. Papandreou's cabinet they were working in the closest combination with the forces gathering to destroy it and him, he and his other colleagues representative of the every day life of Greece.

Relief Work Hampered.

"They did their best to hamper the landing and distribution of food by provoking strikes on some occasions.

"What I have learned with great pains and patience has led to the strengthening of my original opinions, and among them is undoubtedly the conclusion that the ELAS armed bands, at any rate for the last two years, played very little part against the Germans.

"Now we come to a new phase about which it was not possible to consult any of our allies and upon which action had to be taken immediately. On the night of Dec. 4-5 a series of telegrams arrived which showed that the advancing ELAS forces were about a thousand yards from the center of the Greek government and the Hotel Grande Bretagne and also the same distance to the British embassy. It seemed the overrunning of this place, or at any rate of the seat of government by this well armed and well directed mob [a member shouted "brigands," and Churchill replied "brigands, if the honorable member wishes"] was about to take place.

"So little had we any designs that the paratroop brigade, which was needed in Italy, was about to leave. Orders were given to Gen. Scobie to take over command of Athens and to restore and maintain order by whatever measures were necessary.

"For three or four days or more it was a struggle to prevent a hideous massacre in the center of Athens, in which all forms of government would have been swept away, and naked, triumphant, Trotskyism installed. I think Trotskyism is a better definition of the Greek Communist and certain other sects than the normal word—it has the advantage of being equally hated in Russia.

'Greek Freedom Saved.'

"However, by the skin of our teeth and thanks to the resolution of the handful of British soldiers on the spot, the assailants were hurled back, and Athens and, as I firmly believe, Greek freedom were saved.

"On Christmas day I thought it necessary to go to Athens with the foreign secretary. At a conference of all parties those severed by mortal and living hatred were seated around the table and found ourselves united upon the regency. The foreign secretary and I, on our return, labored with the Greek king in order to secure his assent. We were successful.

"We did not seek to be consulted about his [Regent Damaskinos] measures, nor did we interfere with the choice of his prime minister, nor in the character or composition of his government.

"We cannot disentangle ourselves from Greece until there can be either a free vote or guarantees for a free vote under the most stringent and impartial supervision—a vote of all the Greek people as to what they want for the future. Whatever they decide, monarchy or republic, left or right, that shall be their law as far as we are concerned.

"Meanwhile, various alphabetical groups have, I am informed, substracted themselves from EAM, leaving now only the Communists in uncomfortable isolation clinging to their hostages.

"I tell the house that his majesty's government will discharge their obligation with complete integrity. We shall not hestitate to rescue those hostages or punish their slaughter or maltreatment.

Gives Yanks All Credit.

"I turn from Athens to the main battle front of the war.

"I have seen it suggested that the terrific battle which has been proceeding since Dec. 16 on the American front is an Anglo-American battle. In fact, however, the United States troops have done almost all the fighting, and have suffered almost all the losses.

"They have suffered losses almost equal to those of both sides at the battle of Gettysburg. Only one single British army corps has been engaged on this occasion. All the rest of the 30 or more divisions which have been fighting continuously for the last month are United States troops.

"The Americans have engaged 30 or 40 men for every one we have engaged, and have lost 60 to 80 men to every one of ours. That is the point I wish to make.

"Ever Famous" U. S. Victory.

"Care must be taken in telling our proud tale not to claim for the British armies an undue share of what is undoubtedly the greatest American battle of the war and will, I believe, be regarded as an ever famous American victory.

"I have never hesitated to stand up for our own soldiers when their achievements have been cold shouldered or neglected or overshadowed, as they sometimes are, but we must not forget that it is to American homes that the telegrams of personal loss and anxiety have been coming during the last month and that there has been a hard and severe ordeal during these weeks for our brave and cherished ally.

Battle Leadership Praised.

"To say this implies no disparagement of our own exertions. We ourselves a month or two earlier lost 40,000 men in opening the Schelde.

"Our armies are under the supreme command of Gen. Eisenhower and we march with discipline wherever we are told to go. According to the professional advice which I have at my disposal, what was done to meet Von Rundstedt's counterstroke was resolute, wise and militarily correct. The gap was torn open as a gap can always be torn open in a line hundreds of miles long. Gen. Eisenhower at once gave the command north of the gap to Field Marshal Montgomery and to the south of it to Gen. Omar Bradley. Many other consequential movements were made, and rightly made.

"Judging by the result, both these highly skilled commanders handled the very large forces at their disposal in a manner which I think I can say without exaggeration may become a model for military students in the future.

Monty's Fight All in North.

"Field Marshal Montgomery at the earliest moment, acting with extraordinary promptitude, concentrated powerful British reserves at the decisive strategic points and, having been placed in command as he was by Gen. Eisenhower of American forces larger than those he holds in the 21st army group, he fell unceasingly upon the enemy in the north and fought the battle all the time from that part of the assailed front.

"The United States 1st army, which was one of the group of armies under Gen. Omar Bradley, was severed by the inroads.

"It was reinforced with extraordinary military efficiency from the Metz area by Gen. Patton's army, who hurled themselves on those intruders from the outside of Bastogne.

"All the movements of the commanders would have been futile but for the bravery of the troops. Gen. Omar Bradley was commanding American forces and so was Field Marshal Montgomery. All these troops fought in a magnificent fashion.

"Let no one lend themselves to the shouting of mischief makers when issues of this momentous consequence are being successfully decided by the sword.

"We are maintaining at the present time in the field and in our garrisons the equivalent of upward of 100 divisions, apart from the vast navy and air force. Many of these are, of course, not mobile, but 67 of them are at the front and are in constant or frequent contact with the enemy, fighting unceasingly on three separate fronts in northwest Europe, in Italy, and in Burma.

"Of all the troops landed in France, the losses sustained in the fighting by the British empire and United States troops have been very level in proportion to the numbers engaged. Of course there are over twice as many American troops on the western front as there are troops of the British commanwealth. If you take killed only, British and Canadians have lost a larger proportion than the United States, heavy tho the United States losses are.

"We have taken measures which I announced some weeks ago to keep our armies up to the full strength whatever the losses may be, and also to reenforce our divisions. In the United States also extraordinary measures have been taken.

"We shall go on to the end, however the storm may be, and for myself I do not hesitate today to give my own opinion, not dissenting from the experts with whom I am living in constant contact, that the decisive breaking of this German offensive in the west is more likely to shorten this war than to lengthen it.

"The whole eastern and western fronts and the long front in Italy, where 27 German divisions are still held by no more than their number, will now be kept henceforward constantly flame until the final climax is reached.

"The Philippines and the Ardennes—two vast military episodes—have been proceeding simultaneously. Gen. MacArthur's recovery of the Philippines, which is in full progress many months before it was expected, is a fearful warning to the Japanese of their impending defeat and ruin.

"The principle of unconditional surrender was proclaimed by the President of the United States at Casablanca and I indorsed it there and then on behalf of this country.

"I am sure it was right and I am clear that nothing should induce us to abandon the principle of unconditional surrender and enter into any form of negotiation with Germany or Japan.

Great Hope in Big 3 Meeting.

"The expression, power politics, has lately been used in criticism against us [Britain] in some quarters. I had anxiously asked the question, what are power politics? I am, therefore, greatly indebted to my friend, the illustrious President of the United States, for his definition of power politics. The President declared in his recent message to congress that power politics were a misuse of power.

"I am sure I can say on behalf of all parties in the house that we are absolutely in agreement with the President.

"We seek no territory. We covet no oil field. We demand no bases for the forces of the air or the sea.

"Political misunderstandings . . . confront us. I was glad to hear the President state in public on Tuesday that he was almost immediately starting to meet me and Marshal Stalin somewhere or other, and quite soon.

"I have great hopes of this conference because it comes at a moment when a direct advance may be made toward the larger problems which will confront the victors, above all advance to that world organization upon which, as we all know, the salvation of the world depends."

Churchill Government Lied in Greek Stories, Paper Says

BY JOSEPH CERUTTI.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Jan. 18.—While Prime Minister Churchill was expressing "surprise and sorrow" in commons today at the way the British government has been "maligned" by British and American writers for its policy in Greece, the London Weekly Tribune charged that the government had "put out" a series of fake broadcasts over the British Broadcasting corporation to counteract the press reports. The Tribune's editor is Aneurin Bevan, Labor party member of parliament and opponent of Churchill.

Asserting that Churchill was "furious because his Greek policy had been under fire from such powerful quarters as the Times, Manchester Guardian, and News Chronicle, and, in more muted tones, the Daily Herald," the Tribune asserted the government's outbursts of anger grew out of the fact that it enjoyed an immunity from opposition without precedent in British politics.

"Tamper with News."

"It is, perhaps, natural that a government so supported should tend to become spoiled and develop a social sensitiveness to the slightest whisper of criticism," the Tribune added.

"Not content with the unscrupulous backing of the yellow press—Kemsley, Camrose, Beaverbrook, Rothermere, and Camarilla, it is now clear the government called in Brendan Bracken to tamper with the news services of the BBC. During the period commons was in recess, BBC put out a series of broadcasts on Greece varying from tendentious propaganda to downright lies."

Government propaganda began with the report of a plot to blow up the Athens conference, which was "a crude imitation of the Reichstag fire technique of the Nazis," and followed up with the charge that the EAM [leftist group] was committing atrocities against British prisoners, which may be true, the Tribune said. Then, warming to its work, the BBC "proceeded to invent news or report invented news with complete abandon," the weekly added.

Recalls BBC Stories.

BBC, the Tribune recalled, announced important elements of the EAM had broken away from the parent organization because they supported the British, accused the EAM of shooting more than 100 trade union leaders [who have been virtually nonexistent in Greece since 1936], and told how a deputation representing a large number of Greek unions called on the British ambassador to declare their support for the British.

Declaring the exposure of BBC reports "never quite manages to catch up with the original lie," since millions of radio listeners do not read the answer in the few newspapers which print it, the weekly insisted the use of BBC by the government for direct propaganda was a matter of utmost gravity and should be subject for a strong protest in parliament.

"At the same time the government behaves this way," the Tribune complained, "it refuses facilities for newspaper correspondents to visit the areas occupied by the EAM and interview leaders of the ELAS [leftist military group], so we get lies from one source and suppression of truth from the other."

Times Answers Churchill.

The influential London Times, one of the newspapers Churchill criticized by implication for opposing the government's policy in Greece, editorially answered his blast against American and British newspaper men as follows:

"Mr. Churchill shows himself less than usually generous to those newspaper correspondents in Athens, both British and American, who have endeavored to maintain the tradition of responsibility and independent reporting." The Times praised the newspaper men's efforts to give "a just and full account" of what has often been a confused and entangled succession of events in Greece.

Germans' Synthetic Oil Plants in Russians' Path

LONDON, Jan. 18 — Germany's few remaining large synthetic oil plants appear likely to fall to the Russians. Threatened by the soviet drive are the Blechhammer South and Blechhammer North plants and the Ordetal works, 20 miles south of Oppeln.

120 DIE, 200 HURT AS FRENCH TRAIN CRASHES STATION

DIEPPE, France, Jan. 18 (AP).—A railroad train accident at Saint-Valery-en-Caux north of here early yesterday killed 120 persons and injured 200 others, according to reports today from officials clearing the wreckage.

A number of American troops were among the passengers, but it was not known whether any of them were among the casualties.

The French news agency said the train ran out of control down a steep incline and smashed into a station, presumably as a result of icy rails.

RUSSIANS REACH SILESIA; SMASH 30 MI. IN POLAND

Armies Advance on Lodz from 3 Sides.

drove to within 260 miles of Berlin in an advance 40 miles west of fallen Warsaw, capturing 500 towns and villages and spearing to within 30 miles of Lodz.

The 1st Ukraine army of Marshal Konev, hitting up from the south, drove to within 22 miles of imperiled Lodz, and was reported officially to be within 12 to 40 miles of the Silesian frontier on a 65 mile front between the Czestochowa and Krakow sectors. This army captured 450 localities during the day. It also captured the commander of the 17th German tank division, Col. Bruck, and his staff.

Two Armies Link Up.

Rokossovsky's troops also toppled Modlin, on the west bank of the Bug-Vistula confluence 15 miles northwest of Warsaw, linking up along the Vistula with Marshal Zhukov's army, which took devastated Warsaw on Wednesday.

Altho Moscow has not announced any such drive, Berlin said that Gen. Ivan Cherniakhovsky's 3d White Russian army still was attacking in the eastern part of German East Prussia as a part of the enveloping move against that province.

On the Hungarian front the Russians captured 20,000 Germans and Hungarians in Budapest, making a total since Dec. 28 of 59,390, Moscow's war bulletin said. The commander of the 10th Hungarian infantry division, Colonel of the General Staff Andros-Sandor, and his staff were taken.

The Russians now have cleared the entire Pest half of Budapest on the eastern side of the Danube, leaving the Germans clinging only to a small part of Buda on the west side of the river in the Hungarian capital, the bulletin said.

Mop Up Trapped Nazis.

Far behind the surging tide of the three big soviet armies Russian infantrymen and artillery chopped up elite Nazi divisions trapped by the most crushing onslaught of the war begun last Friday by Konev's break-thru in south-central Poland.

"The battle is wildest in the Vistula bend where the 1st White Russian army has joined up with the 1st Ukrainian army group," said a Berlin radio report. "These two groups now are jointly advancing to the west. The Germans are disengaging to the west and the German salient in Galicia farther south has been withdrawn to the west in the last 24 hours."

A Moscow radio report said the German defense system is "splitting in all its seams."

"Territorial losses are immaterial," said one German commentator. "This is the moment for large-scale strategic operations with the ultimate view of breaking the grand offensive. This can be achieved only by employing large units farther to the rear at the most favorable moment when the enemy has loosened the compactness of his front thru the very speed of his advance."

GERMAN WAR REPORT.

Following is the German Thursday war bulletin as broadcast by Berlin and recorded by the federal communications commission:

"In Hungary locally limited bolshevik attacks failed at the northern edge of the Vertes mountains and in the Pilis mountains. The defenders of Budapest resisted new fierce enemy attacks in bitter house to house street fighting.

"Between Slovakia and the upper course of the Vistula [river] our troops disengaged to the west. Fighting ensued against enemy forces pressing on toward Nowy S[illegible].

"The battle in the big Vistula bend continues with undiminished ferocity. Brought-up reserves checked the enemy's offensive spearhead between Krakow and Czestochowa. Czestochowa and Tomaszow fell into the enemy's hands after street fighting. Soviet armored spearheads pushed ahead up to the area between Lodz and the Vistula. Between Kielce and the lower Pilica our formations also engaged in heavy fighting against strong enemy forces. In the big Vistula bend, Warsaw was evacuated.

"North of the Vistula, the bolsheviks, having brought up more formations, extended their penetrations westward and northward despite stubborn opposition by our troops. Ciechanow was lost after severe fighting.

"On the fifth day of the defensive battle in the East Prussian frontier region, our formations again achieved defensive success against the onslaught of 35 soviet rifle divisions and many armored brigades."

The Inquiring Camera Girl

[The Tribune will pay $5 for each interesting question submitted by a reader and used by The Tribune. Today's question was submitted by James Zimmerman, 7359 Vernon av.]

THE QUESTION.

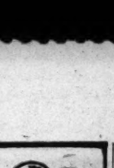
What does your wife bawl you out for most?

WHERE ASKED.

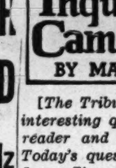
Chicago theater. [Asked of Lou Breese and orchestra.]

THE ANSWERS.

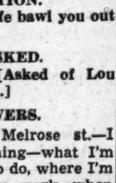
Lou Breese, 421 Melrose st.—I never tell her anything—what I'm going to do, where I'm going to work, when I'll be home. I might call her up in the middle of the night and say, "Come on downtown and meet me." She's subject to call at any time. This makes her angry because she doesn't have time to make herself as glamorous as she'd like.



Sonny Sievert, 4956 Birchwood st., Skokie—There's a great deal of work involved in keeping up a home of your own. I keep promising my wife I'll put up the storm windows, shovel the snow off the walks, clean the basement, etc., etc. Then what happens? A bunch of broken promises—she does the work and tells me about it.



Harold Dessent, 1114 Glenlake av.—I bought a little toy bugle to wake the baby up for her 2 a. m. feeding. As soon as I blow the bugle my wife blows, "You'll wake the other child. Then he'll want to blow the bugle, too, and it's too late to be playing a bugle. He'll wake the neighbors." What a racket!



Earl Gaines, 633 Waveland av.—My wife happens to be one of America's foremost correspondents as far as writing letters is concerned. I've been known to carry around 30 or 40 letters at a time. When she goes thru my pockets after a poker game she discovers this pack of unmailed letters. I'm really an unpaid mailman.

Jimmy Sims, 1020 Lawrence av.—She can't stand to hear me brag about all the good luck I have. She isn't superstitious but if she hears me say, "I haven't had a cold for over a year," she does not like it. "Just for saying that you'll probably get a cold," she scowls. The funny part of it is, she's usually right.

POLES OF LUBLIN GROUP, TAKE UP RULE IN WARSAW

LONDON, Jan. 18 (AP).—The Moscow-supported Lublin provisional government has taken over administration in Warsaw, the Lublin radio said tonight, quoting an announcement of Premier Edward B. Osubka-Morawski.

"The power in our ancient capital has been assumed by the provisional government of the republic, the lawful government of Poland created by the Polish national home council," the premier's announcement said.

It pledged to the Poles of the capital: "Your sufferings have come to an end forever. The gloomy period of five years of German occupation is over."

Tell How Ace McGuire Died as Plane Stalled

AN ADVANCED FAR EASTERN AIR FORCE BASE ON LUZON, Jan. 18 (AP).—Maj. Thomas B. McGuire Jr., the highest ranking army top ace active in the southwest Pacific, perished when his P-38 stalled on a high speed turn and crashed 200 feet into the sea. McGuire was attempting to go to the assistance of his wingman, who was under attack by a Japanese fighter plane. The wingman was shot down.

FAYE EXPRESSES 'DISTRESS' OVER DOG'S PRIORITY

BY KAY CLANCY.

(Picture on back page.)

Faye Emerson, motion picture actress and bride of Col. Elliott Roosevelt, was "distressed" yesterday by the story that an air priority for her dog, Blaze, which the President's second son sent to this country from England, displaced three service men from an army cargo plane. She termed it "an unfortunate incident, if true."

Places Blame on Clerk.

"If the story is true, then some passenger or traffic clerk definitely slipped up," she said. "It couldn't have been anybody at the White House because priorities are not issued from there."

[Various branches of the government and the military have authority to issue priorities for both cargo and passengers, but the White House is the highest priority echelon (military expression for this authority) in the nation.]

Mrs. Roosevelt was aboard the Santa Fe Super Chief, en route to the fourth term inauguration of her father-in-law, President Roosevelt, when a Tribune reporter and photographer boarded the train at Joliet. She was traveling with her 4½ year old son, William Wallace Crawford III.

"Some Sort of Mistake."

The blonde actress, who is Col. Roosevelt's third wife, met the reporters in the lounge car. She said she knew her husband was sending the dog, but "I didn't know when or anything about the arrangements."

"It's all some sort of a mistake," she insisted. "My husband does not have a priority except when traveling under orders, and then only a B. So how could his dog rate an A priority when he doesn't?" she asked.

Miss Emerson didn't take kindly to the suggestion that the dog be given the name "Priority."

ROW WITH REDS TO BE SETTLED, CHIANG ASSERTS

CHUNGKING, China, Jan. 18 (AP).—Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek today predicted that government differences with the Chinese Communists would be settled peacefully. He added there would be no civil war in China so long as he was at its head.

Chiang said that "the Chinese people generally are tolerant" with regard to the communist question.

"The government's policy to employ political means to secure a peaceful settlement has been consistent," he said. "This policy eventually will succeed because it is in line with the good sense of the people."

He said that while justice to war victims and security from further aggression must be given full consideration, he would not advocate a policy of revenge toward the Japanese. He said one of China's main problems after the war would be to speed democracy.

LANDON BLASTS REDS' RETICENCE ON WAR PLANS

Cleveland, O., Jan. 18 (AP).—Alf M. Landon tonight urged greater teamwork among the United States, Great Britain, and Russia on military and political matters and said a common military policy would enable them to "wring Germany's neck in shorter time."

"Being partners we have a right to insist that Russia take her place on the joint military staff with Britain and America in order to formulate a common military policy," the 1936 Republican Presidential nominee said in an address before a junior chamber of commerce banquet.

"If the joint military staff knew how many guns—how many soldiers—how many sailors—how many airplanes— and when and where each of the big three would furnish—it would be able to put together a more coherent, efficient, smooth running battle machine on all fronts."

He praised the Russian offensive, but said press dispatches from Washington had indicated previously our high command was "in the dark as to Russia's definite intentions."

PREDICTS REDS' PUSH MAY CAUSE ALLIED CRISIS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 18.—Sen. Wiley [R., Wis.] predicted at a press conference today that the sweep of Russian armies across Poland would bring a new crisis in political relations between the allies unless the opposing Polish governments and soviet government reach an immediate accord.

"The liberation of so large an area of this gallant nation has brought about a showdown on the Polish question," said Wiley, recently chosen a member of the senate foreign relations committee. "The first great test case of united nations unity is thus at hand."

He said that further postponement of at least a temporary solution of Polish difficulties is "as unsound and as unthinkable" as an attempt at a final solution would be at this time.

CAPITOL ANGRY AT PLANE RIDE BY ELLIOTT'S DOG

Roosevelt children, shouldn't take precedence over our fighting men."

"I'm fed up with the antics of the Roosevelt children," chimed in Sen. Reed [R., Kas.]. "If they want to throw Elliott Roosevelt out of the army, it's all right with me."

Grim Background.

A lengthy speech by Rep. Luce [R., Conn.] in the house furnished a grim background of war's horrors for angry discussion of "the light hearted attitude" of the Roosevelt family towards the conflict.

Mrs. Luce, reporting on her recent five week tour of European battlefields, told of American soldiers in Italy who have served 2½ years on combat duty without relief. She assailed as destructive to morale the war department's policy of keeping men under fire until they are casualties.

"And when they are relieved to go home," remarked Rep. Church [R., Ill.], "they may face the prospect of being 'bumped off' a plane to give room to pet dogs being shipped to the White House or Hollywood. That also is a policy which our fighting men will find hard to understand."

Hoffman Reads Letter.

Rep. Hoffman [R., Mich.] read the house a letter from a soldier who said he had been kept three years in Australia and was about ready to "blow my top" if he were not sent home soon.

"I wonder what the boy's thoughts are going to be," he said, "when he gets the news that three service men who might have been his buddies were put off a plane and delayed in their trip home because it was thought necessary to bring a dog or two home from Europe.

"I know I will be accused of sniping at the administration for engaging in petty talk about dogs, but I am not the only one who has been talking about dogs. Just the other day the first lady of the land announced that 'Mr. Fala' [White House pet] had gone away to be married.

"I wondered then that the love life of a dog had become of such public interest as to require comment from Mrs. Roosevelt. I wondered whether that marriage of Fala's, to which she referred so touchingly, was a legitimate permanent marriage or whether it was just a sort of experimental excursion. Now I wonder if this English dog is to be one angle of a triangle with Fala and his lady love the other two angles.

"Quit Playing at War."

"If we are to look to the White House for guidance, let them get a little common sense in their doings and let them quit playing at war. The commander in chief might well issue an order that returning service men, not dogs, be given priority."

Rep. Miller [D., Cal.] asked Secretary Stimson to furnish him a "complete report" on how the dog got plane space ahead of service men. In a letter to Stimson, Miller said:

"If the facts as represented are correct, this incident is deplorable and cannot, in my estimation, be justified. It is hard for me to reconcile the fact that any man returning to his home on a mission should be taken off any army plane under any conditions saving those of the utmost importance in the national defense."

Complaint by Brewster.

"My office was trying to get an air priority for me yesterday and failed," Sen. Brewster [R., Me.], was complaining at the same time at the other end of the capital. "An army colonel gave me a lecture on the importance of the air priority system and told me it was ordered by the White House itself. Naturally, I am intrigued by this dog story."

"Such shennanigans as the Roosevelt dog incident have no place in our life today," agreed Sen. Revercomb [R., W. Va.].

Seaman 1st Class Leon Le Roy, young navy gunner, who first told the story of being taken off a plane with two other service men because Col. Roosevelt's dog had a higher priority, was reported in Antioch, Cal., to have "gone on a fishing trip." It was disclosed, however, that his emergency leave had been extended five days to Jan. 27, making up all except 48 hours of the time lost when he was ordered off the plane at Memphis.

En Route to Visit Wife.

Sgt. Dave Aks, veteran of the China-Burma-India war theater, has identified himself in Riverside, Cal., as another of those bumped off the plane. He was en route to visit his wife, who was ill.

The third man who lost his seat in Memphis has not come forward, but at Granite City, Ill., Mrs. Ola Vee Nix said her husband, Maurice Nix, a navy carpenter's mate, wrote her from San Francisco that his trip back to duty was delayed because he could not board the plane in Dallas. Nix had been home visiting his four children, who were ill.

Asks F. D. R. a Question.

Austin, Tex., Jan. 18 (AP).—Lt. Gov. John Lee Smith of Texas today sent a telegram to President Roosevelt asking whether dogs have a higher priority rating "than soldiers and sailors who are fighting to preserve human liberty, or do the dogs possess such higher rating only when they happen to belong to persons related to you?"

POLISH LEADER HITS 'BOGUS GOVERNMENTS' IMPOSED BY RUSSIANS

Russia's imposition of "bogus governments" upon Poland and other European countries the soviets have wrested from German control is "only a scheme to rob the people involved of their liberties and their territories," it was asserted yesterday by Charles Rozmarek, president of the Polish American congress, claiming to represent 6 million Americans of Polish descent.

Rozmarek spoke from Washington, D. C., where earlier in the day he spent two hours conferring with Secretary of State Stettinius. He delivered to the secretary a memorandum representing an expression by the organization's supreme council, which convened in Washington Jan. 11 and 12 to register protest against Russia's seizure of eastern Poland. The memorandum has not been made public.

"As Americans," he said, "we plead not only for the righteous cause of our devoted ally, Poland, but also for Lithuania, Latvia, Esthonia, the Balkan countries, and all the other small nations who are being deprived by a strong, powerful neighbor of the right to choose their own governments and fashion their own destinies.

"The bogus 'governments' imposed upon these nations by Russia are only a scheme to rob the people involved of their liberties and of their territories."

VICTIM STABBED IN BACK, MARTIN JURY INFORMED

Boonville, Mo., Jan. 18 [Special].—Mrs. Edward M. Jewett, 67, wealthy Boonville land owner, was stabbed "20 or 25 times" in the back and killed by repeated heavy blows which bashed in her forehead, Dr. R. A. Harton, Durham, N. C., coroner, testified in Cooper county Circuit court today.

The coroner's testimony was given before Judge Charles H. Jackson and a jury of seven farmers and five businessmen who are trying Edward Jewett Martin, 24, Mrs. Jewett's grandson, for her death. Martin, a Charlotte, N. C., chemist, is accused of murdering his grandmother during a quarrel here May 9 and dumping her body into Eastwood lake near Chapel Hill, N. C.

Martin sat with his head buried in his arms as his signed confession of the crime was presented by the state without protest from his attorney.

Says He Ran Over Her.

The statement said Mrs. Jewett, who had reared Martin almost from infancy, fell from her car in a struggle to take a bottle of rum from him after she had scolded him for drinking. Martin said he backed up to get her and accidentally ran over her.

Mrs. Jewett "gasped two or three times and then stopped breathing," said Martin's statement. Panic-stricken, he related, he "put the body in the trunk of the car" and intended taking it to his mother in Charlotte, N. C.

On the trip to Charlotte, however, "the body became so decomposed that I could not tell my mother," the confession said. "I finally left the body in a lake near Durham and went back to Durham, where I was arrested."

Detectives Relate Arrest.

Earlier today three Durham detectives told of arresting Martin at Durham May 20 after a garage reported a "terrible odor" in Mrs. Jewett's car. The detectives, W. E. Gates, L. G. Whitaker, and C. R. Lynch, told of finding Mrs. Jewett's wristwatch, broken spectacles, and dental plate in the car. They also told of finding her clothing, blood stained and partly eaten with quick lime, in a garbage can in a house rented in Durham by Martin.

Gates said he was present when Mrs. Jewett's body, weighted with five 30 pound cinder blocks, was removed from Eastwood lake by a diver on May 27.

In questioning prospective jurors, Defense Atty. Roy D. Williams asked if they were prejudiced against an insanity defense, indicating that it might be Martin's plea when the defense presents its case. It is considered likely the trial will be concluded tomorrow.

The Illinois Supreme court yesterday granted six police captains who were discharged last summer leave to file an appeal for a mandamus to compel the city to comply with a reinstatement order issued by Superior Judge Joseph A. Graber. Lt. William Drury, who also was discharged and ordered reinstated, filed suit in Superior court for an injunction to restrain the city from filling more than 21 of the 22 captains' vacancies before he has had an opportunity to take an examination for promotion.

18 Captured Generals Tell Nazis to Give Up Now

LONDON, Jan. 18 (AP).—A spokesman for the Free German committee in Moscow, made up of 18 captured German generals, called on the Nazis today to lay down their arms. "Every one of Hitler's armies in the east is facing destruction," the spokesman said in a broadcast from Moscow. "Total annihilation still can be averted if you act this last minute. Finish the war now."

Congratulated

Newly commissioned Ensign George S. Bergh receiving congratulations yesterday from his sister, Mrs. Robert Schick.

The naval officer's oath was taken yesterday afternoon by 1,250 members of the 22d graduating class of the naval reserve midshipmen's training school at Abbott hall. The class was addressed by Ralph A. Bard, undersecretary of the navy, who told the men they were ready to "lead the warrior's life, and that has never been an easy life."

Undersecretary Bard, speaking yesterday.

"As you go forth to your new billets," the speaker said, "I cannot promise you easy sailing. There is nothing easy about this war. It is the most grueling experience that mankind has witnessed. You will see death and destruction, and you will wreak death and destruction."

He called for knockout blows, rather than "by settling for a rather doubtful decision." As he bade the graduates uphold the navy's fine tradition, Bard gave them his pledge "to do all in my power to urge adequate legislation to create a limited national service act so that we will have all citizens, subject to military service, where, when, and if they are needed."

F.D.R. PREPARES FOR INAUGURAL FETE TOMORROW

Washington, D. C., Jan. 18 (AP).—Inauguration activities began in earnest at the White House today. President Roosevelt started work on his inaugural address and accepted an imprint of an inaugural medal.

The President had only two appointments, thus giving him time to begin work on a speech which he hopes to limit to 500 words. The whole inaugural ceremony Saturday is scheduled to last only 20 minutes.

One of the appointments was with Joseph E. Davies, chairman of the medals committee, and Jo Davidson, the sculptor who designed the disc.

Medals $2 Each.

Only 3,000 medals have been cast, and they will be sold for $2 each by mail, the money covering the cost of modeling, manufacturing, and packing.

On the face is a new portrait of the President modeled by Davidson last month. On the reverse is the U. S. S. Constitution in full sail with a quotation from Longfellow: "Thou, too, sail on, O ship of state. Sail on, O union strong and great."

The White House disclosed that so far only 11 governors have replied to invitations to a buffet luncheon at the White House following the inauguration. Gov. Dewey of New York will not be among those present.

Diplomats Invited.

In addition to the governors, the White House invited diplomats, cabinet members, undersecretaries of government departments, heads of federal agencies, members of congress, the Presidential electors, the Supreme court, the Presidential staff, and wives.

The customary church services preceding the inauguration will be restricted. The services will be in charge of the Rev. John G. Magee and the Rev. Howard A. Johnson of St. John's Episcopal church, and the Rev. Howard S. Wilkinson of St. Thomas' church, Episcopal.

TRAVEL CRISIS WON'T KEEP F. D. R. ADMIRERS FROM INAUGURATION

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 18.—Altho many organizations canceled proposed meetings after War Mobilization Director Byrnes requested that large conventions be abandoned, the Democratic One Thousand club and the electoral college will celebrate the fourth term inaugural of President Roosevelt in style and numbers.

The Byrnes clamp on conventions is not officially effective until Feb. 1, however, so the Democrats will not be violating the orders of their own administration with their banquets tomorrow and Saturday night.

To house the prominent party visitors the Democratic national committee some time ago asked the hotel association of Washington to reserve 765 rooms and this was done.

There are only 7,283 transient rooms in the hotels that are members of the association, far too few to meet the Saturday demand, but the party bigwigs are assured of having their rooms from tonight until Sunday.

In addition, most of the 531 members of the electoral college have claimed rooms and tomorrow night they and their friends, 1,500 strong, will sit down to a $10 a plate dinner at the Mayflower hotel. A spokesman at national committee headquarters said most of the members' guests will come from Washington and near-by communities.

Members of the One Thousand club, the exclusive organization whose membership is made up of persons who contributed $1,000 each to the New Deal's fourth term campaign fund, will celebrate Saturday night at the Statler hotel.

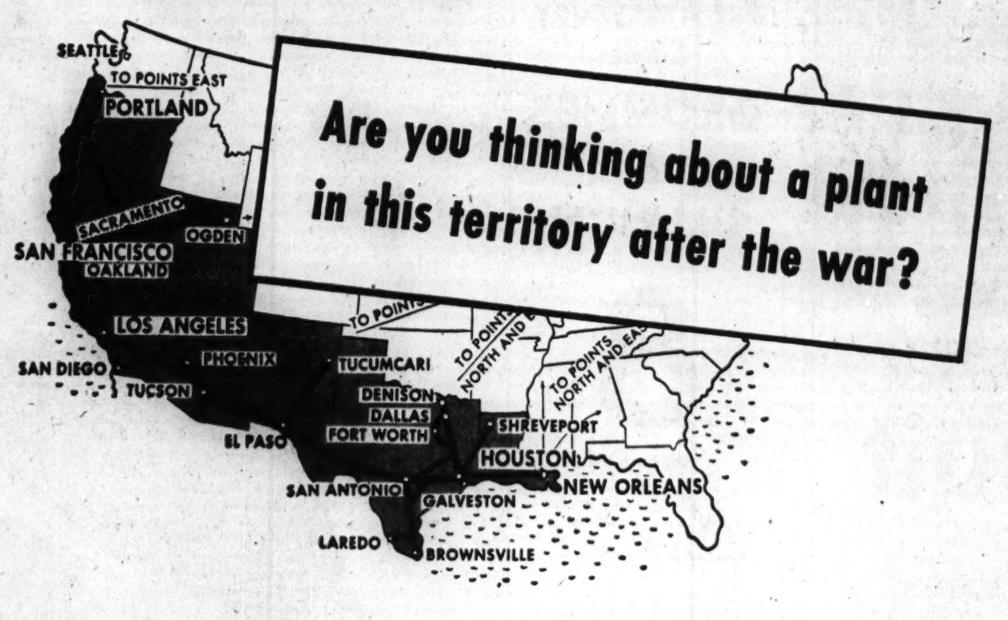
An important message to business executives!



If your company is thinking about establishing a branch plant or additional distribution facilities in the western states, or in Texas or Louisiana, perhaps Southern Pacific can be helpful to you.

We don't have to tell you about the great population increases in certain states west of the Mississippi—or about the vast undeveloped markets of Asia, and Central and South America served by ports in this area. We simply want to tell you about Southern Pacific, and how we think our railroad is in a rather unique position to serve you.

Southern Pacific is the largest western railroad, and has more miles of line than any other United States railroad. We serve Louisiana, Texas, New Mexico, Arizona, California, Oregon, Nevada, Utah, and the West Coast of Mexico.

In the West alone, Southern Pacific serves more than twice as many communities as any other railroad—many of them exclusively. So if you locate your plant on Southern Pacific, the chances are two-to-one that your western customers will be served by our rails, too.

We have an experienced industrial department, and traffic men living in every sizeable city and town along our lines. These men know their communities intimately. Through them, we will be glad to develop any specific information you wish.

You may be sure that any advice we give you will be sound and unbiased, for if the plant location we recommend should prove unsuited to you, our railroad would suffer, too.

We have been handling matters like this for many years, and those who have dealt with us know that we can be trusted with their most confidential plans.

If you have any interest at all in industrial sites or distribution facilities in our territory, please write me. I assure you that your inquiry will receive prompt, personal and confidential attention.

Respirator Is Gift to Hospital

[TRIBUNE Photo.]

Can Serve Two

A duplex respirator, said to be the first "iron lung" of its kind to reach Chicago, was dedicated yesterday at Wesley Memorial hospital.

The machine, which simultaneously can accommodate two small children or one child and an adult, was presented to the Cook county chapter of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis by the women's auxiliary of Rebekah district assembly, No. 1, Independent Order of Odd Fellows.

Mrs. Josephine J. Halverson, 5707 Erie st., past president, who made the presentation in behalf of the group, said the gift, costing $1,300, was made possible thru donations by members and the sale of a picture she had painted. The respirator is to be sent to the Municipal Contagious hospital, where it will be available for use in emergency polio cases.

U. S. MUST ALTER LIFE TO WIN WAR, MAVERICK SAYS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 18.—A complete change in the mode of life in America is necessary to win the war, Maury Maverick, vice chairman of the war production board and chairman of the Smaller War Plants corporation, told a press conference this afternoon, 24 hours after his return from four weeks' tour of European battle fronts. In addition to a requirement for further civilian sacrifices, he reported the following as his conclusions from observations abroad:

1. Labor, including women, must be drafted.

2. Military supplies necessary for victory will be two or three times previous estimates.

3. American public should be told more of the truth about troop and supply requirements and more battle news.

4. The rehabilitation of France is a military necessity.

2 NAZIS LANDED BY SUB TURNED OVER TO ARMY

New York, Jan. 18 (AP).—The 2d service command reported tonight that the justice department had transferred jurisdiction of two alleged German agents who landed on the Maine coast from a submarine Nov. 29 to the army.

Secretary of War Stimson had said earlier in the day at Washington that trial of the two men by a military commission would be held on Governors Island. The prisoners, William Curtis Colepaugh and Eric H. Gimpel, are charged with violating the law of war. Date of the trial has not been fixed.

Transfer of the men to the army was effected at 7:15 p. m. today, the 2d service command said, adding that they had been sent to Governors Island where they will be held until the trial starts.

Miss Daisy Ellison, 59, who gave her address as 4055 Ellis av., was sentenced to one day in jail yesterday by Judge Jacob M. Braude in Women's court on a charge of stealing a coat from Mrs. Meriall Tanraith, 40, of 334 Menomonee st.

CHICAGO MAN USES DENTAL TRAILER IN JUNGLES OF PACIFIC

One of the mildly spectacular sights in the Pacific battle zones is a dental trailer office, the conception of a Chicago dentist, Capt. M. I. Lehr of 5430 Van Buren st., who travels thru jungle and along beach in search of aching G. I. teeth. A recent issue of the Brief, army air forces Pacific ocean magazine, told all about it.

Capt. M. I. Lehr.

Originally Capt. Lehr's office was a plain signal corps trailer, but with the help of ordnance men whose teeth he repaired for their services, he converted it into a complete dental office. He used parts from wrecked airplanes, the only sink found in the Gilbert Islands, and other items, plus a cuspidor which he bought for $7.50.

DRAKE MURDER STILL UNSOLVED ON ANNIVERSARY

One year ago today an unidentified gunwoman shot and fatally wounded Mrs. Adele Born Williams, wealthy wife of a state department attache, in her room in the Drake hotel. The assassin also fired at Mrs. Williams' daughter, Mrs. Patricia Goodbody, but missed. Mrs. Williams died the next day.

Chicago's ablest detectives have worked on the case, scores of witnesses have been questioned, but the murder still is unsolved. However, the authorities still are investigating, and promise some day to solve the crime.

Mrs. Williams' slayer was a woman in her early 40s, whose most distinguishing attire was a black Persian lamb coat and a red ornament in her hair or hat.

MYSTERY LIGHTS IN SKY STARTLE SWEDISH PEOPLE

STOCKHOLM, Jan. 18 (AP).—Sweden is filled with reports of mysterious streaks and flashes which appear in the sky both in daylight and at night. The strange lights have stirred officials, sages, and scientists who think they may be indications of German V-weapons running wild.

However, since the first "spook bomb" was spotted a week ago over southern Sweden, nothing more explosive than rain mixed with snow, and four American bombers has landed on Swedish territory.

It is known that the Germans for some time have been experimenting with V-weapons on the Danish island of Bornholm, a short distance from the Swedish southern coast. Last year two rocket or robot missiles fell in an isolated section of southern Sweden.

MEMBERS INSIST HOUSE PUT REIN ON LABOR DRAFT

Bill Slowed by Rising Tide of Opposition.

BY LAURENCE BURD.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 18.—The administration drive to rush labor draft legislation thru congress was slowed today by opposition and demands for safeguards from members of the house military committee considering the proposal.

Chairman May [D., Ky.] reported, following an all day closed session, that little progress had been made toward reporting a bill to the house, and said the group will meet again tomorrow. He had predicted yesterday the committee would approve the measure today. The prediction was made following President Roosevelt's demand for immediate passage of the pending measure, which would give federal authorities job placement controls over the 18 million men aged 18 thru 44.

Strong sentiment against the bill was reported among Republican committee members, while Democrats proposed numerous revisions in an effort to protect workers and make the proposed machinery effective.

Affects 18-44 Group.

The bill, authored by May, would forbid men 18 thru 44 to leave essential industrial and farm work without approval of their draft boards and would give local boards power to assign "nonessential" workers to necessary work.

Revisions suggested by members include safeguards of seniority rights for workers required to shift jobs, a proviso exempting a man ordered to take a new job from joining a union against his wishes, and provision for government payment of transportation costs involved in compulsory job changes. There was also strong support for amending the penalty clauses for violators, to provide fines and imprisonment instead of punishment by induction into the army or navy for menial work.

Altho congressional leaders predicted the bill may be reported from the house group with revisions, they forecast it will have tough sledding on the house floor, in view of widespread opposition from industry and labor. The measure has been denounced as wholly unnecessary by the AFL and CIO, speaking for labor, and by industry, as represented by the National Association of Manufacturers.

Called Totalitarian.

Rep. Rees [R., Kas.] told the house today the measure is "undemocratic, totalitarian, and contrary to the ideals we are fighting for." He proposed, instead, that 4-F [physically unfit] registrants be drafted into the army for noncombat duties. This, he said, would release able bodied soldiers now at desk and other non-fighting jobs for combat, and reduce draft calls of needed able bodied farmers and war plant workers.

The house committee rejected, 14-6, one amendment offered today by Rep. Andrews [R., N. Y.], but this was not considered a test of sentiment on the bill. The proposal would have rewritten the measure along the lines of the earlier Austin-Wadsworth labor-draft bill, providing for an independent national service director and the issuance of calls for volunteers in needed jobs before using compulsion.

The May bill was endorsed today by Marvin Jones, war food administrator, and W. R. Ogg, representing the American Farm Bureau federation, in brief appearances before the committee. Both requested an amendment specifically including agriculture, as well as industry, in work to which men could be assigned.

The military committee will start hearings tomorrow on the proposal to draft nurses, which was made by the President two weeks ago.

PROBE OF LEVY BY BROWNE AND BIOFF DEMANDED

Hollywood, Cal., Jan. 18 (AP).—The International Sound Technicians' union, Hollywood branch, today demanded an accounting of approximately 2 million dollars allegedly collected thru a union assessment by William Bioff and George Browne, convicted in connection with a shakedown of the motion picture industry.

The union, affiliated with the International Alliance of Theatrical Stage Employes, which Bioff and Browne formerly headed, adopted a resolution asking "What happened to the 2 per cent tax case prepared [in New York] by the FBI and United States Atty. Boris Kostelanetz?"

The resolution protested the release of Browne, former IATSE president, and Bioff, his personal representative, after serving three years of their eight and 10 year sentences on extortion charges.

WMC AND DRAFT JOIN TO FORCE WORK OR FIGHT

War man power and state draft officials in separate moves in Chicago yesterday increased the pressure to enforce the government's work or fight edict. One ordered a reduction in the number of employes in unclassified businesses, the other struck at unwarranted war plant absenteeism.

Paul G. Armstrong, Illinois state draft director, ordered a survey in nine of the largest war plants in the Chicago area to ascertain what draft deferred employes "are not putting in full time on the job for which they were granted occupational deferments."

Draft Action May Be Taken.

The draft director emphasized that registrants are deferred in class 2-B on the premise that they are working a full work week on war material. Unwarranted absenteeism, Armstrong added, can be a matter for their draft boards to consider.

Lt. Col. Charles Curtis, head of the Chicago induction center, disclosed that six men from Chicago, and one each from Piatt and McLean counties, had been referred for draft because they left essential industry without permission.

On the WMC front, William H. Spencer, regional director, ordered unclassified businesses in tight labor areas of Illinois, Indiana, and Wisconsin to reduce their maximum employe rolls 10 per cent.

Seniority Rights Preserved.

Those affected are businesses not essential to the war program, with 10 or more workers. They must effect the cut in two installments, Feb. 15 and March 15. All workers to be released must be men, if the WMC area director judges it possible. This is expected to help get 80,000 men for Chicago war plants.

Spencer's order imposed a written guaranty by employers preserving the seniority and other rights of employes forced into war jobs; without this pledge an employer will not receive credit for employe reduction.

Spencer told the National Association of Personnel Directors in the La Salle hotel of new controls to keep war workers on the job. He blamed army authorities for creating a peace psychosis after the French invasion by predicting an early victory.

PROTESTANT CHURCH PARLEY RECOMMENDS PEACE PLAN CHANGES

Cleveland, O., Jan. 18 (AP).—Delegates to the Protestant churches' conference for a just and durable peace tonight recommended support of the Dumbarton Oaks proposals for world security, but advocated eight additions "which will make them more acceptable to the Christian conscience."

One of the recommendations approved by the more than 500 delegates representing virtually all Protestant denominations called for addition of the Atlantic Charter as a preamble to the Dumbarton Oaks plan. Other changes urged:

Inclusion of a provision for codification and development of international law; removal of voting power by a nation being judged under the proposed international body set up in the plan; liberalization of amendment procedure so as not to require concurrence by all permanent members of the security council; establishment of a special commission on colonial and dependent areas, and also a special commission on "human rights and fundamental freedoms."

Also recommended were changes in the proposal to specify means for eventual universal membership by any nation willing to accept the obligations of membership and more specific provisions for initiating limitation and reduction of armaments.

A resolution urging tolerance for Germans known to have opposed Nazidom was prepared for submission to the church group.

FARMERS, FACING LACK OF 'HANDS,' SEEK MACHINERY

Clearer Draft Order Is Sought.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 18 (AP).—New demands for labor saving farm machinery to replace agricultural workers drafted into military service are pouring into the government.

Communications received by the agriculture department from state agricultural extension service officials and leaders of farm organizations warn of a possible breakdown in food production this year. It is possible, they say, unless labor being lost under a Jan. 3 selective service order is replaced by machinery.

This order, which also has farm state members of congress joining in protest, calls for drafting "to the full extent permitted by law" deferred farm workers in the 18 thru 25 age group.

At the time the order was issued, the production of farm machinery for use this year was reported by the war food administration to be running from 20 to 25 per cent behind machinery production goals.

Backbone of Farm Labor.

Deferred farm workers in the age group affected by the Presidential draft order have been considered the backbone of the farm labor supply. For the most part they are the skilled workers, capable of operating and repairing tractors, combines, and other intricate machinery.

An informal group of 11 farm state representatives have arranged to meet with Draft Director Hershey to discuss the farm draft order.

Rep. Lemke [R., N. D.] said a resolution will be introduced specifically directing Hershey to "live up to the spirit as well as the letter" of the Tydings amendment, which permits deferment of essential farm workers.

Seeks Clearer Order.

Lemke is a member of the 11 man committee created by a large group of representatives who heard Hershey assert two days ago that the Tydings amendment was to govern his Jan. 3 order that local boards reëxamine all farm deferred youths from 18 to 25.

Various members said draft boards misinterpreted the Hershey order and were taking farm youths who should be deferred.

Lemke said the resolution being prepared by the committee—if introduced—not only would direct Hershey to inform draft boards "in clear language" that the Tydings amendment still is to govern, but also would call for:

"An investigation of how many of the 2,000,000 civilian personnel in the army and navy may be taken into the armed forces.

"Why the 4,500,000 in the armed forces still in the United States cannot be used for replacements in the battle areas.

"An investigation of hoarded labor in industry."

INDUCTION PROCESS: ARMY GAINS 1 MAN, NATION LOSES 1 FARM

Denver, Colo., Jan. 18 [Special].—A 580 acre irrigated farm in this area supporting 30 cows will stop production because the draft is taking Albert Sack, 19, who made it possible for his father to keep the land producing.

The father, Conrad, is calling a farm sale and plans to dispose of all his live stock and equipment because he will not be able to maintain the farm with only the help of his remaining son, 14. A third son has been in the army since November, Walter C. Moore, manager of the Denver Milk Producers, Inc., reported.

Albert was called up by his draft board, passed his physical examination, and will be inducted into the army Monday, Moore said. The father cannot keep up the farm alone and farm labor is unobtainable, Moore explained. As a result one of the best dairy farms in the Denver area either will lie fallow or be rented to some one else.

FINAL FIGURES DISCLOSE F. D. R. WON BY 3,596,227

Washington, D. C., Jan. 18 (AP).—Final official tabulation of the November election returns today showed:

48,025,684 voted for President.
45,103,023 voted for representative.
34,973,613 voted for senator.

The figures are contained in a pamphlet made public by the clerk of the house. They were compiled from official reports of secretaries of state.

President Roosevelt had a plurality of 3,596,227 over Gov. Dewey. His official vote was 25,602,505. Dewey polled 22,006,278.

Despite the war time interruption of normal voting, the total vote for Presidential electors was only 1,789,628 shy of the record vote of 49,815,312 in 1940.

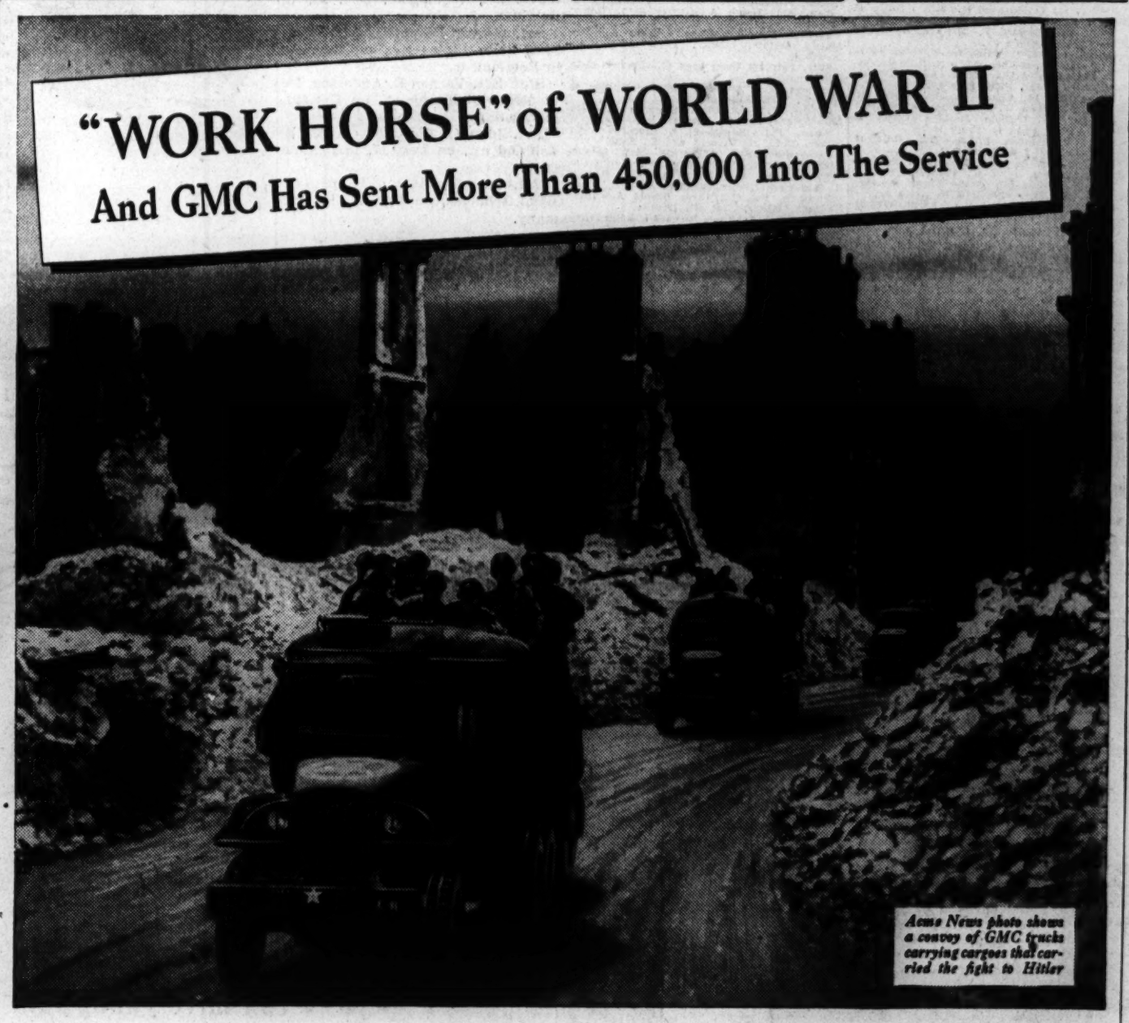
"WORK HORSE" of WORLD WAR II
And GMC Has Sent More Than 450,000 Into The Service



Acme News photo shows a convoy of GMC trucks carrying cargoes that carried the fight to Hitler

When a high-ranking Army Officer recently referred to the GMC 2½-ton "six-by-six" military truck as the "Work horse of the War," no name was ever more appropriately applied.

It works for the Artillery pulling guns and carrying ammunition. It helps the Engineers repair roads, bridges and damaged defenses. It works for the Signal Corps carrying poles and wire and radio equipment. It helps Ordnance repair tanks and trucks-and arms of all types. It works for the Transportation and Quartermaster Corps transporting the tons of food, equipment and supplies it takes to keep an Army on the offensive. It performs equally essential service for the Navy, the Marines, the Air Forces and the Coast Guard.

Is it any wonder, then, that our military forces have already requested and received more than 450,000 GMCs . . . that thousands more are going into the Service each month!

In addition to being one of the largest producers of military vehicles, GMC is also building many commercial trucks for essential users. If you are eligible for a new truck, your GMC dealer will gladly help you fill out an application. Remember, too, that GMC is headquarters for the original Preventive Maintenance Service.

MAYOR LEAVES; PLANS 3 PLEAS IN WASHINGTON

To See Inauguration and Push City Projects.

Mayor Kelly left for Washington yesterday to take up a crowded schedule of activities there, including attendance of the fourth inauguration of President Roosevelt.

The mayor will see War Man Power Chairman McNutt regarding his plea that the draft deferment ratings of public transportation workers in Chicago be improved. Loss of these employes results in poor transportation that is hampering the war effort, he believes. His position was indorsed yesterday by officials of the surface lines, who said it would be "a big help" if his request is granted. They said many men were quitting to go into war plant work and that the lines would hire 1,000 men if they were available.

Kelly also intends to reach a final and permanent agreement with Postmaster General Walker to permit the proposed Congress st. superhighway pass thru the main postoffice building. The postoffice representatives have objected to the plan.

Priorities to Be Sought.

Priorities will be sought by the mayor for building material, boilers, and equipment to make possible the expansion of sleeping facilities for service men and their families at the Chicago service men's centers.

He also will make efforts to learn how large a share of federal appropriations for road building may be in store for the city of Chicago.

On Monday the mayor, who is Democratic national committeeman for Illinois, will attend a meeting of the executive committee of the party's national committee.

Shortly before leaving Kelly was visited by T. J. Sullivan of Springfield, minority leader of the Illinois house of representatives. He accepted Sullivan's invitation to be the guest of honor at the state capital for a Roosevelt birthday ball Jan. 30.

Will Tell His Program.

Kelly at that time will meet Democratic members of the Illinois house and senate and tell them his legislative program. Observers saw this as the second big step toward patching up the differences which have long existed between downstate Democrats and the Cook county organization. Last month the mayor was host to downstate legislators in Chicago.

Again expressing his support of the movement for a constitutional convention, the mayor said he is against any state income tax.

COURTNEY GIVEN KELLY BLESSING FOR A JUDGESHIP

Mayor Kelly said yesterday that he believes that Thomas J. Courtney, former state's attorney who was defeated for governor Nov. 7, would be a good judge. Altho the mayor added, "Of course, I'm only one member of the Democratic party," his remark was construed as placing Courtney on the expected coalition slate in the June 4 judicial election.

The Democratic high command is reported to have decided upon Charles E. Byrne and John M. Tuohy for two other vacancies on the bench.

Byrne is a son-in-law of Richard Nash, brother of the late P. A. Nash, co-leader with Kelly of the Cook county organization. He was a member of the Illinois commerce commission under Gov. Horner.

Tuohy is a brother of the new state's attorney, William J. Tuohy.

Many other Democrats have their names in the ring. Among them are Ald. Crowe [42d], a council veteran, Ald. Quinn [50th], and Arthur A. Sullivan, former chairman of the Democratic state central committee.

FORGER GREETS BANKER-VICTIMS AS OLD FRIENDS!

Man of Many Escapes Caught in Bathroom.

New York, Jan. 18 [Special].—A bluff and hearty man of suave demeanor stood in a New York police station today and affably greeted by first names a party of bank officials who were present to identify him as the nation's No. 1 forger.

The smooth and handsome greeter was William Hagen Harkins, 57, alias a large number of names. He had been arrested this morning, at the request of San Francisco police, by detectives who went to his home in Jackson Heights, kicked down the door, and found him locked in the bathroom.

Half Million Profit.

In admiration of his poise, the detectives at the station watched in silence as Harkins renewed old acquaintances with the bankers. But they knew he was clever; his record showed it and he admitted it. He further admitted that his forgeries had rooked the New York bankers of $25,000 to $30,000 in the last few years and that his life time profit off gullible bankers might reach $500,000. When arrested he had only $10 in his possession.

The detectives also were thinking of Harkins' escape record, which is almost as spectacular as his criminal achievements.

Once on his way to jail in Fort Worth, Tex., to serve a two year term for forgery, he had slipped away from his guards. He jumped from a moving train near Colton, Cal., in 1923 while authorities were moving him from one part of California to another.

San Quentin Sentence.

The deft penman's most recent display of his second best artistry was on last Dec. 12, when he disappeared from the county jail in San Francisco while waiting an appeal from an order that he serve 1 to 14 years in San Quentin prison.

And the detectives knew it was only an amazing coincidence that brought about his capture here. A slip of paper bearing Harkins' name and address was found by chance in a trash can by some one who knew the police were hunting him.

They thought of these events as they stood and watched Harkins circulate thru the group of bankers.

Slippery Harkins was booked on a charge of forgery for cashing a bum check for $1,401 at the Manufacturer's Trust bank here and was locked up in a cell similar to one in which it is expected he will be kept a long time.

SEIZE $13,400 BOGUS MONEY IN ARREST OF 3

Counterfeit $100 bills totaling $13,400, described by federal agents as part of the cache of "Count" Victor Lustig, now serving a 20 year sentence in Alcatraz, were uncovered yesterday with the arrest of three men near Milwaukee, Wis.

The arrests and the seizure of the money were made by agents under Capt. Thomas J. Callaghan, head of the secret service office here. Arrested were August Socery, 39, of 340 N. Wells st., Milwaukee, a tavern owner; his bartender, Dominic Rizzo, 32, of 1730 Westmont st., in that city, and James Carter, 39, of Chicago.

The three were arraigned before United States Commissioner Floyd E. Jenkins in Milwaukee and the hearing continued until Jan. 26. Bonds were fixed at $25,000 each.

"Count" Lustig, an international crook with a police record in many European countries, was convicted on a counterfeiting charge in New York City in 1935 and sentenced to prison. At that time the authorities recovered $2,340,000 in bogus money that he and his associates were attempting to pass thruout the country.

MOVE RECORDS ON SUBVERSIVES; REASON HIDDEN

Files Unavailable to House Members.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 18.—Mystery cloaked the sudden removal to a new storage place today of the vast files of the house committee on un-American activities, containing the names of 600,000 persons linked to subversive activities.

The records have occupied filing cases in seven rooms on the top floor of the old house office building for the last five years. The building superintendent, apparently acting under orders of Speaker Rayburn of Texas, ordered them shifted to an unoccupied room on the same floor, which formerly housed a telephone exchange, where they were placed under lock and key.

Hart Out of Town.

The move was made without the knowledge of most members of the new committee which was created by the house Jan. 3 over the protests of the speaker and other leaders. Chairman Hart [D., N. J.], was said to have been informed of the change but was reported by his office to be out of town.

Rep. Rankin [D., Miss.], who led the drive to make the committee permanent, attempted to ascertain the reason for moving the records but was unsuccessful. Other members confessed they were puzzled.

Speaker Rayburn and Hart yesterday inspected the records, it was learned, and the order to shift them followed today.

Representatives of the army and navy intelligence services, calling at the old offices of the committee for information, were informed the records were temporarily not available.

Without a Supervisor.

It was noted that the records are now without a supervisor in charge who can explain the indexing system. New members of the committee will be unable to obtain information from the files without the services of some one skilled in their use.

Chief Investigator Robert E. Stripling, sole remaining employe who could furnish such assistance, goes into the army next Monday. He was granted a stay of induction to help train a new man in use of the files but the committee has not yet held a meeting and has taken no steps towards appointment of a new staff.

Whatever the purpose of today's action, it was noted by members that the files are now unavailable for practical use, an objective sought by New Deal leadership which fought to end the investigation.

REP. GULLEY DIES; G. O. P. MAJORITY REDUCED TO ONE

Gov. Green was notified here yesterday of the death of one of the 79 Republican members of the Illinois house, leaving the G. O. P. with just one vote more than the constitutional majority required to enact legislation. Usually, at least one member is absent because of illness.

Roy A. Gulley, 57, beginning his second term from the 50th district, died yesterday while en route to a Du Quoin hospital from his home in Sesser. He had suffered a heart attack.

The state constitution requires 77, a majority of the assembly—membership 153—to enact any measure. Rep. Gulley's death leaves the Republicans with a party majority of four, the Democrats having 74 members.

George A. Williston [R., Chicago] was appointed by Speaker Hugh Green of the house as a member of the state budgetary commission. He replaces Rep. Saltiel [R., Chicago], who was defeated for the state senate Nov. 7.

DE GAULLIST FRANCE IN THE WAR.

On the strength of six divisions in the line in Alsace Gen. de Gaulle asks for a full voice with Churchill, Stalin, and Roosevelt in the prosecution of the war and the preparation for the peace.

Our experience with France in the two years past would have been unusual in any period of foreign relations. In the peculiar conditions of war on French soil, colonial and metropolitan, for the liberation of France, that experience is a collector's item.

A soldier politician of a defeated and overrun country escaped to London at the surrender, not to North Africa, where his overthrown chief of state, Reynaud, had wanted to carry the government, the navy, remnants of the army, and the war. In London the soldier politician, Gen. de Gaulle, became every day less the soldier and more the politician.

By one master stroke after another he took possession of the stage. He undid the plans of the American army. He destroyed the French military friends of the United States. He upset the work of the state department. He outmaneuvered Mr. Roosevelt. He outfoxed Mr. Churchill. Wherever he went, the military participation of the French in the war for the expulsion of the Germans diminished and their participation in world politics increased.

Gen. de Gaulle, now sufficiently the head of French government to make a treaty with Stalin, may be a great French patriot but he has been a costly article for the United States. He was supported, it is true, in this country by persons whose supreme regard was for their own ideas and whose minimum regard was for American soldiers. These ideologs are still imposing their version of this war chapter on public opinion, making the ridiculous seem virtuous and the rational procedure sordid.

The army and the state department tried to bar De Gaulle from North Africa and keep control in the hands of French soldiers who wanted to fight the enemy. De Gaulle was too smart for them. He was too smart for the French soldiers. He drove some of them away and imprisoned others. French military renaissance as a valuable and material aid stopped as French left wing politicos took over. The fortunate accident of Adm. Darlan's being in Algeria at the time of the invasion is well remembered. He was the only man aside from Petain who could have ordered the French forces to stop resistance and be obeyed. He issued the order.

In late November, 1942, in a broadcast Darlan declared that French West Africa with Dakar had placed itself freely under its orders and that its facilities, ships, and armed forces, with their commanding officers, were in the allied service, and on Dec. 1, proclaiming himself chief of state in French Africa, he undertook to raise an army of 300,000. Three weeks later he was assassinated by a young Frenchman, and many of the De Gaullists in London made no secret of their satisfaction. He had begun what reasonably might be expected of France. That was to pick up the war where it had been so miserably dropped in June, 1940, and with ever increasing strength fight for deliverance.

Mr. Roosevelt called the assassination of Darlan a sordid murder, which it was, but Darlan could be replaced. Gen. Giraud, a soldier not a politician, had escaped to Africa with American help. The French imperial council chose him to succeed the admiral as high commissioner. The next month, Jan. 14, 1943, Mr. Roosevelt met Mr. Churchill at Casablanca, French Morocco, and De Gaulle, under the wing of the British prime minister, succeeded in his first step. He went to Africa, put in an appearance at Casablanca, and agreed to join hands with Gen. Giraud in fighting the war. That was fated to be the end of the promising military renaissance started by French generals in North Africa.

Mr. Roosevelt, back in Washington in February, entertained the White House reporters with stories of the shotgun wedding of Giraud and De Gaulle. Mr. Roosevelt didn't know what had happened. The French politician had sized up the French soldier and matured a scheme to eliminate him. The politician returned to London to prepare for his seizure of Africa. By April Gen. Eisenhower was asking that Gen. de Gaulle's proposed visit to Gen. Giraud be postponed. Gen. Giraud was too busy with military duties to welcome a visit. What the American commander feared is plainly suggested by what he requested. He must have hesitated to make it an order. Consequently, what he feared soon happened.

De Gaulle returned. He brought his exiles with him, Communists included. Gen. Giraud was eliminated. Other officers were cold-shouldered out. African officials were put in prison. One was shot. The Frenchmen who had helped the allies make a success of the Africa invasion and the invasion of Sicily and of the Italian mainland paid for it with their positions, their reputations, their liberties, or their lives. Military action was put on the order of secondary importance and De Gaulle cast his eye to the future. He had outmaneuvered Gen. Eisenhower. He had given our state department representatives in Africa a bad name. He had dispersed the Frenchmen who would have fought the war. Now all he had to do was to dispose of Mr. Churchill and Mr. Roosevelt and ride into Paris on the coattails of troops he did not command.

On May 24, 1944, just before the invasion of Normandy began, Mr. Churchill in commons said the De Gaulle committee could not be recognized as the government of France because there was no way of knowing the opinion of the French people. After the invasion Mr. Roosevelt said that an understanding had been reached with Gen. de Gaulle. His committee would not be recognized as a provisional government but as an administrative body in such liberated regions as Gen. Eisenhower might release to civilian control. To which our Gallic friend's response apparently was, "Ó, yeah!" He was in Paris before the bootleggers could get there and before the snipers had been wiped out. He set up his government. He set up courts of justice and a provisional assembly. In November he was off for Moscow as the French chief of state to sign a treaty with Stalin; and Maurice Thorez, the communist French war renegade, was making a triumphal return to Paris.

The most recent official report of allied army strength in France gives the French six divisions, three of them colonial. Two years ago Darlan would have raised 300,000 in the colonial reservoir of the French army. Giraud would have carried out Darlan's plans. If De Gaulle could have been suppressed until after the war the French army might now be a fitting representative of the French stake in the war and of France's responsibilities.

De Gaulle is talking about preparing an army of a million men to be ready some time in the future, quite likely after the war is over. The American army pays a price to promote left wing tendencies here and in Europe.

THE NEIGHBORHOOD LAW.

The neighborhood redevelopment act of 1941 has been held constitutional by the Supreme court of Illinois. What that means is that the door is at last opened to a rebuilding of the run-down districts of Chicago. There is now good reason to hope for a gradual disappearance of the blighted areas that surround the central business district in a band miles wide.

The redevelopment act does not put any government—federal, state, or local—in the landlord business. The purpose of the law is to invite private capital to undertake slum clearance for the profit that can be made out of it. The act merely recognizes the fact that capital will not be risked in this field under the conditions that have obtained in the past.

The blighted areas of Chicago were built up in the period of the city's most rapid growth, in the decades following the great fire. The aggregate capital that went into these areas was fairly large, but it was invested in small amounts. Occasionally a speculative builder would develop a block at a time, but this was the exception rather than the rule. It is true that a few far-sighted individuals planned a whole neighborhood. Perhaps Pullman could be cited as one example. Groveland park, between the Illinois Central and Cottage Grove avenue, is another. But for much the most part the large capital required for carrying out such designs was lacking. Each year the population of the city was increasing by many thousands. There was need for houses in a hurry and we got them.

They are now old houses, many of them in disrepair. For years it was hoped that the old buildings would be torn down, one by one, and replaced. That didn't happen because nobody would invest the necessary money in the certainty that his new building would be surrounded by decaying properties. The new capital for housing went out toward the perimeter of the city. The old areas grew steadily less attractive.

Capital might have been found to buy up the slum areas for wholesale rehabilitation except for the fact that land titles were often difficult to acquire. Some owners wanted fancy prices. A more difficult problem was the acquisition of land where the title was obscured by tax delinquency, questions of heirship, and a dozen other complications of the sort. If any progress was to be made, the first problem to be solved was the problem of assembling large units of land.

That is what the neighborhood redevelopment act is intended to accomplish. The question still remains, of course, whether investors will be found to take advantage of the opportunity. Some have already said they will, but it is obvious that present income and inheritance taxes will discourage many. In this connection it is to be hoped that the legislature will move promptly to approve the bill permitting insurance companies to invest in slum rehabilitation in Chicago as they have already done in New York. In view of the fact that our redevelopment act is in some respects more inviting to the investor than is the corresponding New York law, the probability is that the insurance companies, if permitted to do so, will take advantage of it.

It took a great deal of effort to persuade the legislature to enact the law, if only because it was the first of its kind. THE TRIBUNE takes pride in the fact that it has fought for this measure from the beginning, and for long was the only voice raised in its behalf.

IS THIS A PREVIEW?

A curious picture of working conditions in a canning factory at Owosso, Mich., where more than half the working force were German prisoners of war under American army supervision came out last week during the trial of two American girls who helped two of the prisoners to escape.

The girls testified that wholesale drinking was a common practice in the factory, that love notes circulated between civilian American girls and prisoners, and that girl workers attended midnight petting parties in the prisoners' stockade. A foreman knew of the drinking, and, indeed, sometimes provided the bottle, and military police carried notes between the girls and prisoners.

The administration proposes a national service draft of men and women. One may wonder whether the army is really equal to the responsibilities which such a law would impose on it. If the military authorities can't control the conduct of German prisoners in factories, what likelihood is there that it will do a better job with Americans?

BOYS WILL BE BOYS.

The death of the author of the 208 Frank Merriwell stories, written by Gilbert Patten, alias Burt L. Standish, was first page news with second-day editorial comment. Little remains to be said except that in 1940, when he faced a bankrupt old age, his home was saved from mortgage foreclosure by Franklin P. Adams [F.P.A. of the columns and broadcasts]. Adams raised a Merriwell rescue fund, and among the contributors was a former barefoot boy named Wendell Willkie.

* * *

F. P. A. stirred up so much publicity over the Merriwell tradition that Burt L. Standish was offered a contract to write a book that would present a full length view of his hero as an adult. The result was "Mr. Frank Merriwell," published in 1941 and soberly reviewed by literary critics. The New York Times said:

"The true pleasure is in finding so much vigor still in the pen of a man who started writing 20,000 words every week about Merriwell in 1896 and kept up that rate of production for more than 17 years. . . . The characterizations are straight ham, but Mr. Patten is never on the wrong side of the moral issues."

* * *

Patten, alias Standish, began his career in fiction for the low-bracketed I. Q.'s as a wild westerner. To sample the atmosphere of the west and learn the dialect, he went to Omaha in 1889 for a brief visit; he entered the New York hack-writing trade in 1891 as William West Wilder, alias Wyoming Bill.

* * *

Frank Merriwell became grist for the comic strips in 1931 and had another revival in 1934 as fodder for the radio. This noble lad's adventures have been praised for their salubrious influence by such contrasting notables of American life as Al Smith, Jack Dempsey, Woodrow Wilson, and Babe Ruth.

That Vacation Travel Headache.

Among my friends is the couple living down the street, whom I shall call the Snorkwaters. One needs to meet the Snorkwaters to appreciate them, but afterward one feels that somewhere in the background there was a biological Burbank who grafted filberts onto their family tree.

Knowing the inconvenience of rail travel, they decided to forgo their winter vacation trip, but to pack their luggage just as if they were going somewhere. As the idea expanded, they concluded it would be fun to go to the Union station and request the train reservations they didn't make. Their plea, of course, met with the anticipated rebuff. Contentedly then they returned to their apartment hard by a railroad track and sat quietly in their 18th century love seat, enjoying the roar of passing trains and quaffing from a bottle of old cognac which they had saved for such an occasion. In this mood they toasted each other's good health until the cuckoo clock struck 2.

The next morning, declaring it was the nicest vacation trip they ever dis-remembered, they wrote a note to the ODT, apologizing for enjoying the vicarious thrill of a stay-at-home vacation. They pointed out remorsefully that it only led to the same kind of headaches they had when they really went somewhere!

CURFEW: OLD ENGLAND.

The sun has given good-night. Winds in the hedge
Have tucked the last few hawthorn buds for sleep,
A yellow star peeps past the turret-ledge,
And over lane and path the dark lies deep.
Faint curfew music mingles on the breeze
With children's laughter, and the eerie call
Of rooks in shadowy flight to shadowy trees,
Or rendezvous with some time-weathered wall.
Perchance along this white road Chaucer walked,
Or Shakespeare, London-bound, gallant and trim;
Or in this twilight Spenser's shepherds talked
Of queens, and ale, and flocks, and dragons grim.
All these, perchance, were eyes but made for night,
One might encounter in this haunted light!

It is suggested you visit the navy recruiting station, 321 Plymouth ct., and try for first class rate as a patrol grader operator. This rate requires an operator with a definite skill on various types of graders, that is, ability to maintain, lubricate, and repair such equipment; to know at a glance the capacity of the equipment, and to instruct and supervise others. If you do not have sufficient skill for the first class rate, the second class rate also is open.

Can this child also get a pension?"

No, not unless the veterans' administration can be satisfied that the child actually was a member of the household at the time of your husband's death or that the relationship of loco parentis existed at the time.

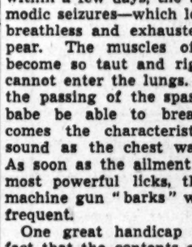
CARE OF THE CHILD WITH WHOOPING COUGH.

WHOOPING cough is a peculiar disease. While the malady itself cannot be considered ominous, it may so lower resistance that some other disorder, such as pneumonia, will come along and filch life. The cause, as we know, is a specific germ. Those who are afflicted may transmit the organisms to others in schools, shops, movies, or wherever reasonably close contact prevails.



The infection will begin to show itself about the middle of winter and reach its peak by March or April. A secondary wave may arise in early autumn but, as a rule, it is of short duration. Somehow or other it seems to be more menacing in smaller towns than in larger cities. It is no respecter of persons, and will enter the most sanitary home as well as the one that is less cleanly. We look upon the disease as contagious, particularly if a "whooper" is encountered.

About one-fifth of the cases will occur under 1 year of age and this may be considered the critical group. More often than not an older child will bring home the invader, whereupon others in the family will contract it. The manifestations start usually as an ordinary cold, with a running nose and slight cough. If a temperature is present, it will not be high. These symptoms do not differ from the average nasal irritation and may be disregarded. It would be wonderful if every mother, in such circumstances, would put the little one to bed and keep other children away. Even tho it is nothing but an ordinary coryza, it can spread.

But coughing may continue and, within a few days, the typical spasmodic seizures—which leave the tot breathless and exhausted—may appear. The muscles of breathing become so taut and rigid that air cannot enter the lungs. Only with the passing of the spasm will the babe be able to breathe. Then comes the characteristic crowing sound as the chest wall expands. As soon as the ailment gets in its most powerful licks, the repeated machine gun "barks" will be more frequent.

One great handicap lies in the fact that the contents of the stomach will be vomited. Thus it becomes necessary to offer a supplementary feeding without delay. This is important as nutrition must be maintained. Otherwise reserve will drop rapidly. Sometimes during a paroxysm the face will become cyanotic [blue] because of temporary suffocation. Bleeding into the eyes is not at all uncommon and many a youngster will show signs of hemorrhage due to ruptured capillaries within the optics.

Fortunately, we have a protecting vaccine which may be employed safely and with benefit, even tho it does not provide complete immunity. If the affliction comes later, it will be mild in comparison. The "shots" should be given before exposure altho, when contact is experienced, their use is advocated by many investigators prior to the appearance of the acute symptoms.

Every youngster in the household should be kept away from the invalid and careful nursing is half the battle. It is desirable to moisten the air of the room and certain remedies will be helpful in liquefying the secretions. The main thing, however, is to preserve strength, and a full diet should be utilized. We can afford to cater to appetite; even whims.

We are dealing with an illness which should be taken seriously. If the attack is light, we may congratulate ourselves as well as the victim. But one of moderate intensity may give us anxious moments.

WHAT DOES BABY SEE?

Mrs. E. H. writes: How soon after birth does a baby see well enough to distinguish objects?

REPLY.

According to Kugelmass, before two months sight is not definite. Then the infant begins to see large objects. By the third month, he recognizes the faces of those who care for him. By the sixth month, he can perceive small things about the room.

Inflammation of the tongue. Causes include bacteria, fungi, local irritation, foci of infection in neighboring areas, systemic illnesses, etc. If good oral hygiene does not bring improvement, a checkup is advised.

You come home to find that strikes are going on, and people push you off the trains and cheat you out of what little money you have. They never seem to think about the sacrifices these guys give.

"I wonder what all those people would say if all the soldiers and sailors went on strike and let the Germans and Japs take our country. Would they be disgusted with us? They'd yell 'Coward!' in our face every time we put our nose out of doors.

"To me most of the civilians back home are no darn good. When I get back, I will tell you about some more instances I can't write about now."

THE CITY HALL AND BAD STREET CAR SERVICE.

Chicago, Jan. 15.—Much of the blame for the present transportation difficulty should be placed on the shoulders of our present city administration.

Parking along street car and bus routes should have been prohibited years ago. This parking during the winter months prevents snow removal equipment from properly clearing the streets of ice and snow, which is as much a service to the motorist as it is to the transportation systems. Parking during the winter months should be confined to side streets.

I was one of several thousand homebound workers who was blocked by a truck on Pulaski road last week. The driver had left the truck backed into the curb, with the front of truck blocking the car tracks. The driver could not be found and it was necessary for the surface lines to send a tow truck out to pull this truck in clear. This happened during the evening rush hour and caused a delay of 25 minutes, during which time 12 street cars had bunched. From there on, with crowds at every stop, every one tried to get on the first car, causing a still greater delay to service. It was necessary for the supervisors to switch some of these cars back before reaching their terminals in order to have service operating in the opposite direction. . . . all of this delay to many thousands of workbound and homebound war workers due to the thoughtlessness of one individual.

About 10 years ago the surface lines wanted to purchase 1,100 street cars of the type that are in operation on Madison street. This was opposed by the city administration, who have control of the traction fund, permitting the purchase of only 83.

Millions of cards are to be supplied the million or more dealers, to be issued to their patrons, and duly punched when and if the goods are delivered. But there's a catch in it, as usual. The author of this new scheme, worthy of the scintillant cerebrations of a genuine brain-truster, also informs us that the cards will not be good for any specified number of packages, nor, indeed, for any at all. Perhaps the already harassed vendors will derive a lot of pleasure from punching the holes. Or maybe keeping tab on the carloads of cute little cards will help to provide the 60 million jobs our magniloquent commander in chief has promised us.

REP. RANDOLPH FAVORS CHICAGO AIRPORT AT LAKE

Urges City to Strive for Aviation Leadership.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.

An airport site on the lake front was held feasible yesterday by Rep. Randolph [D., W. Va.] in an address urging that Chicago make ready to develop as a center of world aviation after the war. The West Virginian, author of the federal airport act pending in congress, spoke at a luncheon of the aviation committee of the Illinois Chamber of Commerce, attended by representatives from more than 50 Illinois cities.

Great circle flying, Randolph pointed out, places Chicago in an advantageous position in global aviation after the war. The city's principal need, he held, is to bring airport facilities closer to the loop.

Million Planes Predicted.

Rep. Randolph told his audience that in preparing for post-war growth of aviation, Illinois is ahead of many states. He predicted that within 10 years after the war America will have a million privately owned and operated airplanes and added:

"Gov. Green is intensely interested in flying. Mayor Kelly is alert to the challenge Chicago faces in the air routes of the future. So is Ben Ragen, the chairman of the Illinois aeronautics commission. Adequate provision must be made now, not 10 years hence, for Chicago's place in global aviation."

The lake front proposal to which he directed attention was advanced several years ago. The technical committee of the air lines last year, in giving its recommendations on sites, held the cost of a lake front airport of the size required could not be justified if it were for exclusive air line use. However, the report said, if in the future information became available which would justify its high cost — estimated at between 125 and 150 million dollars—"we would favor this site over all others."

Federal Program Outlined.

Rep. Randolph said the federal aid program proposes construction of about 3,000 new airports.

"In Illinois you have 82 airports," he said, "and under the civil aeronautics administration there would be 110 new airports, making 192 in Illinois in the federal aid program."

After Randolph's presentation, the meeting indorsed the act in relation to airport authorities downstate, now pending in the senate at Springfield. It rectifies the act of the last legislature which was held invalid by the Supreme court.

E. Kenneth Todd was chairman of the meeting, which was held in the Morrison hotel.

"You know, dear, I never noticed how much you look like your father."

CITY MUST FACE NEGRO PROBLEM, REPORT WARNS

The new economic status gained by Negroes during the war, bringing enlarged problems of housing, education, and health, will be a major post-war consideration that Chicago cannot evade, Mayor Kelly's committee on race relations asserted yesterday in its first annual report.

The committee, formed after the Detroit race riots in the summer of 1943, said its report was the first by an official agency ever made in America on one city's progress in the field of race relations. It estimated Chicago's Negro population as 350,000, about one-tenth of the city's total.

Housing Placed First.

Housing is regarded the weightiest problem. The committee said that public projects for Negroes had gone ahead much faster than private plans. Up to Dec. 1, 1944, 1,450 public units had been completed and 1,012 were under construction, but of 2,075 units authorized for private building as a war need, only 444 were completed last October and only 464 were under construction. The committee said steps are being taken to interest private capital in building for Negro tenants.

In the elementary schools, the committee reported "mounting, gross inadequacy of facilities," which it said, "has long been a chronic cause of racial tension in the Negro community." The report said the school board recently has initiated a program to provide about 4,000 additional seats for Negro pupils.

Need More Pre-School Care.

Chiefly lacking in the city's health program for Negroes is pre-school care, the report said. In some Negro areas the Infant Welfare society is active, the report said, but it has no centers in the principal Negro community on the near south side.

The report was made up under direction of Edwin R. Embree, president of the Julius Rosenwald fund, who is committee chairman.

CHICAGO AND AIR LINES AGREE ON NEW TERMINAL

Hope to Rush Work on $420,000 Project.

BY FRANK STURDY.

Complete accord between the city and the air lines in negotiations for financing and constructing a new terminal building at the Chicago airport was reached yesterday.

Public Works Commissioner Hewitt, after a conference with officials of the air transport companies, announced agreement on all essential factors that ended discussions that have dragged for more than a year and once contemplated an elaborate building to cost $1,750,000.

Hope to Build It Soon.

The goal now is completion, perhaps as early as this summer, of a structure that will serve many times the number of passengers now jammed into the outgrown building in use. It will be about 1,400 feet long and one story in height, and cost between $420,000 and $470,000.

Admittedly with some reluctance, the air lines agreed to underwrite the cost of the terminal building and its attendant new loading stations, taxiways, and parking spaces, with the understanding that their funds will be regained thru remission of landing fees. The reluctance was occasioned by the arrangement that the money be repaid in equal annual instalments over a period of 10 years.

Eight Lines to Rent Space.

Principal points in the agreement were:

1. The city architect, Paul Gerhardt Jr., will design the building and other facilities. A first draft, for submission to air line architects for approval, will be ready in one week.

2. Each of the eight air lines now at the airport will rent space, for a total of 25,000 square feet, at $2 a foot.

3. Offices of the weather forecaster, the civil aeronautics administration, and necessary space for customs and immigration officers will be found in the present terminal.

4. A share of the cost of construction will be assessed each air line on the basis of its ratio of scheduled flights.

SENATE GROUP BACKS BILL TO CURB PETRILLO

Washington, D. C., Jan. 18 (AP).—The senate interstate commerce committee has approved unanimously legislation designed to assure high school musicians the right to broadcast on the radio.

Sen. Vandenberg [R., Mich.] drafted the measure after James C. Petrillo, head of the AFL musicians' union, halted broadcasts from a national high school music festival at Interlochen, Mich., in 1942.

The bill would make it unlawful for any person or group to interfere with the broadcast of a noncommercial educational or cultural program by a tax exempt educational institution.

The senate approved a similar measure last Dec. 14, but congress adjourned before it reached the house floor.

SAILOR DIVORCES WIFE; SHE SAYS CHILD ISN'T HIS

Alton T. Fox, 20, a naval seaman, was granted a divorce by Judge John A. Sbarbaro in Superior court yesterday after a stipulation was read from his wife, Helen, of 1921 W. 17th st., in which she admitted that Fox was not the father of her daughter, born Sept. 15, 1944. Fox, represented by Atty. Irving Eisenman, charged his wife with desertion. They were married Dec. 31, 1942, and separated April 20, 1943.

5 ADRIFT AT SEA OWE LIVES TO RADIO SCIENCE

Long Beach, Cal., Jan. 18 (AP).—Radio science today motivated the rescue of four army flyers and an Australian engineer, after their plane was forced down and they floated for 10 hours on a rubber raft 1,000 miles off the coast.

The sixth ferrying group here said the crew of a searching bomber, flying a course plotted by radio navigators, sighted the raft and called a navy ship to pick up the men. They are returning to the coast, apparently uninjured. Their names were withheld. The plane left here last night and at 3:28 a. m. sent an SOS, followed by a long dash.

Thru use of directional radio receivers ferry command navigators located the spot where the plane went down. Searchers found the raft within 45 minutes after reaching the approximate site.

PRESS IS CURB AGAINST UNREST, PROFESSOR SAYS

The Rev. Eneas B. Goodwin, head of the economics department of Loyola university, yesterday told the university's economics club that "daily newspapers in large cities can do more to quiet racial unrest than the pulpit or 'commissions.'"

He said these newspapers are the "dominant influence" over "popular thought and social habits."

"Few read the magazines, and the pulpit is now astonishingly weak," Father Goodwin asserted. "As a result, nearly all the knowledge people have of what is going on in the world comes from the newspapers they read. If the newspapers would stop adding the words 'colored' or 'Negro' when they refer to an American of African ancestry, readers would soon forget the differences between races."

SIX POLICEMEN SUSPENDED OVER LOST $800 RING

Two police sergeants and four patrolmen of Town Hall station were suspended yesterday for alleged laxity in performance of their work. The penalty resulted from an investigation of the disappearance of an $800 diamond ring belonging to McKinley [Mike] Dooman, a petty gambler slain New Year's day in a north side bar.

Policemen John Klicka and Edward Flannery, a patrol wagon crew, were suspended for 20 days because, after the murder, they had taken the body to the station and waited 15 minutes for the day crew to take it to the morgue. Patrolmen John Quinn and Joseph Refka, the relief crew, were suspended for 10 days.

Five day suspensions were meted to the two sergeants, Rupert S. Fallon for failure to report immediately to the scene of the crime, and Neil Kahler, assigned to desk duty, for failure to prepare an inventory of the slain man's effects and advise his superior of the property brought in by the wagon crew. The ring has never been recovered.

CHARGES 19 OF 20 CUSTOMERS TRY TO HOARD FAGS

The retail druggist has found from recent experience that 19 out of 20 customers will endeavor to get more than a fair share of cigarets, Harry Levin, president of the Druggist Guild of Chicago, declared yesterday. That is one of several reasons, he said, why the druggists have no hope that the tobacco wholesalers' ration card idea will help in the current shortage of fags.

"The man who used to get along with a pack a day now looks for a chance to buy two, and he has his wife out shopping for a reserve," said Levin, manager of Hale Drugs, 6800 North av.

"No retailer will receive enough cigarets to give a card to every customer. If we issue cards to 25 per cent, we are in effect telling the others we do not want their trade."

Druggists feel that the card plan places the retailer "in the middle" and are "generally opposed to it," Levin said.

RADIO AND $358 STOLEN.

John Baicher reported to police yesterday the theft of a radio valued at $35 and $358 from his room in the Dorset hotel, 4943 Sheridan rd.

LONDON DANCER BLAMES YANK IN CABBIE SLAYING

LONDON, Jan. 18 (AP).—Mrs. Elizabeth Maud Jones, 18 year old British striptease dancer, fighting for her life in Old Bailey Criminal court, today denounced her erstwhile lover, Paratrooper Pvt. Karl Gustav Hulten, 22, of Boston, Mass., as solely to blame for the slaying of George Edward Heath, 54, London taxi driver.

Mrs. Jones, who testified she left her husband after their wedding night because he struck her, said she was terrified of Hulten but continued to date him. The night of the slaying, she said, they hailed Heath's cab. When they got to a lonely area, the car halted and Heath leaned over to open the door.

"I heard a shot and saw a flash," she said. "The shot deafened me for a few minutes."

She testified that Hulten forced her at gunpoint to search Heath for his valuables.

The prosecution rested after testimony by detectives who questioned Hulten and the girl. They read statements attributed to her in which she said Hulten suggested the robbing of Heath.

Hulten previously had blamed the girl, saying she insisted on riding in a tax and asserted, "if it had not been for that girl, I would not have shot Heath."

WOMAN HIT BY STREET CAR.

Mrs. Ida Harmon, 50, of 449 Belden av., suffered a possible skull fracture yesterday when she was struck by a street car at Grand av. and State st. She was taken to Columbus Memorial hospital.

War Production Board Prohibits Certain Uses of Electricity

As a means of conserving fuel on a nation-wide basis, the War Production Board has issued an order, dated January 15, 1945, which prohibits the use of electricity for the following purposes:

"(1) Outdoor advertising and outdoor promotional lighting.

"(2) Outdoor display lighting except where necessary for the conduct of the business of outdoor establishments.

"(3) Outdoor decorative and outdoor ornamental lighting.

"(4) Show window lighting except where necessary for interior illumination.

"(5) Marquee lighting in excess of 60 watts for each marquee.

"(6) White way street lighting in excess of the amount determined by local public authority to be necessary for public safety.

"(7) Outdoor sign lighting except for: (i) directional or identification signs required for fire and police protection, traffic control, transportation terminals or hospitals; or directional or identification signs for any similar essential public services the lighting of which is specifically certified to be necessary by local public authority. Certification shall be made in writing to the appropriate electric supplier and need not be in any particular form; (ii) Directional or identification signs using not more than 60 watts per establishment, for doctors and for hotels, and other public lodging establishments."

As a supplier of electricity, the Commonwealth Edison Company is required to bring this order to the attention of all its customers using electricity for these purposes.

This order of the War Production Board is by its terms mandatory, effective February 1, 1945, and places the responsibility for compliance upon the users of electricity. The War Production Board, however, urges voluntary compliance as soon as possible.

The order further requires that the Company notify any customer known by the Company to be in continued violation of the order after February 1. A copy of this notification must be sent to the District Office of the War Production Board.

The War Production Board asks full cooperation of all users affected. The order provides that wilful violation is subject to fine or imprisonment, and further provides that the Board upon determination of continued violation, may direct the suspension of service and prescribe the conditions under which service may be restored.

The Company will be glad to advise with its customers in meeting these regulations.

Patrick Campbell, 39, of 3256 Jackson blvd., was placed on a year's probation by Judge Nuncio J. Bonelli in Fillmore st. court yesterday on a charge of assault with a deadly weapon. Campbell allegedly knocked down and kicked Michael J. Ryan, 48, of the same address, on Jan. 6. Judge Bonelli fined Campbell $200 and costs, but changed the sentence when Campbell told him that he had six children and a sick wife at home.

SERUM ALBUMIN NEWEST SAVER OF YANK LIVES

Plasma Derivative Can Be Administered at Front.

BY ANNE DOUGLAS.

In many war theaters today lives of American fighters suffering from battle shock are being saved by injections of a new derivative of blood plasma, known as normal serum albumin [human]. Able to withstand tropical climate without refrigeration, ready for instant use, the albumin is five times as concentrated as ordinary blood plasma.

The albumin has been produced under navy contract at seven pharmaceutical houses in the United States, one of them the Armour laboratories, division of Armour & Co., which has helped with albumin production problems since soon after its discovery. The result of plasma research begun in 1940 by the National Research council, the albumin was developed at Harvard medical school under the direction of Prof. E. J. Cohn. After 1941 this work was carried on under contract to the office of scientific research and development.

Obtained by Fractionation.

The albumin is one of several derivatives obtained by fractionation, or separating the constituents of plasma. The process, exceedingly exacting, is designed to "permit separation of the various protein constituents of plasma in the native state," said Dr. Jules Porsche, assistant director of Armour's chemical research and development department.

Unlike whole dried plasma, the albumin can be kept dissolved in purified water under battle conditions. Its container, designed by the navy, is a small bottle with a rubber cap at one end to which a tube and needle can be attached for intravenous injection. At the other end is a rubber cap to be punctured to allow air to enter as the fluid flows out. The bottle comes in a metal can, of a size that fits easily into a man's pocket.

Does Not Replace Plasma.

The albumin does the specific job of holding fluid in the blood stream, necessary in shock, and in no sense replaces plasma, which has its own uses, Dr. Porsche said. Plasma, being the whole fluid, contains albumin but cannot be made as easily accessible under front line battle conditions.

The Armour laboratories entered the picture when it became necessary to translate the discovery into production on a scale large enough to test it under actual conditions. At that time, the National Research council asked Dr. Cohn to develop a substitute for bovine blood. He separated the albumin for trial and turned to Armour for collaboration, as they had large quantities of bovine blood at their disposal.

However, a safe product from bovine plasma could not be developed in time. Research on this still is being carried on at Harvard and at Armour. By 1941 both the navy and Red Cross became interested, more human blood became available, and Harvard decided the first problem to solve was the fractionation of human blood. The government office of scientific research and development asked Armour to produce enough human albumin for clinical trial.

Navy Asks Armour Aid.

The navy, seeing wide possibilities in the albumin, let contracts to various pharmaceutical houses and early in 1943 asked the Armour laboratories to take an additional contract for albumin production. The packer was the only concern with a background in the work gained from its experiments with beef blood, methods for the two types of blood being nearly the same.

The Red Cross acked that an Armour plant be situated in the southwest to draw upon supplies of human blood that had not been tapped. In five months, from June to November, 1943, Armour, with assistance from the industry cooperation division of the navy department, constructed a plant for the plasma work next to its packing plant in Fort Worth, Tex. The first blood was taken on Nov. 3, 1943. At capacity the plant employs approximately 100 persons and handles from 7,000 to 8,000 pints of blood a week, collected by the Red Cross from New Orleans, La., and San Antonio, Fort Worth, and Dallas, Tex.

Research on Other Fractions.

Normal serum albumin, the end toward which the chemists were striving, may be in the long run no more important than its by-products, several of which are still in the early experimental stages. The albumin is only one of the fractions obtainable from whole plasma, and Harvard, going on the theory that everything in plasma is valuable, is conducting research on the remaining fractions, which are produced by the houses producing albumin.

One of the most promising by-products is normal serum gamma globulin antibodies, Dr. Porsche said. So far it has proved the most satisfactory preventive for measles yet discovered, he declared.

Prevents Scar Tissue.

A second by-product is fibrin film, a sort of plastic with possibilities as a substitute for the brain covering in surgery. Inserted between the brain and skull in head wound operations, it prevents the formation of scar tissue and, being a natural substance, is absorbed by the body.

Fibrin foam, another form of fibrin, can be saturated with thrombin, the substance that makes blood clot, to stop bleeding during operations. Used like a cotton swab, it offers the advantages of assimilation by the body, and when the patient is sewed up it can be left inside.

Wins Divorce

MRS. HENRIETTA JOERG.

Mrs. Henrietta Joerg, 27, of 705 S. Delphia av., Park Ridge, who testified her husband, August, 40, struck her when she refused to borrow money for him from a mutual friend, was granted a divorce by Judge Michael Feinberg in Circuit court yesterday on the ground of cruelty.

She said her husband, a carnival concessionaire, seldom worked since they were married in September, 1939, but forced her to work and give him her checks. The divorce was granted to Mrs. Joerg, represented by Attorneys Joseph H. and Norman Becker, on her cross bill after Joerg withdrew his suit.

Mrs. Joerg's attorneys said she will give Joerg $500 to settle a claim he might make against property she has inherited.

INVENTOR'S WIFE SHOWS TWO LOVE LETTERS IN SUIT

Mrs. Edith Burtnett, 47, of 425 Surf st., suing for separate maintenance on a charge of adultery, read to a commissioner of the Superior court yesterday two letters which she said her husband, Everett, 54, an inventor, said to own patent rights and royalties worth $500,000, had hidden in a bathroom until he could mail them. One was to go to Mrs. Isabelle Borth of 1547 N. Dearborn st. and the other to a Miss Irene Salmons.

"I come to you in my thoughts and in my dreams, and you kiss me," Mrs. Burtnett said he wrote to Miss Salmons. She said that in his letter to Mrs. Borth he wrote: "I hope you will want me to put my arms around you, lovely girl, and feel the warmth of you, while I tell you the little story of my love for you while I take each of your lovely fingers and love them individually, wanting always to feel my lips on your lovely neck, and hands, and lips."

The special commissioner, Alvin Kayner, continued the hearing to next Thursday. Burtnett will ask him to recommend to Judge Joseph Sabath the dissolution of his wife's injunction restraining him from touching his patent rights and royalties.

TRIBUNE PHOTOS ON EXHIBIT AT 1 S. DEARBORN ST.

A selection of 168 of the finest of the 260 prints in the annual Chicago Tribune Photographers' exhibition was hung yesterday in The Chicago Tribune public service office at 1 S. Dearborn st. This show follows the larger exhibit which has been removed from the public service office in Tribune Tower. Seventy of the remaining prints have been hung in Harmony hall, the corridor connecting Tribune Tower lobby with the W-G-N studios. These photographs will be on public exhibit for at least a month.

MAUDE BENNOT DEFENDS ACTS AT PLANETARIUM

Miss Maude Bennot, suspended assistant director of Adler planetarium, assailed park officials at a civil service hearing yesterday when she was charged with insubordination and violation of civil service rules for alleged refusal to turn over planetarium keys and the vault combination.

She said she had sought to "make arrangements" about the keys and combination with Le Roy Woodland, director of finance and custodian of park property, all day Jan. 5, but had been unable to reach him. Her defense hinged largely on this point.

Stephen D. Forst, assistant director of park employment, and Commissioner S. I. Witmanski will prepare a report for the parks civil service board, which will rule.

'Private Investigator Maclain'..... By Baynard Kendrick

(Copyright, 1945: By Baynard Kendrick.)

SYNOPSIS: In the sumptuous terrace apartment of the successful novelist, Larmar Jordan, a cocktail party is in session. Capt. Duncan Maclain sits alone with his Seeing Eye dog, Schnucke. He is joined by Sarah Hanley, Larmar's agent. Out on the terrace Sybella Ford, his fiancee, is chatting with Paul Hirst, Larmar's secretary. Troy Singleton arrives. Bob Morse, reporter, tells Maclain he is doing a profile on Larmar, whose wife, Lucia, is very charming and whose latest inamorata is Troy Singleton. Troy insists she received an invitation. Larmar accuses Lucia of sending it for some dramatic purpose. After the guests have gone Ellis Brown Mitchell, gun expert, seeks Hirst's aid in cataloging Larmar's gun collection. Larmar tells Paul he is going to sell his guns. Paul realizes there is something catastrophic to make him dispose of his prize collection. Next day, alone in his apartment, Larmar is studying his financial status, depleted by Troy's demands, when she visits him. As the chimes of Trinity sound, Troy, seated on the terrace, slumps down, shot thru the heart. No one is near. Larmar, removes her body to the gun room, and is surprised by the arrival of the police, summoned by Mrs. Oliver, who lives in the apartment above. She heard the shot and saw Larmar carry the body inside. Lucia, accompanied by Bob Morse, returns home. The police find a strange looking pistol in the privet hedge and a handkerchief caught on a twig close beside it. Larmar admits the pistol belongs to him, and when the police see blood on his cuff he is held for murder. Lucia appeals to Capt. Maclain, and arranges to have Jess Ferguson, Larmar's attorney, meet him.

INSTALMENT XI.

NO ENCOURAGEMENT.

The captain, who judged his fellow men by sounds, was quick to tabulate Jess Ferguson as part charlatan and part genius. Whatever the charlatan part might be, there was a wealth of honest sincerity there.

"I've been telling Lucia and Paul Hirst that I'm afraid I can't help them," said Duncan Maclain.

"Come now, captain, nothing's quite that hopeless," the lawyer said.

"I'm afraid this is," Maclain announced without a change of tone. "You've been engaged to defend Larmar Jordan on a charge of murder. I think you'll do better to leave me out. I've reached the conclusion that at the time Troy Singleton was shot your client was the only one there."

"Now wait a minute," said Ferguson. "I've just come from talking to Larmar. He's told me the truth—to that I'm ready to swear. Let's take the bad facts. The woman upstairs, Mrs. Evelyn Oliver, thought she heard a shot about the time the carillon started to ring. She went to the window and saw Troy Singleton slumped down in a terrace chair. Now, mark this, Capt. Maclain, if this woman saw nobody leave the terrace, are you ready to admit that Larmar wasn't there? For your information, whoever shot Troy Singleton was standing in front of her. The police are basing their case on that. They feel they can prove that the bullet was fired across the desk by some one sitting in Larmar's desk chair."

"It hasn't been proved that he didn't go inside before Mrs. Oliver got to the window," said Duncan Maclain.

"No," admitted Ferguson, "it hasn't. But let's take other means of escape from the terrace. Thru your room, Mrs. Jordan."

"Why, yes," she said in a frightened voice, "if Larmar had been in the study, as he says, a man could have gone into my room from the terrace and hidden in there."

The captain locked his hands behind his head and leaned back in his chair.

"You're about to add, I'm sure, that when your husband went out on the terrace this murderer left your bedroom by the inside door, slipped thru the study, and out into the apartment house hall."

Jess Ferguson sat up straight and said triumphantly, "You've proved my point, Capt. Maclain, clinched it right there."

"Except for one thing. This morning I talked to Bob Morse of the Globe-Tribune. Knowing Larmar and Lucia, I was interested enough to call him on the telephone. According to Larmar's own story, which he told police last night, he heard the shot, walked out onto the terrace, and almost immediately sat down in his chair, where he could easily have seen any one who passed thru the study. Immediately he got up again and rushed into Lucia's room, where he looked under beds and thru the closets."

"What are you trying to prove?" asked Paul.

"I'm showing you that there was no one in Mrs. Jordan's room immediately after Troy was shot," said Duncan Maclain. "I'm showing you further that nobody went thru her room from the terrace after Larmar Jordan searched it."

"How do you know?" asked Ferguson.

"I know," said Maclain, "because I own dogs. When Mrs. Jordan came back to the apartment last evening, she opened the door to her bedroom and Winnie ran out to greet her. Winnie, like most cockers, hates to be shut up anywhere. I'm afraid, Mr. Ferguson, that if an escaping murderer had opened the bedroom door—"

"You're right," said Ferguson grimly. "That dog would have been out of there quick!" He stood up. "I thought you might help. I'm sorry, but since you believe Larmar guilty I won't waste your time."

"I haven't even intimated that I believe him guilty," said Duncan Maclain. "I've merely said the facts were black. As a matter of fact, there are a couple of things about the shooting that cause me to think he's innocent."

"Such as?" Ferguson sat down.

"The two broken cocktail glasses that Lucia mentioned," said Capt. Maclain.

The captain had driven himself unremittingly for more than 20 years to overcome the handicap of blindness; two decades marked by finger tips tender from training themselves in the sense of touch, muscles wracked with disciplined exercise, keen ears deafened by 10 thousand shots from an automatic while he learned to shoot at sound.

Spud and Rena were the closest, ever ready to aid him across the boggy expanse of discouragement's treacherous slough. Next came his Negro servants, Sarah Marsh, who cooked his meals and kept his house, and her giant chauffeur-valet husband, Cappo.

Schnucke and Driest, his German shepherds, scarcely could be called companions for they were a part of Duncan McClain. Schnucke, smart and gentle, was his eyes

Honors Given to Chicagoans at Battle Fronts

BY JUDITH CASS.

NEWS of Chicagoans who receive honors on various battlefields is a source of pride to their families and friends, and at the same time a source of anxiety for the risks the service men run. Mrs. William Ogden Coleman recently learned that her son, Sgt. Randolph Coleman, received the bronze star for meritorious service in connection with military operations in Holland and Germany.

Under the most hazardous and trying conditions, Sgt. Coleman maintained communications between his company command post and battalion headquarters, and for one 23 hour period without relief in the foremost elements of the battalion his radio was the sole means of communication between isolated companies and the battalion, it was stated in the citation. Sgt. Coleman's brother, Maj. William O. Coleman III. of the marine air forces, is concluding a long leave at home after having served in the South Pacific.

As a double Christmas present the army promoted Maj. Warner G. Baird Jr., stationed in Italy, to the rank of lieutenant colonel and awarded him the bronze star, just a few days apart. Col. Baird, who is only 26, enlisted in the army in 1941 as a private. His mother and elder sister, Mrs. Herbert Leighton Hansen, are spending the winter in Hobe Sound, Fla., where Mr. Baird expects to join them soon. Lt. Hansen is stationed with the navy in the Pacific.

Other Service Notes.

Along with the news that her son, Gordon, has been promoted to the rank of captain in the army, Mrs. Maurice Bent also learned that he and the members of his field artillery brigade have received the croix de guerre for their support of the French troops on the Cassino front. In the 14 months he has been overseas Capt. Bent has participated in the Italian campaign and the invasion of southern France.

His brother, Capt. Charles William Bent of the air transport command, also is serving in the European theater, following his return from a 30 day leave here. He formerly served in India and Africa.

The Donald C. Millers of Evanston anxiously are awaiting the arrival of their son, Corp. George Miller, who is returning, wounded, after serving with the army in the South Pacific for nearly three years. Also in the Pacific is his brother-in-law, Lt. Darwin Deaver of the navy, whose wife and 2 year old son, Jimmy, are living with her parents.

In a hospital in Denver, Colo., after three months' hospitalization in Belgium and England and later at Camp Edwards, is Lt. Foster G. Beamsley Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Beamsley of Kenilworth. Lt. Beamsley, who served with the paratroops, was with the first unit to land in Normandy and received a Presidential unit citation for gallantry in action. Lt. Beamsley also has received the infantry combat badge, the bronze star, and the Purple Heart. His wife just has returned from a visit with him in Denver. Lt. Beamsley is recovering from spinal meningitis, with which he was stricken after his unit returned to the continent to prepare the way for the battle for Holland.

Looking at Hollywood

By Hedda Hopper

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., Jan. 18.—Randy Scott finished "China Sky" and signed yesterday for the romantic lead in "Captain Kidd," the Ben Bogeaus production starring Charles Laughton. Randy will have a chance to fight for his woman on the high seas with knives and pistols. The only trouble up to date is the girl hasn't been found to play opposite him, so Randy will have to hold his fire till they do. . . . Paramount signed Albert Hackett and Frances Goodrich to write "California," a tale of the days of '49. They wrote the "Thin Man" series. Hackett also will direct "California." . . . So far it's in the talk stage, but the sneak preview of "Hold Autumn in Your Hand" went over so well that David Loew's talking about doing a sequel to it, again with Zachary Scott. . . . Constance Bennett signed Charles Andre for Father Christian in "Paris Underground." Andre used to star in French pictures. . . . The Pat O'Briens celebrate their 14th wedding anniversary Sunday. Can't help but recall what Pat said to Eloise when he proposed —"Let's get married or something." Her reply was, "Let's get married or nothing." Well, it must have been something—it's lasted, and so has Pat.

It's a Music Feast.

At "A Song to Remember" my companion kept whispering, "O, if Merle [Oberon] could only come out once in those little red, white, and blue shorts we saw her in last Sunday, so folks would know how sweet she is! She's so cold, hard, and beautiful as Mme. Sand." "Shhh—that's great acting," said I. Cornel Wilde has a glory road ahead of him, so has Nina Foch, if they'll give her close-ups and dress her better. Paul Muni's always good. Yep! Columbia's got another hit in "Song to Remember," which probably will put Chopin on the hit parade.

They're at It Again.

Hall and Nordoff, who wrote "Mutiny on the Bounty," are turning out a pip of a story for Sidney Franklin and Metro called "High Barbee"—which is what sailors used to call Barbary coast. But this story has nothing to do with Barbary coast—it's a love story. . . . Vetluguin, who arranged the deal, has insomnia so badly he can't sleep unless he has company. He gave a good party not long ago, and one of the beautiful ladies present won a pool of $70—she guessed the length of Vet's nap while the party went on. . . . The Delmar Daves are giving out with a big party for the Cary Grants. . . . Hey! That's hoarding. Edith Head's dress for Ann Dvorak in "Masquerade in Mexico" is without buttons, snaps, or hooks and eyes. It's fastened with 22 safety pins.

Welcome on Mat.

Louis Hayward is starting this week in "Ten Little Indians," his first since "Ladies in Retirement" in 1941. He confessed to me he was a little nervous. He's been away from the camera for some time. Louis has done a fine job in the service, and I'm certain he'll be good in this. Don't forget, it's better for an actor to be a little nervous than too sure of himself. . . . Roland Young's had his share of bad luck with "Ten Little Indians." This is his second trip from New York. This time his trunk was lost. Roland's so mad he says he could kill some one—and does in the picture. . . . Van Johnson has a secret yen. Now don't crowd, girls. It's Garbo! He has all her pictures on 16 mm. film and every Monday night runs one of them at his home for himself and a few friends. If you don't like Garbo you couldn't get by his threshold with a machine gun. . . . Catherine Craig's Christmas present from Bob Preston was worth waiting for—five bottles of her favorite scent from Paris. He wrote about their bathing facilities over there. For one minute, water is turned on in showers. They soap for two minutes, then water is turned on for two minutes more; and their night is Wednesday—not Saturday. . . . Anent the present male shortage, Jack Haley says, "A girl has to pin a man down before she can pin him up."

Thru the Looking Glass

A reader has asked us to give her, and all the women who have begun to bulge a bit about the waistline this winter, one simple exercise they can begin to do regularly right now in preparation for the spring suits. We're glad to oblige.

We advise all the women whom the sedentary winter life and heavy meals have made a little sluggish and thick thru the waist to start their day by stretching. Not just a casual stretch, with no more thought behind it than a nice lazy yawn, but a deliberate, long, thoughtful stretch that extends from their toes to their finger tips. This in itself is a marvelous exerciser and conditioner, and it's practically effortless.

All you do is stand straight and inhale while you deliberately lift the ribs, the chest, the arms, and then s-t-r-e-t-c-h right straight up as tho you were trying to reach the skies. You should feel the gentle pull all thru the body. Then exhale and let yourself go limp. Repeat this five or six times.

Next do the old standby of an exercise that will limber you up generally and slim down your abdomen in particular. Stand with feet about two feet apart. Bend down, twisting the torso, and touch the right foot with your left hand. Straighten up again, then repeat, touching the left foot with your right hand. Try to coördinate this by breathing properly, inhaling as you raise your arms overhead before you begin the downward plunge. You'll acquire a certain rhythm after a bit that makes exercise pleasanter—and more effective.

Do this every day, and you'll find that you feel better and look better.

"Good Night Ladies," which startled Chicago by capturing the town's long run record with 100 weeks at the Blackstone, opened Wednesday night in New York's Royale theater, causing Lewis Nichols, drama critic of the New York Times, to remark, "Half a continent separates Chicago and Broadway, but not on this; the play is just as bad as they said it was."

Kreisler Paid Warm Tribute; Plays Superbly

Concert by the Chicago Symphony orchestra, Desire Defauw, conductor; Fritz Kreisler, violinist. Presented in Orchestra hall Thursday evening, Jan. 18, 1945, and scheduled for repetition Friday afternoon. The program:

"Verklarte Nacht".....Schoenberg
Concerto for Violin, No. 22.....Viotti
Poeme, for Violin and Orchestra.....Chausson
Symphony No. 4, D minor..Schumann

BY CLAUDIA CASSIDY.

Altho Fritz Kreisler has been a frequent soloist with the Chicago Symphony orchestra for 44 seasons, I doubt that he ever was more warmly welcomed than last night, when he played the Viotti Concerto in A minor and Chausson's Poeme under the direction of Désiré Defauw. The orchestra started things by giving him a "tusch" on his entrance, which sent a capacity audience surging to its feet in tribute. From then on it was almost as if the admiration of decades of concertgoers rushed out in spontaneous tide that refused to ebb until Mr. Kreisler kindly but firmly went home.

He was playing beautifully last night, too, particularly in the Viotti, which has been catching undeserved dust these 16 seasons. It is a charming work which treats the classic style with friendly familiarity, and it has the lures of sparkling cadenzas, a benign slow movement, and a captivating finale with the strings strumming serenade to the solo instrument. Mr. Kreisler played it affectionately, with the special glow that is his trademark, and the orchestra gave him uncommonly clean and attractive accompaniment.

The Chausson was less successful, tho it, too, had its points, notably Mr. Kreisler's sensitivity to mood and tonal texture, and Mr. Defauw's effort to sense and project its orchestral pulse. But the effort often was frustrated by heaviness in performance that sent the score skidding out of balance, defeating the dreamy translucence that can make the Poème magical when a superb orchestra holds the solo instrument in a throbbing sheath of tone.

It was curious that the Poème, on which Antony Tudor based his "Lilac Garden," should be on the same program with the "Verklärte Nacht" of his "Pillar of Fire," revived after a decade in honor of the composer's 70th birthday. The scores are similar in emotional intensity and rather tend to diminish each other's impact. However, no one need have worried in advance that "Verklärte Nacht" would start the concert at so high a pitch it would have nowhere to go. As Mr. Defauw played it last night, it went nowhere at all. Even our maligned ballet orchestras play it infinitely better.

Altogether, it was a curiously arranged concert which Kreisler carried to success, and it ended with Schumann's Fourth Symphony, which seemed to be struggling toward dubious victory with lead in its boots.

"TOGETHER AGAIN."

Produced by Columbia, directed by Charles Vidor, featuring Irene Dunne, Charles Boyer, Charles Coburn, Mona Freeman, Jerome Courtland, Elizabeth Patterson, Charles Dingle, Walter Baldwin, Fern Emmett, and Frank Puglia, and presented at the Apollo.

By Mae Tinee.

Here we have all the ingredients for box office happiness—a popular team of attractive stars, Dunne and Boyer; an excellent supporting cast; a frothy plot; dialog that's smarter and smoother than average; and deft direction. Movie fans will eat it up.

A Crandall always has figured politically in a small Vermont town, so when the mayor dies his handsome wife [Irene Dunne] takes over. Her wise old father-in-law disapproves of "such a lovely dish" being a career woman, to say nothing of being a widow for five long years.

When lightning neatly beheads the statue of the former mayor the elder Crandall seizes the opportunity to urge her honor to make a trip to New York in search of a replacement. He insists she buy a new hat, which she does with devastating results. Things begin to pop as soon as conservative Vermont meets the French artistic temperament in the person of Corday, a sculptor. The ensuing complications are numerous and amusing and, if you're in the mood for something gay and giddy, here 'tis.

The younger generation certainly offers some stiff competition to the stars in this film. Jerome Courtland is one of the most natural and likable youngsters to hit the screen, and his portrayal of a gawky adolescent is delightful. Pretty little Mona Freeman is almost equally good as a high school miss who loves to emote and takes nothing lightly. Boyer is suave and suitable, Miss Dunne very charming [even if she does overact a bit], and Charles Coburn is his usual excellent self. Elizabeth Patterson is nice as a smart and starchy old housekeeper.

Personally I found the film a bit lengthy, but I have no doubt that most fans will sit happily thru the entire 100 minutes of it.

Trolley Car.

No doubt the transportation problem is getting a lot of WCG's down, but the situation could be worse. A friend who recently returned from Buenos Aires related that it a common sight there to see a line of passengers several blocks long waiting for a bus in a pouring rain. Brother!

If Junior's sister-in-law thinks the new crop of career gals lacks manners, she should be landlady to a few of them. Brother!

I've been landladying for several months while my aunt is in the hospital, and, incidentally, I'm just about ready for a rest cure myself.

Evidently these career gals figure consideration is terribly old fashioned—they'll have none of it. They're wantonly destructive with the furnishings of their rooms. Cigarets [there seems to be no shortage!] are left burning on dresser and table tops; holes are burned in rugs; electric irons are left on while phone calls are answered, until "phew, something's burning!"—only to find the pressing was being done on top of the dresser with the aid of a couple of folded bath towels instead of on the ironing board in the laundry room. Result: a big hole in the towels [and new towels are almost impossible to get], the finish burned off the dresser top, and a genuine fire hazard.

And their other manners! Hair combings in wash bowls, bath mats used to wipe shoes, lipstick on towels, and a nice long Saturday night soak in the tub while every one else is standing, bath towel over arm!

Great life, this being a landlady pro tem! Great life, brother! M. C.

Dangerous Ground.

"The average woman is usually not very pugnacious or self-assertive—she does not like open competition as does the average man. She does not respond well to contests whether at work or at play. More appreciative of praise, the working woman is particularly sensitive to criticism. Men will 'kid' each other with lusty vehemence and enjoy it, no matter how much seriousness is concealed in the barbs. But to the woman, everything is taken personally, at its face value, and 'kidding' between women workers is a rare—and dangerous occurrence."

Spring Preview Assures Bright Fashion Future

BY REA SEEGER.

Post-impressions of the New York Dress institute's preview of American originals for the nation's fashion press last week include some very pertinent as well as important prophecies for the coming season.

First, there is the annual spring revival of tiny black and white checks. Suits, coat-dresses, and one-piece street dresses, all meticulously tailored and detailed, again demonstrate that smart checks never go out of the fashion picture. Costumes of black and white check were highlighted in virtually every collection on display.

Secondly, there is the fashion importance of cape suits or costumes. The combination of slim skirt and spanking white shirtwaist with a waist length dolman shouldered cape rates evenly with the slenderizing one-piece dress, with short or long sleeves, teamed with a dashing shoulder cape of the same material. Even the play clothes feature capes and nearly all capes reach the waistline; never are longer.

Thirdly, there is the insidious infiltration of bigger sleeves in every collection. Whether they were frankly the copies of bulky dolman sleeves or very large puffed affairs that ended at the elbow, every collection boasted a few. It's now up to the shoppers to determine just how popular these exaggerated sleeves will be. Our wager is still on the sleek, streamlined silhouette that means straight, sensible sleeves, easy to wear and slide into, and the dashing, streamlined silhouette of widened simple shoulders and unexaggerated outline.

Fourthly, there are the new fabrics, such as smart alpaca, for suits for town, or travel, or all-purpose wear, and wonderweave, that trick new specially treated cotton introduced in the Joseph Halpert collection, a cotton that will not wrinkle, that tubs like a handkerchief and tailors exquisitely. In addition, there are all the fascinating Guatemalan cottons, especially those in brilliant color stripes. This material is used for suits, dresses, and play clothes. Gabardine, yarn-dyed wool, and sheer wools like nun's veiling and challis make some of the newest and smartest of summer clothes.

Fifthly, there are the many lovely colors for the coming season—soft, gentle pastels so easy to wear; the effective new lime greens, easily the top in popularity so far; spring violet, again back in the spotlight; and new combinations to watch, such as navy with cocoa brown and burnt orange with navy blue.

Above all is the realization that American designers have firmly established themselves as the equal of any new or old designers of Paris.

The bidding:

East	South	West	North
1 heart	1 spade	Pass	2 diamonds
Pass	2 spades	Pass	3 diamonds
Pass	4 spades	Pass	Pass
Pass

The bidding of today's hand has not received the sanction of this department. This is a chronicle of events and we will vouch for their historical truth. It is perhaps bad discipline to tell this story because when South's bidding is indicted he is afforded the opportunity for that old retort, "Well, I made it, didn't I?"

The fact that he made it can be attributed to the existence of an old fallacy, that you always lead the highest of your partner's suit. This is a contribution of our Auction Fathers, on whose behalf it may be said that they meant well. But the poor dears didn't play the game long enough to find out that such procedure will cost thousands of points during a season.

The highest of your partner's suit should be led if it makes no difference. By that is meant if you have three worthless cards of his suit. But when one of your three cards may be important, it is a losing proposition to toss it carelessly out upon the table. It is a sound principle of cards that you keep your high cards to capture other high cards with them. Most modern players have been educated in the belief that at no trump if you have three cards of your partner's suit headed by an honor, the low card should be led. But the same practice is not employed by them at suit contracts. There is no good reason for the distinction. The same principles usually apply in suit contracts as in no trump.

Today's hand is an illustration. West led the jack of hearts and East was obliged to win with the king and continue with the ace and another. Since dummy's 10 was high, declarer took a discard and was able to draw trumps and concede the ace of diamonds.

Note the difference if the small heart had been opened. On the third lead of the suit West's jack would be high and South would have to trump. If he now pulls all the trumps, East's hearts will be cashed when he gets in with the ace of diamonds. If he doesn't get the trumps out but leads a diamond East will win and return another heart, permitting West to make his trump jack on an overruff.

In other words, you lead the highest of your partner's suit only when you are quite sure you can afford it.

The usual weekly quiz will appear tomorrow.

Wise Parents Guide Child in Right Way

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.
[Copyright: 1945: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

Since a child's parents are his mentors from birth, their influence over him can be just as weak or as strong as they care to make it. I don't mean by that that it's necessary to rule with an iron hand—far from it. Much more can be done with a loving, understanding, but firm practical guidance than by striving for a complete domination of your child.

This article was suggested by a letter in my mail which reads: "I have twin sons, aged 4, who have been backsliding sadly since we moved to a new neighborhood. Previously they played alone all the time and were obedient, satisfactory children. Now they have eight or nine playmates, some their age and others slightly older, and they seem to do almost anything the others do. They know they aren't allowed to do certain things, but seem to think they must if the other children do.

"I don't like to punish them constantly but I can't let them take the bit in their teeth altogether . . ."

This problem often arises when children previously have been shut away from contact with other children. It is another one of the age old complications of social adjustment. We must learn to live with our fellowman, almost from the beginning.

Of course, some of this distressing behavior may wear off as the newness and excitement of being with other children becomes commonplace. These little boys are near babyhood, and they cannot yet clearly distinguish between good and bad.

Perhaps I'm wrong, but it seems to me that this puzzled mother has not made herself a strong enough influence on her children's lives, and that is what she must now set about doing. They must look up to her and their father; they must believe that she knows what is best for them and follow her teachings. She must exercise authority.

This is imperative. Otherwise all thru their childhood they may be turned by every wind that blows. She must make it her business to convince the little boys that she is their wise and loving guide; that she, their mother, not other children, is the one to tell them what to do and what not to do.

Eggs Baked in Rice Rings

Eggs are plentiful, relatively inexpensive, and unrationed. Here's an interesting way to serve those point savers:

Pack 3 cups hot cooked rice [which has been cooked in salted water] into six well greased individual ring molds and let stand one-half hour before unmolding. Unmold rings and sprinkle with grated cheese, using ½ cup in all, then drop an egg into each hollow. Dot with margarine, sprinkle with salt and pepper, and bake at 375 degrees 15 to 20 minutes or until eggs are set.

Meat loaves have such good reputations! They're noteworthy for their point stretching ways, their budget balancing tendencies, and their popularity with all members of the family.

Meat loaves and their first and second cousins will be served with greater frequency now that most meats have point tags attached to them. The low point value of hamburger makes it a popular meat, and when "fixed up" it can be substituted without detection for the higher priced and higher point beef cuts.

No matter how satisfied you are with your favorite meat loaf recipe, don't get into a rut when there are so many variations of this popular theme. Here are a few:

Beef and Carrot Pinwheel Roll.

- ½ cup finely chopped onion
- 2 tablespoons fat
- 1½ cups chopped cooked carrots
- 2 teaspoons salt
- 1 beaten egg
- ½ cup dry bread crumbs
- 2 tablespoons milk
- ¼ teaspoon tabasco sauce
- 1½ pounds ground beef
- 4 bacon strips, optional

Saute ¼ cup onion in hot fat, add carrots and ½ teaspoon salt, and mix thoroly. To egg add crumbs, milk, tabasco sauce, remaining onion, remaining salt, and beef. Mix well, then place meat mixture between two pieces of waxed paper on a bread board. Roll in oblong shape ¼ inch thick. Remove top paper and spread meat with carrot mixture. Carefully roll up meat around filling, jelly roll fashion. Place in shallow baking pan and cover with bacon strips. Bake at 350 degrees for 1 hour.

Layered Meat Loaf.

- 2 pounds ground beef
- 1 green pepper, chopped
- 1 onion, finely chopped
- 3 teaspoons salt
- 2 teaspoons Worcestershire sauce
- ½ teaspoon sage
- 1 cup dry bread crumbs
- ½ cup water
- 1 beaten egg

Combine all ingredients and mix well. Make a layer of one-half the meat mixture in a 9 inch meat loaf pan. Cover with stuffing, then press remaining meat mixture over this. Bake with or without bacon strips in a 300 degree oven for one hour. To make stuffing: combine 2 cups dry bread crumbs, ¼ cup minced onion, ¼ cup finely chopped celery, ¼ cup margarine or bacon drippings, ¼ teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon pepper, and water to moisten.

Macaroni Meat Loaf.

- 1½ pounds ground beef
- ½ pound ground pork
- 2 cups cooked macaroni
- 2 teaspoons salt
- ½ teaspoon pepper
- 1 cup bread crumbs
- 1 small onion, chopped
- 2 eggs, slightly beaten
- ⅔ cup or more condensed tomato soup

Combine all ingredients and pack into a greased loaf pan. Bake at 350 degrees for 1½ hours. Rice or leftover cooked cereal may be used in place of the macaroni.

An attractive loaf and an extra nutritious one features a row of hard cooked eggs down its middle. Pack one-third the standard meat loaf recipe into loaf pan, put a row of hard cooked eggs down the center, and pack the rest of the mixture around and over the eggs. When the loaf is cut, an egg slice appears in each piece, earning for the loaf the name "One Eye."

A meat roll which is as suitable for company luncheon as for dinner is the meat and biscuit roll. It's a good way to use up left-over meat [any kind]. Season the meat with a little catsup and Worcestershire sauce and moisten to a paste with gravy or white sauce. Spread this over biscuit dough which has been rolled into rectangular shape one-third inch thick. Roll like a jelly roll; cut into slices 1 to 1½ inches thick. Bake on greased pan at 375 degrees 15 to 20 minutes. Serve with mushroom sauce or green pea and pimiento sauce to which a beaten egg yolk is added just before serving.

An attractive collection of crisp, white, celanese sharkskin sports clothes has been unpacked in a Chicago store, available for southern wear now as well as in summer. It contains a variety of items which may be mixed or matched. Each piece is sold separately in a size range from 12 to 20.

The three piece white suit at the left consists of a smart classic jacket, the patch pockets of which are trimmed with heavenly blue; smooth, well tailored slacks, cut and fitted at the waist line with a wide, firmly stitched waist band, and a matching skirt with an inverted center plait waist band.

The popular midriff jacket and matching shorts are shown on the center figure. Blue and yellow piping trims the neck line and side closing of the top. The shorts have an adjustable waist band and inverted plaits below one real coin pocket and a simulated one. Colored piping is repeated on the tabs.

Another type of slacks included in this group is the popular "high riding" model at the right, so named because it has no belt line. The slacks rise high over the waist line, concealing any tendency to bulge in the wrong places. The reversible halter worn with these is a perfect fitting bra. Pastel blue or yellow are the colors contrasting with the white.

French Change Rules; Speed GI Marriages

BY ANNE BRUYERE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Jan. 18.—The love bug has bitten so many G. I.s and WACs who would like to marry on their 48 hour leaves that justices of the peace today waived the requirement of a month's residence and publication of the banns.

WACs and Red Cross nurses who have chosen Yanks do not bother about trousseaux. Once they have said "yes" and Washington, D. C., has approved, they wait just long enough to get a leave together for the wedding. Honeymoons are postponed indefinitely.

Nurse Marjory Engeles, who married a Texan, William Hayward, was stationed in the country with the air forces. Tho she had been engaged in England more than a year ago, her fiance never had a leave. Finally a pilot in the outfit flew her over to join the groom who had made the necessary arrangements. They were wed in the morning and in the afternoon she was back on duty.

American girls on duty have neither the means nor the leisure to prepare formal weddings. However, French brides, especially mannequins, who head the list as G. I.s' fiancees, make ready for church ceremonies and order complete trousseaux of the finest satins and laces.

Most of them are pin-up girls come true. They know that elegance and glamor are their chief assets so they exploit them to the limit when they are married.

After the war fronts and the couturiers' salons, the most popular matrimonial centers have been the university conferences and dances. Lt. Robert Fulston of St. Louis, Mo., who attends Sorbonne classes, recently married Odette Bouchard, a former Northwestern university student who is a professor in the college of medicine in the Latin quarter.

Statistics Show War Breeds Delinquency, Welfare Head Says

Rodney H. Brandon, state director of public welfare, spoke last night at the annual meeting of the Sarah Hackett Stevenson Memorial, 1400 Monroe st., and warned his audience that statistics from World War I. prove that war nurtures delinquency and that the nation must prepare to meet a new emergency when peace comes.

"In 1920," he said, "Illinois had the smallest penal population per capita in 50 years, but in 10 years it rose 250 per cent."

The average age of prisoners, he added, dropped from 26 years to 20½ years in a period of six months, "proving that not returning soldiers but their little brothers, who lost their inhibitions when they read of so much death and destruction, began a career of crime."

Nancy Only One of Many in Need of a Foster Home

Nancy is one of Chicago's homeless and deperdent children in need of a foster home. There are hundreds of boys and girls like her, all normal, healthy youngsters who are depending on the kind heartedness of the city's citizens to provide parental care and homes. These children are in the care of various social welfare agencies, members of the United Home Finding Service.

Nancy.

If you can share your home with a needy boy or girl, telephone Wabash 9793. Children are not for adoption and are not charity cases because the service pays all expenses.

More than 3,000 families have opened their homes to the appeals made by the service, but in spite of these offers there are still many children in need of care. The campaign for foster homes ends Feb. 10.

Bryan Reid Named as New President of United Charities

Bryan S. Reid was elected president of United Charities of Chicago yesterday at the 88th annual meeting in the Harris Trust and Savings bank. He succeeds Stuart J. Templeton, president for the last two years, who will continue to serve the agency on its executive committee.

Other officers, elected or reelected, are: Mrs. Joseph T. Bowen, Sewell L. Avery, and W. McCormick Blair, vice presidents; Willis D. Gale, vice president and treasurer, and Joel D. Hunter, secretary. New officers elected to the board of directors are Graham K. McCorkle, Wayne R. Bennett, and the Rev. Leslie T. Pennington.

United Charities spent $830,622.71 last year to provide family service to 7,300 Chicago families and legal aid to 12,900 Cook county residents who could not afford attorneys, Mr. Hunter reported. To maintain its present level of service, he said, the agency will have to raise $22,000 more in 1945. It will receive about $500,000 from the Community and War fund.

Cereal Supply to Be Plentiful, but Not Meat

BY ARNOLD ERICKSON.

If in these days of growing food shortages you're worrying about the supply of cereal foods, such as oatmeal, corn meal mush, and the various wheat breakfast dishes, just forget it.

New Deal management has assured the supply of cereals for the American public by forcing sufficiently out of balance the production of grains and meat animals to provide a generous grain surplus. In fact, there is so much grain available that you safely can plan to include a filling dish of corn meal mush or bowl of oatmeal on the menu if you can't find a prime steak or haven't enough red points to provide a full meat meal. No ration points are needed for the purchase of cereals.

From time to time various spokesmen for the crop planners in Washington have implied that there is more food value in the grains than in meat, pound for pound, with cost of production taken into consideration. Whether it was planned to force the housewife eventually to use grain in more than the first meal of the day has never been made clear, but the meat situation is becoming progressively tighter, and the Mrs. will be forced to find more meat substitutes in the months ahead than at any time since the war began.

Last spring there was much ado, especially in New York, about throwing human food [grain] to hogs on middle west farms while there was a shortage in the supply available for human consumption. The program to create a grain surplus began as early as the fall of 1943, when farm returns from hogs were curtailed by establishment of an OPA ceiling. Farmers were compelled to reduce production of meat animals thru tighter restrictions and price penalties for those who raised stock to heavy weights.

As the bonds of regimentation were drawn tighter, production of meat declined, and, since much time is needed to alter farm production programs, the prospects are that those who like cereals will be much better fed than the meat eaters for the remainder of the war. Hogs, a principal consumer of grain, now number about 30 per cent fewer on farms than a year ago, whereas, grain production for the last season topped the previous season by almost 10 per cent. The 1944 production of the three principal grains—corn, wheat, and oats—totaled 461 million bushels more than the 1943 total, which assured meat animal producers of a better feed balance.

However, they got no encouragement to convert this increased production into meat. As long ago as late last summer, when live stock interests warned crop planners of an impending meat famine, the planners persisted in their price penalties against hog raisers, and threats of more penalties came out of Washington. The 1944 spring and fall pig crops, now moving to market for slaughter, totaled less than 87 million head, against almost 122 million in 1943.

Despite the warnings the war food administration on Oct. 1, 1944, cut the hog floor price to $2.25 below the ceiling. It previously had supported the floor $1 below the ceiling. Not until the middle of December was the penalty eased for the farmer raising heavy hogs, but this came too late to have any effect on the breeding of sows for 1945 spring pigs. Anyway, this year's spring pigs will not be ready for slaughter until late in the fall and next winter. Until then the country will depend on the reduced 1944 pig crops for its pork supply.

New Suit-Dress

SIZES 12-42

This ingenious suit-dress allows for interesting fabric and color contrasts. The original of this design used printed crepe for the bodice of the one-piece dress, and matched the snugly fitted jacket to the skirt. Style No. 3672 is designed for sizes 12 to 42. Size 36 requires 3½ yards of 39 inch fabric and 1¼ yards of 35 or 39 inch material for blouse top.

Household Forum

—By Louise Bargelt—

Mrs. Dan W., Chicago—When I have parsley which must be freshened, I put its stems in a basin of cold water and then, with scissors under the water, I cut off small pieces of the stems. After this I leave it in water until it has revived. To keep it fresh I shake off the water and place it in refrigerator in a tightly covered jar.

Mrs. Sarah G., Decatur, Ill.—I keep my soft cookies "soft" by placing them in an earthen jar before they are quite cold. Then I cover the jar, and the cookies do not harden.

Mrs. Dave S., Kansas City, Mo.—I have made plenty of net curtains and have used invisible hair pins to pin the hems before stitching them.

Need of Sewing Machines for 3 Families Told

[Activities of the Sally Joy Brown department are sponsored by Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc.]

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

Altho we realize how difficult it is to obtain sewing machines, we ask our readers to let us place in immediate service any that are stored away in obscure corners, seldom, if ever, in use. Such an offer would be a boon to a home in which the budget precludes the purchase of any except the barest essentials.

Mrs. S., whose husband is in the marines, must make the children's clothing in order to stretch the family allowance. Since tedious handstitching cannot long withstand the rough and tumble wear of growing children, she has requested a treadle machine.

Because of illness, Mrs. M. is having difficulty in caring for her child and elderly mother while her husband is in the army. She is unable to seek employment outside her home and has appealed for a sewing machine.

Mrs. T. is an elderly woman whose sons are in service. She is crippled and lives alone. An agency has offered to assist her with sewing if she can obtain a machine.

Further information concerning these cases will be given upon request.

COSTNER AND RANGEL HEAD STADIUM SHOW

George Seeks 23d Victory Tonight.

BY FRANK MASTRO.

Fans will learn whether George Costner is a real welterweight championship threat, or a flash in the pan when he meets Richard [Shiek] Rangel in a 10 round bout topping the opening show of the year in Chicago Stadium tonight.

Costner, former high school student in Cincinnati, will enter the ring the favorite. He scored his 22d straight victory by knocking out Jimmy Hunt in the first round in Indianapolis last month.

Sheik Rangel.

George Costner.

Underdog Role Not New.

George, who was 21 years old last July 22, also was the choice in advance of his previous engagement against Sgt. Lou Woods, whom he defeated on a disqualification when the army noncom went down without being hit in the third round.

It's nothing new for Rangel to go into action as the underdog. He was picked to lose in pre-fight dope to Henry Armstrong, Fritzie Zivic, and Al Manfredo, among others. Sheik upset Zivic and Manfredo and lost a disputed decision to Armstrong.

Rangel is the first nationally known opponent the fast, hard punching Costner has been asked to face during a six year career in which he scored 34 victories in 38 starts.

Rangel Rated a Trial Horse.

Altho Rangel is not the best welterweight now active, he has displayed sufficient skill in gymnasium workouts to worry Costner's handlers. Sheik, classed as a trial horse, is an aggressive, two handed fighter.

Rangel is not totally immune to punishment, however, as a technical knockout suffered at the hands of Ray [Sugar] Robinson in Philadelphia last Dec. 12 attests. Sheik claims the referee was premature in stopping the match after he had been floored twice in the second round.

Expect 8,000 Crowd.

A crowd of 8,000 is expected to attend in anticipation of seeing Rangel deal Costner his first defeat in two years. Several hundred service men will be present as guests of Promoters Irving Schoenwald and Jack Begun, including 100 from Fort Sheridan.

Costner expects to weigh 147 pounds and Rangel 150 at today's weigh-in ceremony at the Illinois Athletic commission in the Steger building.

An attractive supporting card of four contests of eight rounds has been arranged as follows:

Robert Earl vs. Johnny Bratton, 140 pounds.
O'Neil Bell, Detroit, vs. Pete De Ruzza, New York, 150.
Charley Parham, Milwaukee, vs. Dave Riley, St. Louis, 150.
Lou Angelucci vs. Collins Brown, 160.

DE PAUL ROUTS VAUGHAN FIVE BY 85-33 SCORE

De Paul university defeated the Vaughan General hospital five, 85 to 33, last night on the southwest side army hospital's floor. George Mikan paced the Blue Demons' attack with 25 points. De Paul led, 38 to 9, at the end of the first half.

With the 25 points, Mikan's season total was raised to 264, making his collegiate scoring mark 1,021 points.

The Little Dream.

Yes, you can crush your biggest dream,
But with your smallest one
You wage a feud; you might as well
Attempt to slay the sun.

O, you can knock the tall dreams down
Like blocks you piled up high—
Just try to smash the little dream,
As deathless as the sky.

The tiny goal is close at hand;
You hear it whisper low
And call your soul; the little dream
Will never let you go!

She sweeps the cobwebs from the sky
That naught may hide it's hue
And tints each tiny blade of grass,
A trying task to do.
She calmly shifts the wind and tide,
With gems adorns the snow,
While mortals bent on many things
Shuttle to and fro.

And learn the quiet sanction and

IOWA INVADES MICHIGAN; N. U. FACES ILLINOIS

Hawkeyes Defend Lead Tonight.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

The University of Iowa basketball squad, leading the Western conference race, passed thru Chicago yesterday afternoon, en route to Ann Arbor, where the Hawkeyes meet Michigan tonight. Northwestern leaves this morning for Champaign to play Illinois. Each has lost one game.

These games will be augmented by three Big Nine contests tomorrow night. Northwestern plays at Purdue, Michigan travels to Ohio State for the return contest in their series, and Indiana is Minnesota's opponent in Minneapolis.

None of these games, however, will be more important than the double header tomorrow night in the Chicago Stadium, which promises to equal, if not surpass, previous Stadium competition this season and quite likely will set an attendance record for the campaign. Hamline and De Paul will open the Stadium program at 8:15 o'clock and will be followed by Notre Dame and Great Lakes.

All Four Are Good.

These four teams have lost a total of only seven games and De Paul and Hamline lead with one defeat each. The Demons were beaten by Illinois in the Stadium last month, but evened the series by whipping the Illini on their home court. Hamline divided a series with Valparaiso, losing in Buffalo, N. Y., and winning the second contest in St. Paul, Minn. De Paul has won 10 games and Hamline has taken 11.

Great Lakes' record is 18 victories and two defeats, the Bluejackets having been whipped twice by Illinois, in their second and third games of the season. Notre Dame has eight victories and has lost to Iowa, Purdue, and Great Lakes, the latter having won, 59 to 58, in the first of the series. Purdue also was beaten by the Irish.

While Michigan has a .500 standing in the Western conference race [two victories and two defeats], the Wolverines should give the Hawkeyes a better test than either Minnesota or Purdue, which were beaten in Iowa City.

Wildcats Face Test.

Northwestern's trip this week-end will determine the first division hopes of the Wildcats. After defeating Wisconsin and Minnesota, Northwestern was defeated at Ohio State last Saturday night, 53 to 46. At one time, in the first half, Northwestern had a 12 point lead, but a Buckeye rally in the last 10 minutes tied the score at 43 and Ohio State went on to win.

Northwestern did not have the services of Frank Wright, regular guard, who was ill. Wright is expected to play tonight at Illinois. The Illini have played only two conference games, dividing with Michigan. Illinois lost at Champaign, 43 to 38, but soundly whipped the Wolverines last Saturday, 55 to 37, at Ann Arbor.

Rangers Late; Lose Game to Wings, 7 to 3

Detroit, Mich., Jan. 18 (AP).—In a game delayed two hours and 43 minutes awaiting arrival of the New York Rangers' train, the Detroit Red Wings defeated the Rangers tonight, 7 to 3, in a National Hockey league clash that wasn't completed until 12:56 a. m.

A crowd of 7,687 fans was well-behaved during the pre-game delay resulting from weather conditions which made the Ranger train seven hours late arriving. The game, originally scheduled for 8:30 p. m., didn't get under way until 11:13.

THIS FLYWEIGHT ALMOST FLOATS AWAY

THREE BADGERS FLUNK; BLOW TO BIG NINE HOPES

Madison, Wis., Jan. 18 [Special]. Wisconsin's hopes for a successful basketball season were dealt a killing blow today with the revelation that three members of the squad, two of them regulars, had flunked their midterm examinations and will be lost for the remainder of the campaign.

The trio includes Center Don Rehfeldt from Chicago's Amundsen High school, who has been leading the scoring column all season; Bob Kline of Superior, Wis., a guard, and Ed Price of Waukesha, reserve center.

There was possibility that one or two other reserves also may be off the squad when the final grades are announced.

They're All Freshmen.

The three who flunked out, all freshmen, indicated that they expect to return to their homes to await calls to military service. With 10 more Big Nine conference games remaining, the Badgers boast a .500 percentage with a victory over Minnesota and a defeat at the hands of Northwestern.

Coach Bud Foster, when informed of the failures, began immediately to rebuild his team. He said he would shift Bill Bachman, a freshman, to the center post left vacant by the loss of Rehfeldt. Two other first year men—Jerry Rosendahl and Kurt Grimm—will fill the other two gaps in the varsity front.

Newcomers to Face N. U.

Foster will have to look for still other replacements for Monday's game here with the powerful Great Lakes quintet as Bachman, Rosendahl, and Grimm, who are reentering school for the second semester, will not be eligible to play until Monday. Therefore, Monday's lineup will be decidedly a makeshift affair.

The Badgers next Big Nine contest will be with Northwestern in the Chicago Stadium the night of Jan. 27.

St. [illegible]ge High Football Banquet Set for Jan. 27

The annual St. George football banquet, prepared by mothers of the players, will be held Saturday night, Jan. 27, at St. George High school in Evanston. Speakers for the program have not yet been chosen.

First Group of Golden Gloves Entrants Takes Physical Test

Members of the Catholic Youth organization reported for preliminary physical examinations last night in the C. Y. O. gymnasium, 31 E. Congress st., and entered the Chicago sectional Golden Gloves tournaments.

Fifty-seven boys received instructions for the bouts which start on Jan. 29 in the St. Sabina gymnasium, 78th st. and Racine av.

Choose Their Own Sections.

C. Y. O. boxers who did not report last night will be examined at either of the remaining dates, Wednesday and Friday nights next week. More than 200 letters have been sent to Chicago boxers for the Wednesday night examination in the C. Y. O. gymnasium.

Boys who passed last night's tests received talent tickets for the Chicago sectionals. Each chose the center at which he wished to seek sectional honors. The north side sectional tournament opens Jan. 31 in the Loyola university gymnasium, Loyola av. and Sheridan rd.

Three Club Champions Pass.

Three of last year's C. Y. O. open division champions were among those who passed the doctors' test last night. These were Jackie Boyd, flyweight; Joe Plummer, featherweight, and Abe Lee, welterweight.

Boyd, who also won the 1944 city Golden Gloves 112 pound title, will represent the Madison Athletic club in the north side trials, as he did a year ago.

The remaining C. Y. O. open title holders, with the exception of Don Philbin, middleweight, who is in the service, and Curtis McDaniel, light heavyweight, who has signed a professional contract, will report for their examination next week. Robert Philbin, welterweight brother of Don, will compete in the south section.

Nero and Watts Qualify.

Al Nero, 17, Steinmetz High school junior, and Lloyd Watts, who lost to Herb Mashino in an exciting featherweight final at St. Sabina last year, are two former C. Y. O. winners who have qualified for the tournament series.

Nero, who won the 1943 C. Y. O. bantamweight medal, will be making his first try for a Golden Gloves championship. He will compete in the Loyola sectional meet while Watts, C. Y. O. bantamweight and featherweight winner in 1942 and 1943, respectively, will see action at St. Sabina.

BUDDY YOUNG TO BE INDUCTED IN NAVY ON MONDAY

Champaign, Ill., Jan. 18 [Special].—Claude [Buddy] Young, 18, University of Illinois sprinter and football player, has been ordered to report to the navy in Chicago Monday, it was revealed here today.

Young is the National A. A. U., National Collegiate, Central Collegiate, and Big Ten sprint champion. He was chosen by his teammates on the 1944 Illini football team as the most valuable player on the squad and was their candidate for the Chicago Tribune Silver Football award. During the football season he scored 13 touchdowns in 10 games.

Last winter Young tied the unofficial world record of 6.1 seconds for the 60 yard dash indoors. His fastest time for 100 yards outdoors was :09.5. Before coming to Illinois, he was a student at Phillips High in Chicago, where he won the state high school 100 yard dash and 200 yard low hurdles in track and was an all-state prep half back in football.

Don Johnson, another Phillips alumnus, who also played half back on the Illinois squad last fall, will be inducted into the navy at the same time as Young.

DERBIES START TOMORROW IN GARFIELD PARK

Meet Will Be 28th on Tribune List.

Seven midwestern states will be represented in the 28th Silver Skates Derbies sponsored by the Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc., which will be held tomorrow and Sunday in Garfield park. In the final tabulation of team entries the Ohio Skating association and the Missouri Skating association sent in entries of their stars.

Twenty members of the Wisconsin Skating association also are eligible for the eight Derbies. Illinois and Chicago teams, of course, have furnished the bulk of the contestants. Michigan, Indiana, and Iowa are other states represented in the two day meet.

Frank Tracy of the Missouri Skating association filed the names of three St. Louis contestants. They are Frank Tracy, intermediate class; Billy Bohan, juvenile class; and Gene Becker, junior division.

Jelich on Wisconsin List.

Gene McGrath, secretary of the Wisconsin Skating association, filed an official list of contestants from his group. The team is led by Frank Jelich and Eugene Lechner, senior skaters. Jelich comes from West Allis and has been entered consistently this winter in meets sanctioned by the Illinois association. He has scored 70 points in senior events and is fifth in scoring in the Illinois Skating association.

Wisconsin will have nine boys in the intermediate Silver Skates Derby, five girls in the intermediate class, and three in the girls' junior division. John Chobat is Wisconsin's only entrant in the boys' junior Derby.

Youngsters Skate Tomorrow.

Al Hamilton, Rocky River, O., president of the Ohio Skating association, has entered Jim Stafford in the boys' midget Derby, Ed Carter in the boys' junior, and Dolores Fritsche in the girls' junior class.

Preliminary races in the four Derbies for contestants under 16 will be held tomorrow afternoon. These are boys' midget, juvenile, and junior, and girls' junior. Skaters will report at Garfield park from 11 a. m. to 1 p. m. for racing numbers and the first trial is scheduled for 2 o'clock. Because of restrictions on manufacturing of skates, the prizes awarded annually since 1917, plaques have been substituted this year with the exception of the two senior classes. Certificates will be presented to the men's senior and girls' senior champions and these will be redeemed after the war when sterling silver skates again can be obtained.

Competes with Older Girls.

A girls' juvenile class would have been established this year except for the war. Thus, all girls under 16 now are classed as junior skaters, a disadvantage to those who are several years younger than 16. One of the younger girls, who normally would have had an excellent chance to win a championship, is Judie Johnson, 13, of Winnetka, who has scored 60 points this season for the Northwest Skating club. This is her first year as a speed skater as she specialized in figure skating previously.

The course for tomorrow's qualifying races will be eight laps to the mile. The course Sunday will measure six laps to the mile for the longer qualifying races and the championships. Qualifying distances in all Derbies are one-half of those for the championships.

Skaters in the Derbies for contestants 16 years of age and over—boys' intermediate and senior, and girls' intermediate and senior—will report Sunday for racing numbers between 10 a. m. and noon. The first trial starts at 1 o'clock.

JEANNE WILSON PERILS RECORDS OF ANN CURTIS

Two Girls to Compete in Chicago Swim Event.

BY EDWARD PRELL.

Note to Ann Curtis, San Francisco: There's an attractive brown eyed 18 year old Chicago girl slicing daily thru the water in the Lake Shore club swimming pool. Her name's Jeanne Wilson and her coach, Robert Ballard, says she has a chance of beating you next April when the nationals are held in the Town club tank at the Continental hotel.

Coach Ballard must be biased or Jeanne, a Northwestern university school of speech freshman, must be good. Miss Curtis, recent winner of the Sullivan award, holds 18 national titles. The two 18 year olds will clash in the free style 100 yards or 100 meters.

Two Central Events Scheduled.

Jeanne is the most famous of a sister team, the other half of which is Lillian, a 20 year old accountant. "These kids," says Coach Ballard, "had wet bathing suits thrown in their faces before they could walk."

Jeanne is the outstanding girl swimmer of the middle west and as such is the star of the Lake Shore team which last year won every meet in which it competed, including the Central A. A. U. Ballard, whose first athletic triumph was winning the state junior diving title in 1926, is getting his squad ready for the first section of the Central A. A. U. meet, which will be held Jan. 27 in the Town club. In February another Central event will be contested at Lake Shore.

Another of the Lake Shore girls who is headed for national stardom, the coach declares, is Virginia Fitzgerald, a little redhead who is a senior at St. Scholastica. Virginia holds the Central A. A. U. diving championship and Ballard says she has the ability to win the high board crown in the nationals.

Held National Medley Record.

The girls have no corner on Lake Shore's broad swimming program. There's 200-pound Dick Domeraski, a 20 year old west sider who started his swimming career at Farragut High school. He's a former city and state breast stroke champion at 100 and 220 yards and holds all Central A. A. U. records at those distances.

The Wilson sisters, plus Marilyn Billquist, set a national junior medley relay record last year, each swimming 100 yards, Jeanne using the breast stroke, Lillian the backstroke, and Marilyn the crawl. Marilyn has won her share of swimming medals, too. She was 100 yard indoor and outdoor Central A. A. U. senior champion in 1940-'41-'42. She won the Chicago Tribune swimming meet titles in the B, C, and D classes. Jeanne won the Tribune class D title last year, and has competed in this event since she was 11.

WOMEN'S MEET JAN. 27

The Women's Central A. A. U. swimming meet will be held in the Town club pool of the Continental hotel Jan. 27, at 8 p. m. Entries will be accepted until midnight Tuesday, according to Eileen Worden, Town club swimming coach.

Barbara Wertin of the Town club, who won the 100 yard back stroke event last year, will defend her crown. Dorothy Zeigler of the Town club, defending champion, and her teammate Marilynne Miller, are entered in the high board diving.

Again this year the meet will offer two men's open events, the 100 yard free style and the 220 yard breast stroke. Entries already are being received from swimming stars now stationed in surrounding service camps. As an encouragement for juvenile swimming enthusiasts, the Central A. A. U. will sponsor a 25 yard free style and back stroke events for girls from 10 to 14 years of age.

LOUIS TO MEET CONN IN ONLY POST-WAR FIGHT

Camp Shanks, N. Y., Jan. 18 (AP).—Staff Sgt. Joe Louis, world heavyweight boxing champion, said today, "It's true that I am going to defend my title only once after the war and that Billy Conn will be my opponent."

The London edition of the Stars and Stripes will say tomorrow in an article by Pvt. Tony Cordaro, former Des Moines [Ia.] boxing writer, that Louis intended to fight only once—against Conn—and then quit the ring.

Louis said today that Conn "deserves the first crack at the title. He is the No. 1 contender and gave me my hardest fight." Conn was ahead on points when Louis knocked him out in the 13th round of their first meeting on June 18, 1941 in New York.

"While the war is going on, tho, I am not thinking about prize fighting," Louis added. "I am doing whatever the war department wants me to do for as long as it wants me to do it. But when peace comes I'll have that fight with Conn and win, lose, or draw, I'll quit."

NEGRO ALL-STARS TOP GRENADIER QUINTET, 30 TO 28

The Negro College All-Stars defeated the Chicago Grenadiers, Negro professional team, 30 to 28, last night in the De La Salle gymnasium.

The collegians led, 13 to 12, at half time with the lead changing several times in the final period.

Bill Copeland of South Carolina State, leading scorer for the All-Stars, made the winning basket in the last two minutes and the Collegians maintained control of the ball until the final gun. Leroy Brown, Grenadier guard, was leading scorer for the losers with 11 points.

Pioneer Woman Pro Returns to Loop's Oldest Golf Club

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

The loop's oldest year around golf club is beginning to function as of yore these days, thanks to the daily appearance of Helen MacDonald, the comely and personable Prop., pro, and Mgr. of the MacDonald Golf studio at 400 N. State st. Barring a furlough of several months, enforced by a serious illness, Miss MacDonald has been operating at the same old stand for the last 13 years.

Helen was acknowledged the first woman professional in the game. Long before such talented ladies as Helen Hicks, Mildred Didrikson Zaharias, Betty Hicks, Opal Hill, Helen Dettweiller, and Patty Berg began to swing for cash, Miss MacDonald had gained the respect of her male rivals, not only as a teacher, but also as a progressive pioneer.

Recovered from Illness.

Prior to her illness, from which she has now fully recovered, Helen estimates that she had given a total of 20,000 lessons. Among her pupils have been such as Amelita Galli-Curci, the operatic soprano, and Arthur Treacher, the perennial cinema butler. In addition, she has helped a number of leading tournament players to straighten out kinks in their swings. Several top flight men professionals have chosen her three completely equipped nets to keep their golf in kilter in passing thru Chicago.

Helen is certain that post-war women's golf will enjoy the biggest boom in the history of the game. There were supposedly knowing parties who laughed at her several years back when she ventured the prophecy that the systems of physical education which were then becoming a part of every high school and college curriculum would produce the greatest crop of competitive women golfers of all time. She now feels that women in war work who have become interested in the game will treble the number of gal golfers.

Two Outstanding Examples.

At least two outstanding examples have confirmed Miss MacDonald's prediction. They are Patty Berg, now a lieutenant in the marines, whose contact with the physical education program made her an all-round athlete before she took up golf and went on to national fame. The other is Dorothy Germain of Philadelphia, who has won the women's western amateur title the last two years after having excelled in basketball and field hockey.

SNEAD CARDS 65 IN TUNEUP FOR TUCSON TOURNEY

Tucson, Ariz., Jan. 18 (AP).—The ability of Sam Snead to stand the pressure of the winter professional golf tournament swing may be answered in the $5,000 Tucson Open starting tomorrow over the El Rio Country club course. The event is 72 holes. The Hot Springs, Va., star was bothered by a neck ailment last week in the Phoenix Open, where he plummeted to 13th place after winning the Los Angeles Open the previous week.

Snead turned in a sparkling 65, five under par, yesterday in a practice turn over the 6,402 yard local links. Sam is the winter circuit's leading bond winner with more than $8,000.

Those who have turned in 66s in practice here include Bob Hamilton, Chicago, Professional Golfers' association champion; Harold [Jug] McSpaden, Sanford, Me.; Leland Gibson, Randolph field, Tex.; Leonard Ott, Denver, Colo.; and Chick Rutan, Birmingham, Mich.

87th st. Marines Defeated by Naval Quintet, 44-36

The 87th st. navy beat the 87th st. marines, 44 to 36, in a Midwest Service Men's Basketball league game at the 87th St. Naval Air Technical Training school last night. Forward Jim Ashe was high scorer for the navy with 18 points.

EDDIE WILLIAMS RETAINS SENIOR OPEN GOLF TITLE

Dunedin, Fla., Jan. 18 (AP).—Eddie Williams of Bryn Mawr Country club of Chicago, the defending champion, today won the annual Senior Professional golf tournament with a score of 75—73—148 for 36 holes. Jock Hutchison of Glenview, Ill., former American and British Open title holder, was second with 75—75—150. Par for the 18 hole course is 72.

Hutchison had held the lead most of the afternoon but Williams scored two birdies on the last two holes to overcome Jock's one stroke advantage.

Charles Mayo of Garden City, L. I., who added a 73 to his first round 78 for 151, was third.

Other finishers included:

Rule Baseball Out Too, Urges Chairman May

Washington, D. C., Jan. 18 (AP).—The Kentucky Derby has been ruled out and baseball should be treated the same way, says Chairman May [D., Ky.] of the house military committee which is considering work or fight legislation.

May was leaving an executive session of his committee when a reporter stepped up to ask him about the sports situation. The reporter was going to put the question this way: "In view of President Roosevelt's remarks that it is all right with him for baseball to continue, what is the attitude of your committee?" All he got out of his mouth was the first half of the question down to "baseball to continue."

Give 'Em Hand Grenades.

"Any man who is able to play baseball is able to fight or work in a war plant," May snapped, adding, "If baseball has a morale value it can be just as great played in the army. Let those fellows play their baseball with the Japs and Germans."

Perhaps he had in mind throwing hand grenades into machine gun nests. He didn't say, but did remark that he wasn't speaking for the rest of the committee.

Natural Stand for Kentucklan.

His pot shot about the Derby was fired as an afterthought, natural enough for a man who was born on Beaver creek, Floyd county, Ky.

May's attitude seemed to be that all professional sports are in the same category.

Work or fight legislation before May's committee would require every man between 18 and 45 to fight or work in essential industry, leaving baseball and other professional sports a doubtful number of oldsters and youngsters to man the teams.

Two Clubs to Hold Boxing Shows Tonight

Preparatory Golden Gloves tournaments will be held tonight in the South Chicago Y. M. C. A., 3039 E. 91st st., and the Madison Athletic club, 4711 Madison st.

A series of intercity bouts between boxers from Elgin, Ill., and Chicago will be offered in the Madison club. Featured contest will be a five round event between Johnny Farrell, Elgin light heavyweight, and Leroy Scales, Chicago, but a three rounder involving Bob West, Elgin heavyweight, and William Hutson, Chicago, may well steal the show. Other matches:

Mike De Rosa, Elgin vs. James Burkes, Chicago [5], 160. Arnold Stevenson, Elgin vs. James Walker, Chicago [5], 140. Ed Riffin, Elgin vs. Bob Jones, Chicago [3], 126. Bob Charvat, Elgin vs. Glenn Murphy, Chicago [3], 126. Pvt. Vince Pellegrini, Fort Sheridan vs. Roy Love, Chicago [3], 140.

More than 60 boxers will participate in the two night meet in the South Chicago Y, including branch representatives of Gary, Evanston, Oak Park, Duncan, Irving Park, Maxwell st., 111th st., Wabash av., and South Chicago.

Only one of last year's champions will defend his title. He is Pete Blouir, open class heavyweight winner from Gary. Approximately 20 bouts in all weights in the novice division will be held.

Wilson to Compete in Norge Ski Club Event

Eugene Wilson of Coleraine, Minn., one of the top ski stars in the United States, will compete in the class A events of the Norge Ski club contest to be held Sunday afternoon at Fox River Grove, Ill. One of the leading contenders in the class B events will be Hugh Radigan of Rockhurst college, Kansas City, Mo., who won sixth place in the Lake Placid contest last winter.

Hawk Line-Up Changed for Leaf Games

BY EDWARD BURNS.

The Blackhawks weren't too discouraged yesterday as they pondered their 4 to 2 defeat at the hands of the champion Montreal Canadiens Wednesday night, and hope bloomed anew as they contemplated the imminent jousting with the Toronto Maple Leafs. They will play the Leafs in Toronto tomorrow night and in Chicago Stadium Sunday night.

The Leafs haven't been in Chicago for a long time and have skidded to third place since their last visit, on Nov. 19. They have won four out of four from the Chicagoans, however, but none since the new Hawks have been molded into a team.

Day Off Canceled.

The Hawks were not given their usual post-game day off yesterday, but instead worked out for two hours in Chicago Arena, during which Manager Paul Thompson continued his assignment juggling in his effort to best place the many newcomers in his outfit.

Four changes were decided upon yesterday. Saturday night Cully Dahlstrom will be on a defense line with Joe Cooper. Butch McDonald, who replaced Clint Smith between Don Grosso and Bill Mosienko for a few minutes in Wednesday night's game, will continue there Saturday night. Smith will work on a line with Pete Horeck and Johnny Harms. Harvey Fraser, recalled from the Providence Reds, will center Lude Check and Mush March on a third line.

Lach Tops Scorers.

The lone point acquired by Elmer Lach in Wednesday's Hawk-Canadien game sent him to the top of the list of the league's point makers. Elmer now has made 14 goals and 33 assists for a point total of 47. His linemate, Toe Blake has 46 points.

ENTRY DEADLINE TOMORROW FOR DE VITO TOURNEY

Entries for Dominic De Vito's third annual individual bowling classic will close at midnight tomorrow with a new record number of participants assured.

The tournament, won last year by Fred Thoma of Peoria, with a 1,792 total for the eight games, will open Saturday, Jan. 27, and will run thru Sunday, Feb. 11.

Top prize of the $27,200 prize list is $2,500. The runner-up award is $2,000, followed by prizes of $1,700, $1,500, $1,200, and ranging to $50 for 50th place. The tournament will be held in Park Manor Bowling center, 100 E. 75th st.

In the north section senior race, Senn took a temporary lead over Lane and Von Steuben by routing Taft, 62 to 38 on the Senn floor for its fourth straight victory. Waller also remained unbeaten by routing Steinmetz, 64 to 40, for its third triumph.

The Hyde Park juniors posted the highest score of the season by trouncing Morgan Park, 87 to 19. Marco Giannopolos accounted for 42 points for Hyde Park.

OPA EXTRACTS DENTIST'S GAS FOR HIS JAUNT

A 3,310 mile vacation trip to Texas last month cost Dr. Eugene W. Szwajkart, 4850 N. Mason av., a dentist, his gasoline rations for the duration of rationing yesterday after he admitted at a hearing that he and his family had made the trip on coupons obtained from friends.

Frederick Fletcher, area gasoline rationing executive for the office of price administration, revoked the future rations and also ordered Dr. Swajkart to return 25 B coupons, good for 125 gallons.

Dr. Swajkart testified he had not had a vacation in 21 years and that doctors had advised him to go south for his health. He said he could not name the persons who gave him coupons "because there were so many of them."

He said he had intended to buy a small ranch near Brownsville, Tex., but when he got there the owner deman

START BATTLE TO ERADICATE BLIGHT AREAS

High Court Ruling Aids Program.

BY THOMAS FURLONG.

With a major barrier to slum clearance removed, city and state officials yesterday made plans to intensify their fight to eradicate the blight that covers 25 square miles in mid-Chicago and comparable areas in other metropolitan districts.

Barnet Hodes.

New force was given to the drive by Wednesday's ruling of the Illinois Supreme court upholding the 1941 neighborhood redevelopment corporation law, provisions of which make it possible for privately financed enterprises to assemble land for extension rebuilding projects. Only governmental agencies have been able in the past to obtain sites large enough for major building programs because of the difficulty of acquiring title to tracts sufficiently large. Capital could not be induced to undertake the job in isolated spots unprotected from surrounding slums.

Commission Meeting Called.

A meeting of the Chicago redevelopment commission was called for Wednesday by Chairman Barnet Hodes. Hodes was designated chairman of the commission early last year by Mayor Kelly when a court test of the state act creating the commission was undertaken. The commission has since been inactive pending disposition of the case by the Supreme court.

At Wednesday's meeting it is expected that the permanent organization of the commission will be discussed. Other members of the commission at present are city office holders. It was reported that Mayor Kelly may make new appointments. Because of the critical nature of the slum problem the posts on the commission are expected to be among the most important in the city administration in the next few years.

Meanwhile Gov. Green was whipping into shape new legislative proposals which would liberalize existing restrictions on the investment of insurance company funds in housing projects of the type contemplated under the act.

Law Restricts Investments.

Illinois laws now restrict severely the investments domestic insurance companies may make in real estate. They are also limited in the number of bonds on individual projects that they may hold. However, these limitations apply only to Illinois companies. Special legislation has been enacted in New York state which permits insurance companies operating under the laws of that state to invest up to 10 per cent of their assets in building projects. The Metropolitan Life Insurance company has invested about 200 million dollars in housing projects in the New York metropolitan area and is regarded as a like investor in such projects in Chicago.

Illinois life insurance companies are also limited in their direct real estate investments to property used for corporate purposes. They may not invest more than 2 per cent of their resources in any single bond issue nor hold more than 10 per cent of any outstanding issue. It is expected that Gov. Green's proposals will modify these restrictions as they apply to housing projects and possibly open the way for joint investments by several companies.

Realty Holdings Minor.

The largest life insurance companies are domiciled outside of Illinois. It is these companies, as well as those operating under Illinois laws, that are expected to furnish capital for housing projects in Chicago and other Illinois cities. Other groups are also expected to make funds available for such development when war time building restrictions are removed.

Of total life insurance company assets of about 33 billion dollars, less than 2½ billion was invested directly in real estate on Dec. 31, 1943. However, there has been a definite trend by insurance companies to increase their real estate holdings. Some of these investments have been made by direct purchase and development like the program undertaken by Metropolitan Life. Certain of the other large companies prefer to restrict their holdings to mortgages rather than direct ownership. In either event the companies are potential sources of capital for Chicago housing.

Admitted assets of Illinois companies, including all types of insurance firms, exceed 1 billion dollars. Life insurance companies of the state have assets of nearly 400 million dollars.

G. E. Charged with Share in World Cartel

Washington, D. C., Jan. 18 (AP).—General Electric company and its international subsidiary were charged in a federal suit today with conspiring with companies in six other countries to divide the world's electrical equipment markets.

The anti-trust suit, filed in Newark, N. J., brought prompt response from General Electric President Charles E. Wilson that the company's foreign agreements have been known to the justice department since 1922 and that the company had always been "prompted by an honest desire to conform to both the letter and the spirit of the Sherman act."

Markets Divided, Is Charge.

The justice department accused General Electric and the subsidiary, International General Electric, of conspiring with companies in Germany, France, Britain, Japan, Belgium, and Italy to exchange patents and divide the world into marketing areas to eliminate competition.

The foreign companies named were Allgemeine Elektricitaets Gesellschaft of Germany; Compagnie Francaise pour l'Exploitation des Procedes Thomson-Houston, of France; Associated Electrical Industries, Ltd., of Britain; Tokyo Shibaura Denki Kabushiki Kaisha of Japan; Societe d'Electricite et de Mecanique of Belgium, and Compagnia Generale di Elettricita of Italy.

Under the alleged agreement, the petition said, the United States market was to be allotted to General Electric; Germany, Austria, Danzig, and Memel to the German company; France and Greece to the French; Great Britain and northern Ireland, the Irish Free State, the Isle of Man, Malta, Gibraltar, and Cyprus to the British; Japan to the Japanese; Belgium and Luxembourg to the Belgian, and Italy and Albania to the Italian.

End to Contracts Asked.

The government asked that General Electric's contracts with the foreign companies be declared illegal, that the company make patents involved in the agreements generally available on a royalty free basis, and that the company be required to divest itself of any investments in the foreign companies.

Effect of the alleged agreements on the United States was given widely varying interpretations by Assistant Atty. Gen. Wendell Berge and Wilson.

The anti-trust division head held that American capacity to produce electrical equipment was less before the war because of the allegedly restrictive practices of the agreements. Wilson, who resigned earlier in the year as executive vice chairman of the war production board to return to his position as General Electric's president, said that American and allied war production was assisted as a result of the agreements because of German know-how which was made available and of the general exchange of scientific information.

CELOTEX PROFIT RISES SLIGHTLY IN FISCAL YEAR

Celotex corporation, Chicago building materials manufacturer, had net profits in its fiscal year ended Oct. 31 totaling $562,276, equal to 53 cents a common share on the 755,472 shares outstanding on Oct. 31, compared with $530,199, or 54 cents a share on the 696,933 shares outstanding a year earlier, Bror Dahlberg, president, said yesterday in his annual report.

Dahlberg said labor and material shortages became "more critical," and production was curtailed in the period. Orders far exceeded the company's productive ability. The company has no reconversion problems, he said, and predicted a post-war building boom in which Celotex will take "an increasingly important part."

INDEPENDENT GROCER GROUP DEVISES A PLAN TO MEET CHAIN PRICES

A plan designed to place independent grocers in a position to compete with or even undersell food chains was presented yesterday to members of the Independent Grocers alliance and independent manufacturers in the Hotel Continental. Frank Grimes, president, who originated the plan, said he hoped all 5,100 independent grocers affiliated with I. G. A. and the 53 I. G. A. wholesale houses would adopt the plan by the end of the war.

The plan calls on all I. G. A. wholesalers to transform their salesmen into supervisors who would work with stores on displays, store location, pricing, and methods of increasing volume. The wholesaler would sell to the retailer at cost, but keep cash discounts from the manufacturer, and would charge each store a stated fee each month based on its volume of business. All transactions would be cash.

The retailer would modernize his store, making it self-service so far as possible. Periodically he would receive a list from his wholesaler quoting local chain store prices so he could meet them.

Grimes said the plan has been in operation in some Chicago groceries for a year, and results have been more than satisfactory. In one store doing a business of $800 a week, overhead was reduced and volume so increased that it grossed $5,000 a week, he reported.

STRAUS, SCHRAM CHAIN IS BOUGHT BY SPIEGEL, INC.

Spiegel, Inc., mail order and chain store company, has purchased Straus & Schram, one of Chicago's oldest home furnishings companies, Modie J. Spiegel Jr., president and general manager of the mail order company, said yesterday. Straus & Schram was founded in 1882 and has four stores in Chicago and one in Joliet. Their acquisition will give Spiegel a chain of more than 100 stores.

"The addition of these home furnishings stores to the growing group of Spiegel retail holdings is in line with the five store plan for our mail order and retail operations announced during 1944," Spiegel said. "Eventually the plan calls for five chains of retail stores, including women's, children's, men's furnishings, and hardware-farm-auto stores."

L & N RAILROAD PUTS STOCK ON $7 YEARLY BASIS

Directors of the Louisville and Nashville railroad yesterday placed the capital stock on a regular quarterly basis with the declaration of a $1.75 dividend. In recent years dividends of $2 a share in March, $3 in August, and $2 in December have been paid. Last December directors also voted to split the shares two for one, but this proposal has not yet been put into effect.

Hudson Bay Mining and Smelting Company, Ltd., voted a quarterly dividend of 50 cents, payable in Canadian funds. This represents a change in policy from a semi-annual to quarterly basis. The company previously paid $1 semi-annually.

FOOD MACHINERY SALES TRIPLED IN FISCAL YEAR

Sales and profits of Food Machinery corporation reached record levels in its fiscal year ended Sept. 30, Paul L. Davies, said yesterday in his annual report. Sales were $179,951,355, more than three times volume a year earlier. Net profit climbed to $3,684,755, or $8.61 a share, from $2,144,003, or $5.02 a share.

Unfilled orders Sept. 30 amounted to 197 million dollars, mostly for amphibian tractors. The company is preparing several new products for introduction after the war, Davies said.

PEOPLE AND EVENTS

George Reed, machinist's mate specialist 1st class in the navy, yesterday was awarded $1,000 by Acme Steel company for a suggestion he offered shortly before entering the navy that would increase the production of box strapping seals. C. M. MacChesney, vice president and secretary of the company, also presented a $500 award to Sam Balsano, another tool maker, for suggesting a refinement on Reed's idea.

Rheem Manufacturing company has opened general traffic offices at 135 S. La Salle st. Warren H. Innis, general traffic manager, is in charge, assisted by W. E. Goetz.

Fred Toussaint, formerly with the wholesale division of Carson Pirie Scott & Co., Monday will become associated with Tiffany Hovland, women's and children's wear house.

W. O. Batchelder, commercial vice president of General Electric company and president of the industrial development committee of the Chicago Association of Commerce, will speak today at the first industrial development and electro-chemical conference in Chicago in the Museum of Science and Industry.

Wolverine Portland Cement company, Kalamazoo, Mich., announced the appointment of Richard C. Stenger as sales manager and chief engineer.

Dancer-Fitzgerald-Sample, advertising agency, announced that William J. Batterberry, formerly with Erwin Wasey & Co., has become associated with the firm.

Ernest E. Bell, recently with the Federal Reserve Bank of Chicago, has again become associated with Daniel F. Rice & Co. in its municipal bond department.

War Building Job to Be Done Remains Vast

Altho the big jobs of military construction have shifted abroad, where engineers and Seabees are paving the roads and airstrips to Tokyo and Berlin, Maj. Gen. Eugene Reybold, chief of army engineers, said yesterday that 250 million dollars of additional construction in this country is planned.

"For the greater part this pertains to modifications and extensions of existing munitions plants, to air fields that are being improved for the use of our superbombers, and to general hospitals and prisoner of war camps," he told the American Road Builders' association in the Stevens hotel.

40 Million a Month Spent.

In recent months military construction in this country has slackened off to 40 million dollars a month, compared with 20 million dollars a day at the start of the war. War road building in the United States has included more than 20,000 miles on army reservations, 5,000 additional miles of access roads, and 2,000 miles of strategic routes to military sites.

"The roads and runways and hardstandings needed by the United States army air forces alone in the United Kingdom are equal to the construction of a 20 foot concrete highway from New York to Moscow," Gen. Reybold said.

Engineers are building and maintaining 56,000 miles of supply lines to fighting fronts, he added. They include the Red Ball highway network across France, the Alaskan and Pan-American highways, the Ledo road in Burma, and the Russian supply route north from the Persian gulf.

Former State Aids in Army.

To the highway engineers and construction industry Gen. Reybold gave credit for military accomplishments. More than 17,000 former employes of state highway departments are in uniform with engineer units, he said.

Earlier, the convention heard of the accomplishments of the navy's Seabee construction battalions from Capt. H. W. Johnson. He did not recite full statistics, but told of a Pacific island base with 200 miles of surfaced highways, some three and four lanes in width.

The road builders adopted a resolution asking congress to start "a nation-wide airport construction program to embrace federal, state, and municipal governments," saying it "would increase the vital uses of civilian aviation, expand our transportation system, and add to our national defense." The convention also asked that the diversion of gasoline taxes to nonhighway uses be stopped.

FORD PROPOSES INCENTIVE WAGE IN STEEL MILLS

Detroit, Mich., Jan. 18 (AP).—Ford Motor company officials disclosed today that an incentive pay plan for workers in the company's steel mills has been proposed to the CIO United Automobile Workers.

It is designed to step up production, they said, adding that unless steel output can be increased the mills may have to be closed after the war. To be negotiated with the union will be a base rate of pay for normal production and determination of the percentage to be paid as incentive for larger output.

Any plan agreed upon would be subject to war labor board approval. Approximately 3,000 Ford workers would be affected. Present rates of pay are $1.10 to $1.90 an hour.

BUYING BY MILLS ADVANCES PRICE FOR MAY WHEAT

Mill buying of May wheat yesterday on the Chicago Board of Trade against sales of flour to government agencies more than offset favorable war news. Prices declined early, but buying persisted and closing trades were ⅞ cent a bushel higher. Deferred deliveries finished ¼ to ⅝ cent lower.

Liquidation of coarse grains forced down corn ½ to ¾, oats ⅝ to 1⅛, and barley ⅛ to ⅞. Rye was uneven. May advanced ¼, but deferred deliveries were off ⅛ to 1.

A growing belief that an early end of the European war is probable led to commission house and professional selling of deferred deliveries of wheat and rye.

New York, Jan. 18 (AP).—Directors of United Cigar-Whelan Stores corporation have approved a plan to exchange three shares of the present 10 cents par common stock for one share of new 30 cents par common stock, the company announced today. Common stockholders will vote on the plan, probably in April. The company has 5,709,924 shares outstanding.

BIG EXPANSION OF GARY STEEL MILLS PLANNED

Post-War Program to Cost 50 Million.

United States Steel corporation plans to spend after the war at least 50 million dollars on its Gary mills, Irving S. Olds, chairman, said last night at a dinner meeting of the Gary Chamber of Commerce in the Gary hotel. He emphasized the corporation's high interest in the Chicago-Calumet steel producing area.

Olds said the post-war Gary program embraces improvement of and additions to equipment for handling raw materials, extensive repair and renovation of blast furnaces and machinery, improved facilities for the manufacture of wheels and axles, additions to equipment for producing cold reduced tin plate, modernization of the Gary sheet and tin mill to meet expected increased demand from the automotive industry and rebuilding and modernization of the bridge and structural steel plant.

Discusses Excess Capacity.

Olds said it was possible that the industry's apparent excess capacity built during the war "may blow away in large measure in the days to come thru the closing of marginal high cost facilities, thru the creation of new and wider uses for steel as a consequence of more intensified programs of research and technology, and thru the development of larger export markets."

Present capacity of the industry is about 94 million tons a year, about 15 per cent larger than on Jan. 1, 1940, he said.

"When, following victory over both Germany and Japan, customers have been able to supply accumulated needs for products denied them during the war, the industry will be faced with the serious problem of utilizing to advantage these materially expanded facilities," he said. "Largest steel production before 1940 was 63,200,000 tons in 1929."

Olds said that probably the best remedy will be the scientific study of the application of steel to customer needs in order to develop new uses.

Must Meet Competition.

The industry cannot afford to overlook competitive materials such as aluminum, magnesium, plywood, plastics, and glass after the war, he said, because unquestionably their use will increase and to some extent they may replace steel.

He said, however, that if steel can be made to meet consumer requirements, it should be able to maintain its position as the basic material. Generally speaking, he explained, steel costs less to produce than competitive substances.

Stocks Break as Red Drive Revives Talk of Shorter War

New York, Jan. 18 (AP).—War stocks stumbled in today's market as the Russian drive toward Germany gained momentum. A majority of issues lost fractions to more than 2 points.

Thoughts of a possibly quicker German collapse than recently was expected revived reconversion apprehension and holders of armament-rated groups, principally rails, steels, and aircrafts, trimmed their accounts and stood aside or switched to issues with better post-war prospects.

Turnover Is Smaller.

Prices began to slip after a fairly steady opening but pressure never was pronounced and extreme losses were reduced in the majority of cases at the close.

The Associated Press 60 stock composite was off 0.3 at 59.3, wiping out yesterday's rise. The market was broad, 959 issues appearing. Of these, 502 were down, 253 up, and 204 unchanged. Transfers were 1,631,030 shares, compared with 1,832,870 yesterday.

Prominent decliners included Santa Fe, New York Central, Southern Pacific, Southern Railway, Great Northern, United States Steel, Bethlehem, Chrysler, Douglas Aircraft, United Aircraft, Sperry, Westinghouse Electric, du Pont, Anaconda, and Eastman Kodak.

New 1944-'45 highs were posted for Fajardo Sugar, Emerson Electric, Third Avenue Transit, General Realty, and Childs.

RAIL BONDS WEAKEN.

New York, Jan. 18 (AP).—Heavy liquidation in a large group of railroad bonds caused declines of small fractions to more than 2 points in today's market. Other groups were more stable, altho buyers were cautious and activity limited. Sales totaled $11,662,600 against $11,816,000 yesterday.

Heaviest losers included most of the issues that first gave ground in the sell-off on Monday. Among them were bonds of the Milwaukee, Rock Island, New Haven, New York Central, Seaboard, Baltimore and Ohio, Chicago and Alton, Missouri Pacific, and Illinois Central.

CHICAGO PRICES DECLINE.

Prices declined yesterday on the Chicago Stock exchange. Turnover dipped to 52,000 shares in a 123 issue trade, of which 37 issues advanced and 59 declined. Most active issues included Chicago corporation common and Armour & Co., each up ⅛; Admiral corporation, down ⅛, and New York Central, down 1.

Dismiss Suit Over Casualty Firm Control

Federal District Judge Igoe yesterday dismissed for want of equity a stockholders' suit filed more than two years ago against Reconstruction Finance corporation and Maryland Casualty company, large eastern insurance underwriter. The court held RFC did not act illegally in steps it took to obtain approval in 1942 of a Maryland Casualty refinancing plan.

The suit was brought by Dr. Arthur J. Todd, professor of insurance and finance at Northwestern university, and four other Chicagoans who are minority stockholders. They charged the defendants had deprived stockholders of their rights by the conversion terms of an issue of 125,000 shares of new class A preferred stock, which RFC obtained as collateral for a 12½ million dollar loan to the insurance company. RFC gained control of Maryand because each preferred share could be converted into 50 shares of common, attorneys for the plaintiffs said.

Judge Igoe held that the transaction "represented a business decision which RFC had a right to make under the terms of contract for loans of public money," and that "it was its duty to protect those loans."

Harry N. Gottlieb, attorney for the plaintiffs, in a hearing last April, charged that RFC had forced the loan upon Maryland Casualty in an effort to dominate the company, altho the company was in good financial condition.

Gottlieb said that in 1933 and 1934 RFC loaned two of the casualty company's subsidiaries $17,448,750, and received, 74,848 shares of Maryland preferred stock as collateral. RFC, in order to assure passage of the refinancing plan, converted 29,487 shares of the $3.50 class A preferred stock into 1,474,350 shares of common stock and thus, was able to vote approval of the plan, it was charged.

The stockholder group asked the court to order RFC to surrender the 125,000 shares of new preferred stock for which Maryland Casualty would pay and thereby retire the 12½ million dollar loan. RFC attorneys said the agency's action was taken in the interest of stockholders and that the company needed the loan.

Attorneys for the plaintiffs said the decision probably would be appealed.

FIND NEW MANGANESE MINERAL IN IRON ORE IN MINNESOTA RANGE

Minneapolis, Minn., Jan. 18 (AP).—Discovery of a new manganese mineral in Minnesota iron ore deposits was announced today by Dr. John W. Gruner, University of Minnesota geologist.

Dr. Gruner said the mineral is simple in composition and contains only manganese, hydrogen, and oxygen. It has been named groutite in honor of Dr. Frank F. Grout, head of the Minnesota geological survey.

Holmes Tells Stand on Price Ceilings.

The proportion of meat production set aside for government requirements is so large that the remainder is far short of satisfying civilian demand, John Holmes, Swift & Co. president, said yesterday at the annual stockholders' meeting.

A. L. Bruckner.

He discussed the heavy percentage of the beef, pork, lamb, and veal processed by meat packers operating under federal inspection which is earmarked for the government.

Tells Stand Against Ceiling.

"For example, of our present total production government orders call for approximately 45 per cent of the beef, 50 per cent of the pork, and almost 40 per cent of our better grades of both lamb and veal," he said. "I am sure you agree that nothing must interfere with our giving the government the best service of which we are capable."

[Lamb and veal supplies are shortest since meat rationing began, because of increased government purchases and decreased marketings, the American Meat institute reported yesterday.]

Holmes reiterated his company's stand against the subsidy phase of the new cattle price ceiling order which goes into effect Jan. 29.

"The directive has no effect on wholesale or retail ceiling prices of beef," he explained. "It does provide for the raising of the maximum range of prices for the two top grades of live cattle. This is offset by increasing by the same amount the subsidy payments thru meat packers for the two top grades of beef.

Objects to Subsidy System.

"We have repeatedly protested against the practice of paying subsidies thru us for the benefit of some one else. If the government finds it necessary to subsidize the cattle producer, the subsidy money should be paid direct to the producer. What eventual result the directive will have on our business only time will tell."

Holmes followed his custom of discussing each year the activities of one particular part of the business by reviewing the history and What is the best Profit Sharing and Pension Plan?

The best employees' pension or profit sharing plan for one corporation may not be the best for another. Your plan should be tailored to fit your needs. The laws and regulations affecting pensions and profit sharing are complex and it is good judgment to secure all the information possible before setting up or revising your program.

We have had over twenty-five years' experience assisting in the formation and administration of employees' retirement plans of various types for our own and many other corporations. Without obligation, our Trust officers will be glad to discuss this important and timely subject with you and your lawyer, or other consultants.

"Good industrial relations are fostered by sincere intentions on the part of employer and employe to understand each other's point of view and objectives," he said. "Swift & Co. makes every effort to work out a mutually satisfactory settlement of all matters relating to employment.

Praises Employe Response.

"Currently we are operating under the principle of arbitration of grievances at some of our meat packing plants. Perhaps it will turn out to be an improvement over previous methods."

Holmes praised the way the employes responded to the task of handling the record breaking runs of live stock, which he said in the last year tested the industry's processing ability in a period of extreme war time man power shortage.

Elect Assistant Treasurer.

William B. Traynor, treasurer, disclosed that directors had elected A. L. Bruckner an assistant treasurer. Bruckner became associated with Swift as a member of the banking department eight years ago. He has given special attention to the investment of trust funds by the company's pension board and the employes' benefit association.

Directors declared a special dividend of 30 cents a share on the capital stock and a quarterly dividend of 40 cents a share.

Harold H. Swift, Traynor, and George H. Swift were reëlected directors for three year terms.

HOG OFFERINGS SHRINK; PRICES HOLD AT LIMIT

Less pork will be available in retail shops during the next few days because of acutely reduced shipments of hogs from farms at a time when the industry had expected a seasonal rise in volume. Supplies of hogs at 20 leading markets the first four days of this week were 19 per cent smaller than last week and 47 per cent lighter than a year ago.

Buyers paid ceiling prices for almost all stock offered. The average at $14.70 was equal to the highest since October, 1943.

Despite reduced cattle supplies the market for most classes of steers was under pressure. The best available sold at $17. The bulk sold steady to 25 cents lower, within a range of $13 to $16.

Lambs rose to the highest price levels in seven months. Prices ruled strong to 15 cents higher for the day, with top loads at $15.65, highest since June.
